PREFACE.

The Missouri Manual is published by authority of the laws of this State, and its contents are properly impartial and unprejudiced. Effort has been made to obtain the most reliable information for use in its various departments. Wherever possible, contents have been compiled from official records and documents. Where unofficial data have been used, special care has been taken to obtain accurate information. Election returns are obtained from official sources and political information has come through the regular organizations of the respective parties. Effort has also been made to include only such matter as is of special interest to those who have frequent need for the publication. The frequent changes in the proprietorships of the newspaper publications of this State make it a difficult matter to give accurate information on this particular subject. This list has been carefully gone over, and corrections have been made to the day of publication.

AUTHORITY.

Section 8077, Revised Statutes, 1909:

Issuing of the Missouri Manual.—The Secretary of State shall biennially, as soon as practicable after the organization of each General Assembly, prepare and publish twenty-five thousand copies of the Missouri Manual, to contain historical, official, political, statistical and other information in regard to the National and State Governments, such as is found in the Manuals of 1907 and 1908, said Manuals to be by him distributed to the members of the General Assembly, the State, judicial and county officers and to the newspapers of the State, the surplus volumes to be distributed throughout the State upon proper applications made therefor. (Laws 1909, p. 650.)

“Be it resolved, That the Secretary of State is hereby authorized and instructed to have placed a copy of the 1913-1914 issue of the Official Manual in each school building, including rural and private schools, of this State, for the use of the teachers and benefit of the pupils of such schools.”—(Resolution adopted by Forty-seventh General Assembly, February 28, 1913.)

PRINTING AND DISTRIBUTION OF MISSOURI MANUAL.

Champ Clark

SPEAKER OF THE NATIONAL HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AND MISSOURI'S MOST DISTINGUISHED CITIZEN.

CHAMP CLARK.

Champ Clark, who is serving his tenth term in the House of Representatives and his second term in the speakership, was born March 7, 1850, on a farm near Lawrenceburg, Anderson county, Kentucky, and lived in that state till he was twenty-two years old.

In his boyhood he worked on a farm and clerked in a country store. He was educated at Transylvania University, Bethany College, West Virginia, and the Cincinnati Law School. He received the highest honors of his class at Bethany; delivered the Latin salutatory, and achieved the highest average grade ever given a student at that institution. Upon graduating he was immediately elected president of Marshall College, the first Normal School of West Virginia, at the age of twenty-three, and was the youngest college president in America. He held that position one year and then graduated at the Cincinnati Law School in April, 1875.

He located in Pike county, Missouri, in July, 1875, first at Louisiana, where he was principal of the high school for one year; edited the Riverside Press (now Isaac N. Bryson's Press-Journal) for eleven months; was city attorney at Louisiana for twenty-five months, which office he resigned; December, 1880, moved to Bowling Green, county seat of Pike county, to practice law; was city attorney of Bowling Green eleven months; resigned that office; was assistant county attorney four years; member of the Legislature, 1889; Presidential Elector on the Hancock and English ticket; ten times elected to Congress; twice elected minority leader, and twice elected Speaker. All four of these nominations were made by unanimous vote of the Democratic caucus. Led on twenty-nine ballots for the presidential nomination at the Baltimore convention and had a clear majority on nine. He was permanent chairman of the Democratic National Convention at St. Louis in 1904, and chairman of the committee to notify Judge Parker of his nomination; was vice-president of the Denver Trans-Mississippi Congress in 1891.

In the Legislature Mr. Clark was chairman of the Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence; introduced and reported the anti-trust law; introduced the bill providing for the Australian ballot; was instrumental in having introduced the parole law. He was also chairman of the select committee appointed to investigate troubles at the State University. That investigation resulted in cutting off the preparatory department, raising the standard of admission and making that institution a university in fact—one of the greatest in America. Mr. Clark himself regards his work on that committee as one of the most important services of his long public career. Once in a debate in Congress, speaking of the vast influence of teachers, he declared that he would rather be president of Missouri University than Representative or Senator in Congress or Governor of the State.

Three members of the Missouri House of Representatives in which he served subsequently became members of Congress: J. J. Russell, who was Speaker, Robert N. Bodine and himself. Also Honorable Madison R. Smith, then a State Senator, now American Minister to Hayti.

Only two Missourians have served longer as Representatives in Congress than Mr. Clark, Dr. Richard Bartholdt, who is serving his twenty-first year, and Richard P. Bland, who died in his twenty-fifth year in Congress.

Mr. Clark was a pioneer in advocating the building of good roads. Twenty-odd years ago he wrote an elaborate letter to the St. Louis Republic advocating the building by means of the surplus convicts of four great rock or gravel roads through the State—two north and south and two east and west. Not long since in another letter to the Republic on the same subject he recited the foregoing facts and declared that he was twenty years ahead of his time, but rejoiced to see his suggestions being realized now. On that subject he had daily before his eyes a fine object lesson in the two hundred miles of splendid gravel roads in Pike county, and had the benefits of good roads constantly forced on his attention.

While in a general way active in Congress, he has devoted more time and labor and thought to the tariff question than to any other and has participated in four general tariff revisions—being the top Democrat on Ways and Means during the Payne bill fight.

He has spoken or lectured in all the states of the Union except four. He is a thirty-second degree Mason and an elder in the Christian Church. His father, John Hampton Clark, was born in New Jersey. His mother, Alectra Jane Beauchamp, was born in Kentucky. In December, 1881, he was married to Miss Genevieve Bennett of Callaway. Four children have been born to them: Little Champ and Anne Hamilton, who both died in infancy; Bennett Champ and Genevieve Champ, who are still living.

MISSOURI.

HER PEOPLE, HISTORY, INDUSTRIES AND PRODUCTS.

History—Missouri was carved out of the French province known as Louisiana. April 9, 1682, La Salle, the explorer, claimed for his government-nearly the entire Mississippi valley. The French Governor's official residence to 1701 was at Fort Biloxi; from 1701 to 1723 at Mobile, and then at New Orleans. November 3, 1762, France ceded Louisiana to Spain, but the Spanish authorities did not take possession of Upper Louisiana, of which St. Louis was the capital, till May 20, 1770. Spain retroceded Louisiana to France by treaty of October 1, 1800, ratified March 21, 1801, but the actual transfer of Upper Louisiana was not made till March 9, 1804. April 30, 1803, France ceded for a cash consideration the province of Louisiana to the United States, the actual transfer of Upper Louisiana being made March 10, 1804, at St. Louis. Under act of Congress, approved October 31, 1803, President Thomas Jefferson appointed Wm. C. C. Claiborne (who was at the time Governor of the Mississippi territory) Governor, and invested him "with the powers heretofore exercised by the Governor and Intendant of Louisiana." December 20, 1803, Governor Claiborne assumed the government at New Orleans. January 12, 1804, Captain Amos Stoddard was appointed agent and commissioner of the French Republic. In that capacity he had received the province from Delassus at St. Louis March 9, and the following day delivered it to himself for the United States, having been authorized to do so by Wm. C. C. Claiborne, ex officio Governor of the territory of Louisiana. From October 1, 1804, the district of Louisiana consisted of all that part of the territory purchased from France, except that portion lying south of what is now the state of Arkansas. The government was assigned to the officers of the territory of Indiana, of which William Henry Harrison was Governor till March 3, 1805. On this date the territory of Louisiana was erected with the same limits as the district of Louisiana. The capital was St. Louis, and from March 3, 1805, till the last part of 1806 James Wilkinson was Governor. The territory of Missouri was erected December 7, 1812, and had the same limits, government and capital as the territory of Louisiana. From December 7, 1812, to July, 1813, Frederick Bates was Secretary and Acting Governor. From July, 1813, to 1820, William Clark was Governor. Under act of Congress, passed March 6, 1820, the State of Missouri was organized. July 19, 1820, the Constitutional Convention met in St. Louis. September 19, 1820, the State officers assumed their duties. August 10, 1821, the proclamation was issued admitting Missouri as a State. By act of Congress, June 7, 1836, which took effect by proclamation March 28, 1837, the western boundary was extended to include the "Platte Purchase," area of which was 3,168 square miles. The present gross area of the State is 69,415 square miles. Until November 1, 1821, the capital was at St. Louis; until October 1, 1826, at St. Charles, and since that date at Jefferson City.

Area—Missouri is larger than any state east of or bordering on the Mississippi river, except Minnesota. From north to south it is 282 miles, averages 335 miles in width, and includes over 44,426,600 acres. The entire states of Maine, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Delaware could be put down side by side within its limits and still leave almost enough acreage to make another Rhode Island. Missouri is as big as fourteen Connecticuts, thirty-three Delawares, or fifty-five Rhode Islands.

Boundaries—The eastern boundary begins at a point in the middle of the main channel of the Des Moines river, due east from an iron pillar on the west bank of said river (established on an "Indian boundary line" run in 1816, and re-established in 1850 as the northern boundary of Missouri); thence down the middle of the main channel of said river to the Mississippi river; thence due east to the middle of its main channel; thence down said line in the Mississippi to the parallel of 36° of north latitude. The southern boundary is coincident with the parallel of 36° of north latitude between the Mississippi and St. Francois rivers, and with the parallel of 36° 30' of north latitude from the St. Francois river west to the west line of the State. The western boundary begins in the middle of the main channel of the Missouri river on parallel 40° 34' 40" of north latitude; thence down the middle of the main channel to the mouth of the Kansas river; thence due south 177 miles, 4 chains and 83 links to the parallel of 36° 30' of north latitude. The northern boundary from the Missouri river east to the "old northwest corner of the State" (prior to the Platte Purchase) is coincident with the parallel of 40° 34' 40" north latitude (the "old corner" was located in 1816 at a point 100 miles due north of the mouth of the Kansas river); thence westwardly to the Des Moines river on a line surveyed in 1816, said line southing about two degrees and marked by certain mileposts and monuments relocated and re-established by commissioners appointed by the United States Supreme Court in 1849.

Soil—In variety, fitness for making profitable the largest number of industries, in richness, excellence and productivity, Missouri takes first place. Its northern, western and southwestern prairie lands, its river valley and bottom lands in northwestern, northeastern, central and southeastern portions are as rich in alluvial deposits as anywhere in the world, and far more extensive than in any state in the Union. The undulating hills forming the watersheds for its many streams are ideal for fruits, grasses, live stock, dairying and poultry raising.

Climate—Situating midway between the limits of the temperate zone, the average temperature is 54 degrees, which is 70 per cent of the average of the United States. Summers are never hot nor winters cold. Spring and autumn so merge with other seasons, by the almanac only can one tell where one begins and the other ends. Sunshine and rain are bestowed in such proportion as to give the State first place in the average percentage of each.

Agriculture—For resources agricultural, Missouri surpasses any equal area on the earth's surface. This does not mean that Missouri produces more of every agricultural product than any other state, but it does produce more of a greater number of products. A few states may excel in a single article, but when all the things necessary to the physical comfort of man and for his material prosperity are taken together, such as corn, wheat, oats, milk, butter, cream, honey, fruits, vegetables, hay, grasses, wool, cotton and tobacco, Missouri is king, emperor, sultan, czar, chief and president. The enormous production of cereals and the thousands upon thousands of blue grass pasture farms, equaling in quality and surpassing in area Kentucky's famous fields, make the raising of live stock a profitable branch of farm industry. Missouri mules have an established reputation on every continent, her thoroughbred and standard-bred saddle and harness horses capture prizes wherever the contest equestrian is known. Missouri stock breeders, with their superb herds of pure-bred cattle, hogs and sheep, furnish prize winners innumerable in the greatest worldwide open competition show rings, state and national. The last decennial census gave the approximate value of farms in Missouri devoted to the live-stock industry, of buildings and equipment for carrying on the business of live-stock growing, as in excess of one billion dollars. The number of Missouri farms exceeds that of any other state, and the value as estimated by the federal census reports of the cultivated farm lands is nearly two billions of dollars. Missouri has more apple trees than any other state, and contains the largest orchard in the world. The wheat crop is estimated at $35,000,000.00 annually, and the hay and forage crop at nearly $40,000,000.00 annually. The State is located in the center of the American corn belt. One Missouri farmer grows more corn each year on his farm than is grown in the nine states of Utah, Oregon, Washington, Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Nevada and Rhode Island. Three among Missouri's best corn-producing counties grow more corn than is grown in nineteen other states, in which are included all of New England. Missouri grows three times as much corn as all of South America, three-fifths as much as all of Europe and nearly one-half as much as all the world outside of the United States. The value of the annual corn crop of the State exceeds an average of a million dollars in each of the one hundred and fourteen counties, or a total of about $115,000,000.00. The last federal report places the total annual value of the principal crops of Missouri at $220,663,724.00.

Mining—Ever since Fernando De Soto conducted into the interior the expedition that led to the discovery of the Mississippi river, Missouri has been known as a mineral country. This country now includes the production of kaolin, copper, silver, tripoli, nickel, cobalt, iron, baryta, coal, lead and zinc. Missouri quarries marble, granite, limestone, sandstone and various clays in great abundance and of the finest quality. This State produces two-thirds of the spelter made from zinc ore mined in the United States and about 60 per cent of all the zinc ore mined on the North American Continent; twenty-two states produce zinc, but Missouri's product is about twice as much as all the others and five times as much as that of Colorado, the nearest competitor. The 1912 output was $12,988,803.00, or more than a million a month. In nickel and cobalt Missouri divides with Oregon the honor of leading. Notwithstanding the discriminations of the steel trust whose blighting hand is against the iron ore resources of this State, yet Missouri is annually producing a quarter million dollars' worth. Missouri is the leading State in the production of barytes, placing as much on the market as all the other states, and doubling the tonnage produced in Tennessee, the state next in rank. In the production of coal Missouri surpasses Texas, Arkansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Utah, Washington, Nebraska, Michigan and rivals Virginia. The value of the 1912 annual production was $7,348,050.00. The supply is estimated at nearly forty billion tons, and at the present rate of consumption will last nine thousand years. Missouri is also the leading lead-producing state. The annual production is about three hundred thousand tons, valued at approximately $15,000,000.00. When reduced to pig lead the worth to the smelters is in round numbers nearly four millions more. The total value of the annual output of mines, quarries, stone and clay products is about $35,000,000.00, an amount far in excess of the widely exploited values of the gold or silver output of the Rocky Mountain states.

Manufactures—Central geographical location, close proximity to great markets, excellent transportation facilities, abundant supply of cheap fuel, unsurpassed water power and hydro-electric facilities, inexhaustible natural resources and raw materials, make Missouri the best and most advantageous State in the Union for prosperous factories. The energy, thrift and enterprise of the people have placed the State near the top as a manufacturing center, passing many of the states much older. The last census report credits Missouri with 8,375 manufacturing establishments, giving employment to 185,705 persons who receive during the year in salaries and wages $109,837,000.00. Of the number employed 152,993 are wage earners. The value of the products of the factories was $574,111,000.00, to produce which materials costing $354,411,000.00 were used. The packing house products of the State have reached the high valuation of eighty millions a year. As a boot and shoe manufacturing State Missouri has been gaining rapidly, and now divides honors with Massachusetts, a state that for many years held the lead in this industry. Missouri's sixty-odd boot and shoe factories are producing annually footwear values in excess of fifty millions of dollars. The product of flour mills and grist mills adds nearly fifty millions more annually to the wealth of the State, while breweries and bakeries pile up another fifty million. Everything mankind may need or want is manufactured in Missouri. The following partial list of factory products is given to show the varied character of the manufacturing industry: Cob pipes, pearl buttons, soap, glass, musical instruments, lime, electrical instruments, spelter, zinc oxide, white lead, drugs, street and railway cars, motor vehicles, rubber goods, flags and banners, books, furniture, brick, tile, bed springs, stoves, cement, dynamite, coffins, surgical and mathematical instruments, chemicals, dyes, engines, boilers, farm implements, carriages, wagons, stoneware, pottery, paper, paint, clothing, leather goods, millinery, wire, gas, jewelry, confectionery, food preparations, brooms, brushes, and hundreds of other articles. A more inviting field for capital and labor cannot be found than the one Missouri furnishes to the world.

Poultry—All the silver annually mined in the United States is worth less than the annual poultry products of Missouri. This State "counts her chickens" now by the scores of millions, after they are hatched and while they are laying, for the annual production of eggs hovers about 100,000,000 dozens. The poultry crop and the wheat crop of Missouri are running a "nip-and-tuck" race, the former, however, gaining rapidly. Where one hen now disturbs the silent solitude of the Ozark cop and glen, in a year or two ten or twenty will cackle to boast of their achievements. Climate, soil and water have made Missouri the home of the hen. Her cackle has already far surpassed in commercial importance the bray of the justly celebrated mule. Though worth as much as Missouri's wheat or mineral output, the hen has scratched the humus of but a small fraction of Missouri's forty-four million acres.

Lumber—Missouri is one of the few "middle states" that yet market ties, lumber, lath and shingles in large quantities. The State annually markets about ten million ties, worth about $4,000,000.00 to the producer. More than a thousand sawmills had an output of 660,159,000 feet of lumber in one year, according to the last census report, the approximate value of which was, in round numbers, $30,000,000.00.

Dairying—Wonderful progress is being made in this industry in Missouri. The surplus dairy production of 1912 was valued at $15,000,000.00. The annual butter output is estimated at $10,000,000.00. All parts of the State are well adapted to the dairy industry. Nearly one-half the area of the State is better adapted to dairying than any other industry, as the climate is such as to require a minimum amount of winter feeding and a maximum amount of pasturing. An abundance of pure, clear water in all parts of the State, and especially that part which produces a luxuriant growth of grasses, is a very favorable factor. One very important advantage that is contributing so largely to the rapid growth of dairying in Missouri is the large market found in close proximity created by the dense population of the large cities in Missouri and near its boundaries.

Education—The State University at Columbia stands at the head of the system. Five State normal schools, Lincoln Institute, a school for the deaf and dumb, and one for the blind, supplement the work of the common and high schools. The large available public school fund with which the system is endowed gives Missouri a unique and prominent distinction in the school world. This permanent fund is now $14,829,237.81, besides which there is more than $40,000,000.00 invested in schoolhouses. The State has 10,804 public schoolhouses with 18,121 rooms, wherein 18,626 teachers daily instruct 959,218 pupils. The estimated amount annually spent for public education in Missouri is $16,000,000.00.

Other Advantages—Missouri transportation facilities are modern and extensive. The State has sixty-three railroad systems, with 8,136 miles of main track and twenty-one electric-driven roads with 842 miles. More roads are needed to develop the vast resources yet untouched. Many Missouri cities and towns have electric lines, suburban and inter-urban; some are in course of construction, others extending, and many are being promoted. Missouri has more miles of navigable rivers on and within her borders than any other State. This is a resource of untold value that will be better appreciated when Missouri with the density of Rhode Island's population is sustaining forty millions of people. The only debt Missouri has is the $3,500,000 obligation incurred in 1911 for a new capitol. An annual levy of only two cents on the hundred dollars' assessed valuation creates a sinking fund that will pay the capitol bonds by 1920. The State does business on a cash basis, the revenue of a biennial period paying the obligations of that period. The State tax rates are two cents on the hundred dollars for the capitol, two for the school certificates of indebtedness, five for the public schools, and ten for all other purposes. This rate, with the low assessed valuation, makes Missouri taxes for the maintenance of State government the lowest of any state in the Union. Constitutional tax limitations on State, county and municipality protect the taxpayer from the vagaries and extravagances of the chimerical. No state or nation has more intelligent, progressive, home-loving and God-fearing people than Missouri. A state's most valuable asset is her people. There are no better or more desirable people than Missourians. The queenly womanhood and stalwart manhood of this State appreciate the blessings so bountifully bestowed by the Giver of all good, and are patriotically contributing all the virtues essential to make the Commonwealth the best and greatest of the matchless sisterhood of states. In Missouri's name and in the name of the people, a hearty and sincere welcome is here extended to the worthy outside the borders of the State to come and share the enjoyments of home where neighbors are neighborly and life is worth living.

THE GREAT SEAL OF THE STATE.

Governor Alexander McNair, in a message to the First General Assembly, dated St. Charles, Mo., November 6, 1821, called attention to the need of a State seal, and urged the Legislature to adopt, by enactment, devices for the same. A select committee, consisting of Messrs. Smith, Alcorn and Elston, was appointed, Chauncey Smith being chairman, which reported the following bill, the same passing the Assembly, and receiving the approval of the Governor January 11, 1822:

"The device for an armorial achievement for the State of Missouri shall be as follows, to wit: Arms, parted per pale, on the dexter side; gules, the white or grizzly bear of Missouri, passant guardant, proper on a chief engrailed; azure, a crescent argent; on the sinister side, argent, the arms of the United States; the whole within a band—inscribed with the words 'United we stand, divided we fall.' For the crest, over a helmet full-faced, graded with six bars, or a cloud proper, from which ascends a star argent, and above it a constellation of twenty-three smaller stars, argent, on an azure field, surrounded by a cloud proper. Supporters on each side, a white or grizzly bear of Missouri, rampant, guardant proper, standing on a scroll, inscribed with the motto, 'Salus populi suprema lex esto,' and under the scroll the numerical letters MDCCCXX. And the great seal of the State shall be so engraved as to present by its impression the device of the armorial achievement aforesaid, surrounded by a scroll inscribed with the words, 'The great seal of the State of Missouri,' in Roman capitals; which seal shall be in a circular form, and not more than two and a half inches in diameter."

In order to a better understanding of this heraldic language, there is here given definitions of the technical terms used:

Arms: The ensigns armorial consisting of figures and colors borne in shields, banners, etc., as marks of dignity and distinction.

Pale: One of the greater ordinaries, being a broad perpendicular stripe in an escutcheon equally distant from the two edges and occupying one-third of it.

Dexter: Right.

Gules: Red, to denote courage; represented on printed shields by straight perpendicular lines closely drawn together.

Passant: Walking; a term applied to any animal on a shield which appears to walk leisurely; passing.

Guardant: Having the face turned toward the spectator; regarding; looking.

Proper: Represented in its natural color.

Chief: The upper one-third of the escutcheon.

Engrailed: To indent with curved lines as a line of division or an ordinary.

Azure: Blue.

Crescent: A bearing in the form of the new moon.

Argent: Silver; white.

Crest: An appendage to the shield placed over it and usually borne upon a wreath. It is generally some portion of the coat armor or a device commemorative of some incident in apposite history.

Or: Gold.

Rampant: Standing upright on his hind legs.

In a study of the cut in connection with the law and the definitions of technical terms, bear in mind that the "dexter," or right side, is the left side of the cut as you look at it, and, of course, the "sinister," or left side, is the right side of the cut. It is quite essential to a proper understanding that this be known. Observe that the coat of arms is, as to its central portion, separated into two great divisions, the sinister side of which is occupied by the coat of arms of the United States, which consists of the eagle with the arrows in its talons, and surmounted by a constellation of stars representing the states. The lower dexter side of the division, the Missouri grizzly bear, and the upper part of it, the crescent or bearing in the form of the new moon, with the various ideas of which it is emblematic, all of which is surrounded by the band, upon which is inscribed the words "United we stand, divided we fall." Over the coat of arms proper is the crest, which is a portion thereof, and, in this case, is a helmet full-faced, grated with six bars, and which represents strength, above which is the star Missouri, with the background a cloud proper and surrounded by twenty-three smaller stars, representing together the number of states then in the Union. All of which is supported on each side by a Missouri grizzly bear rampant guardant proper, standing on a scroll inscribed with the motto "Salus populi suprema lex esto," and under the scroll the numerical letters MDCCCXX, which represents the year in which Missouri began its functions as a State.

Hon. William G. Pettus, then Secretary of State, who first carried into effect the statute prescribing the coat of arms by having under its terms engraved a seal of the State, no doubt preferred the grizzly bear, the option being given him, as more thoroughly representing the rugged character of the people of the State. The fact that the coat of arms of the United States is embodied shows the patriotic love of country possessed by the Missouri fathers, and the mottoes are wholesome, strong and patriotic.

CAPITOLS THAT HAVE BEEN.

"Mansion House" Hotel, where first Constitutional Convention of Missouri met.

General for Illinois and Missouri. The structure was built for his office and residence, but, in 1819, he enlarged the house and converted it into a hotel. As such it was occupied for many years, during which period it was the scene of many interesting and noteworthy incidents. Theatrical companies for lack of more suitable houses performed in the dining room of this historical hostelry, and for many years it was the principal ballroom in St. Louis, where the society of the city held its most fashionable functions.

The second building which Missouri used as a capitol was the one in which the first State Legislature met, in September, 1820, after the State had been admitted to the Union. This capitol was the "Missouri Hotel," built by Thomas Brady in 1819. It was built of stone with three stories and basement, and was situated on the southwest corner of Main and Morgan. For years the "Missouri Hotel" stood as one of the most notable landmarks of St. Louis. It disappeared in 1873, when it was razed to give place to a business structure. In its day this was the finest hotel in the Mississippi Valley. In this capitol the Legislature canvassed the election returns and announced the election of Alexander McNair as Missouri's first Governor. In the dining room of the "Missouri Hotel," where was held the joint session of the Legislature, composed of fourteen State Senators and forty-three members, David Barton and Thomas Benton were elected the first United States Senators. This session of the Legislature passed an act making St. Charles the State capital until October, 1826. Before closing its deliberations, the First General Assembly passed an act providing for the selection of a permanent seat of government, and named a commission of five citizens to locate the new capital. These commissioners were by law allowed four dollars per day for their services, but the time of their service was limited to twenty-five days. In June, 1821, a special session of the Legislature was held in St. Charles, the temporary capital. The third capitol, the one used in St. Charles, was a plain, two-story brick building, about twenty by thirty feet, with a saddleback roof. December 31, 1821, the act was approved which the Legislature in session at St. Charles passed, which fixed the location of the permanent seat of government on the south bank of the Missouri river, within forty miles of the mouth of the Osage, on four certain sections of land specified in that act.

Nearly a year later the act was approved which named Josiah Ramsey, Jr., John Gordon and Adam Hope trustees charged with the duty of building in the City of Jefferson a brick structure not to exceed forty by sixty feet, to be two stories in height. These trustees chose the hill in the City of Jefferson, now occupied by the Executive Mansion, as the place for the new State house. The law creating the trustees stated that the building should be made suitable for the residence of the Governor, but that it should contain two large rooms

The first legislative body charged with the duty of making laws for this State was the Constitutional Convention, which met in June, 1820, for the purpose of framing a Constitution for the prospective State to be known as Missouri. This body met in a hotel in St. Louis, known as the Mansion House, located on the northeast corner of Third and Vine. The building was a three-story brick structure, and was then regarded as one of the most pretentious buildings west of the Mississippi river. The forty-one members of that body held their deliberations the five weeks of their session in the spacious dining hall of the hotel. This "Mansion House" hotel was built in 1816 by Gen. Wm. Rector, a member of the first Constitutional Convention and United States Surveyor-officers, and appropriating $75,000 for a new capitol, the new capitol to be located on "Capitol Hill," the first hill west of the one now occupied by the "Mansion." The new structure was to be of sufficient size to accommodate the House of Representatives and the Senate, a State library, executive rooms, and State offices, to be fireproof, inside and out, to be covered with sheet copper or lead, the interior to be of brick and the exterior of stone. Before the work was begun, a fire on the 17th of November, 1837, completely consumed the capitol that was constructed in 1825 and 1826, and all its precious historical contents, whereupon the Legislature met in the fifth capitol, the Cole county court house, until 1840, when it occupied the new building on "Capitol Hill" proper. Several different appropriations were made for the construction of the capitol begun in 1837. When finished, the sixth capitol cost nearly $350,000. In his message to the Legislature of 1840, Governor Boggs praised the work of the contractor, stating among other things that the building was not only spacious and convenient but fireproof. About three years were consumed in the construction of that capitol. The first building that occupied "Capitol Hill" was eighty-five by one hundred and ninety-two feet, had two floors and a basement, and a dome one hundred and thirty feet high. The walls were of brick and stone, the stone being taken from the bluffs in the immediate vicinity, with the exception of the stone in the stately columns fronting the rotunda, which stone was quarried in the bluffs of Callaway county. As finished the sixth capitol was said to be one of the three handsomest and most classical public buildings in the United States. That building served the purposes of the State until 1887, when the growth of the commonwealth necessitated additions and an entire remodeling. This, the seventh perience, however, has taught that not only must the floors, walls and ceilings be of fireproof material, but the frame work as well as the frames of the windows and doors must be iron, steel or concrete, or made of some other fire-resisting material in order to have a fireproof structure. The floor space in the capitol burned in 1911 was about 50,000 square feet. The eleventh (or new) capitol will have a floor space of about 300,000 square feet, besides nearly three acres in the sub-basement.

After the fire of 1911 consumed the seventh capitol, the Senate found temporary quarters in the court room of the court en banc in the new Supreme Court building; the House found temporary quarters in St. Peter's hall on west High street, these two structures containing the two legislative bodies, thus making the eighth and ninth State capitol for Missouri.

The tenth and present temporary capitol was constructed in three months, during 1912, at a cost of $51,000. It is rectangular, measuring 168 feet long and 80 feet wide, is built with wooden frame, 1-inch lumber sheeting and stucco finish, has a basement (almost all above ground) two floors and a mezzanine in the legislative halls. The basement is occupied by the Insurance Commissioner, State Auditor's examining department, Building and Loan Examiner, Hotel Inspector, Land Reclamation Agent, and the corporation supervision and publishing departments of the Secretary of State. The second floor contains the executive offices of the Governor, Secretary of State, Treasurer and Auditor. The third floor accommodates the Senate and House, the officers and committees of the General Assembly. It is located on Capitol Hill, just inside the Main street entrance.

During the past ninety-three years Missouri's population has increased from 66,000 to 3,300,000, or has, in other words, been multiplied by fifty; if the next ninety-three years shows a corresponding increase, Missouri's population in the year 2006 will be 165,000,000. The first capitol Missouri built cost $18,000 in 1825; the eleventh, for which

SELECTING PLANS FOR NEW CAPITOL.

Missouri's capitol of 1887-8 was burned February 5, 1911. The Forty-sixth General Assembly, sitting in temporary quarters at St. Peter's Hall and chamber of the Supreme Court, passed an act authorizing the contracting of the liability of the State by the issuance of bonds in the sum of $3,500,000, of which amount the sum of $3,000,000 was to be used in erecting a new capitol, $300,000 to furnish the same, and as much of $200,000 as was necessary to purchase additional capitol grounds. This proposition was submitted to a vote of the people at a special election held Tuesday, August 1, 1911, and was ratified by a vote of 144,664 for to 45,468 against.

In accordance with this act, approved March 24, 1911, the Board of Permanent Seat of Government appointed a bipartisan State Capitol Commission Board consisting of four members, namely: E. W. Stephens, Columbia; J. C. A. Hiller, Glencoe; A. A. Speer, Chamois, and Theo. Lacaff, Nevada. After due notification, the Commissioners met at Jefferson City, Mo., October 6, 1911, qualified by submitting their official bonds and taking the oath of office, and organized by electing E. W. Stephens, chairman; A. A. Speer, vice-chairman, and J. C. A. Hiller, secretary pro tem. November 3, 1911, J. Kelly Pool of Centralia was elected secretary; April 12, 1912, Roy T. Davis of Ewing, stenographer; December 13, 1911, L. Baylor Pendleton of St. Louis, advisory architect, to serve until the architect of the capitol was elected. On the 29th day of April, 1913, John T. Short of Jefferson City was elected superintendent of construction.

The Fund Commissioners, after advertising the capitol bonds for sale, found that they were not marketable because of the low rate of three and one-half per cent interest. Proceedings were inaugurated, and an opinion ultimately obtained from the Supreme Court giving the Fund Commissioners authority to pay a commission to a broker to sell said bonds if, in the judgment of the Fund Commissioners, it was deemed necessary. Later, however, the Fund Commissioners found sale for some $300,000 of said bonds at par, with a part of the proceeds of which the Board secured the additional capitol grounds upon which the Forty-sixth General Assembly secured an option, and also a tract of land west of the old capitol grounds approximately 330 by 250 feet, all at a cost of nearly $2,000 less than the original option price of $190,000 given a legislative committee of the Forty-sixth General Assembly. The State has secured a good title to all of this property, and, in addition, the City of Jefferson has vacated to the State of Missouri for capitol purposes Stewart street, that part of Washington street north of High street, and all that part of Broadway north of Main street, giving approximately seventeen acres in the site for the new capitol.

The correlating of facts and the assimilation of the plans and methods used in building other capitols impressed the Board with the necessity of proceeding with the utmost care and the greatest deliberation in the preliminary stages of construction of Missouri's capitol, that no long delay might follow any costly mistake due to hasty action at the beginning of the work. Under the program the first stage of the contest to select a plan and architect for the new capitol was held July 10, 1912, and was participated in by sixty-nine of America's leading architects, representing many states of the Union. October 1st the final stage of the competition was held, eleven drawings being submitted by each architect, or one hundred and ten in all. The drawings submitted in this stage of the competition consisted of block plan of the site; plans of all floors; front, rear, and one side elevation; one longitudinal and one transverse section; one scale detail of prominent portion of front elevation.

The Board and advisory architect called to their assistance in the final stage an advisory jury of architects, namely, W. B. Itner of St. Louis, R. Clipston Sturgis of Boston and Thomas R. Kimball of Omaha. After a thorough and critical examination of all of the plans in the final stage, the advisory jury recommended to the Board that the set of drawings marked "Number 3" be selected as the winning plans for the new capitol, and that the author of said plans be chosen as the architect of the capitol. The Board, assisted by the advisory architect and the advisory jury, made a thorough and critical study of each set of drawings submitted, and, at the conclusion of its work, unanimously ratified the finding of the advisory jury, and by unanimous vote designated plan "No. 3" as the winning plan in the competition. Upon calling upon the Governor, who, by the terms of the program, was made the custodian of the sealed envelopes containing the names of the competitors for the envelope of corresponding number with plan "Number 3," it was found that the firm of Tracy & Swartwout of New York City were the authors of said plans. The plan by Tracy & Swartwout was submitted to the Board of Permanent Seat of Government, consisting of Governor Herbert S. Hadley, Secretary of State Cornelius Roach, Auditor John P. Gordon, Attorney-General Elliott Major and Treasurer James Cowgill, for their inspection and consideration. This Board met October 21st and examined the plans, and, pending final action, the Board of Permanent Seat of Government adjourned till November 6th, in order to have further time to look into the merits of the plans. November 6th, after further study of the plans, the Board, by unanimous vote, ratified the selection of the plans and architect by the State Capitol Commission Board.

THE NEW CAPITOL.

The beautiful site of the new capitol offers but one logical arrangement of the building and grounds. The longitudinal axis is parallel with the river and coincides with the axis of Main street, while the main approach is from High street, the transverse axis coinciding with that of the Supreme Court. The grades of the lot, although steep, are fortunately located, and lend themselves to the development of the terrace around the building. This terrace, from which the main building rises, is of great value to the architectural scheme; it brings the building up to the level of the adjoining streets, and will be extremely useful for storage and for additional offices which will be required. The grounds, with comparatively little grading, are so arranged that from the main approach on High street the capitol rises logically from its park, while on the river side a series of terraces and ramps, so laid out as to give the effect of a formal garden, lead gradually to the cliff overhanging the river, and eventually, it is hoped, across an arcade covering the railroad tracks down to a State landing at the water's edge. The ramps for the driveway around the bluff are very easy grades, so that carriages or motor cars can take advantage of the magnificent view in either direction from the terrace.

The building is 436 feet long by 200 feet wide, while the dome rises above the terrace level to the height of 248 feet. The interior diameter of the dome is 62 feet, and the height from the legislative floor to the opening is 136 feet. In determining the actual design and outlines of the dome, it is interesting to note that more than fifty complete drawings of it and seventeen complete models were made by the architects before the lines as now established were settled. It is well known that a drawing never gives the same effect as the work executed from the drawing, but it is probable that no existing dome was ever as carefully studied by models as this one. The building is to be erected entirely of fireproof materials, the exterior of stone, with all structural parts of steel, concrete, terra cotta and other fire-resisting materials. One of the main features of the plan is the throwing together of the first and ground floors under the dome and in the longitudinal passages so that in the large spaces the full height of the two stories is combined, while the circulation and offices are the regular height, forming, as it were, a mezzanine. The offices are practically continuous and well-lighted, being only 26 feet deep. The outer wall, with the exception of the columns, is laterally all window. The circulation is wide and continuous and has outside light at the corners. The secondary stairs and elevators are in the four corners of the building, just off the circulation, so placed that members of the Legislature can go from either side directly to their cloak rooms without passing through the lobbies, and employees can enter their offices without encroachment upon the public portions of the building. The cloak rooms and lounging rooms are at the rear of the legislative chambers so that the legislators may enter the capitol and go directly to their committee rooms or legislative chambers, escaping, if they wish, the importunities of insistent constituents. The House and Senate chambers are as near together as is consistent with the size of the necessary lobbies, and project some 15 or 20 feet above the roof, thus receiving outside air and light and affording the ventilation so necessary in this climate. The legislative chambers are approached in a way that is unique, the method being pronounced by architects as a great conception. This approach is regarded as the one central architectural accent of the building. From the main entrance on the south a grand stairway, 30 feet wide, in a hall the full height of the building, leads to the rotunda on the second floor under the great dome. The chambers themselves are dignified rooms.

A distinctive feature of the capitol is that the three most important floors are all entrance floors, that is, may be directly entered from the exterior; the ground floor from the terrace, the first floor from the portico level, and the main, or legislative floor, from the great State staircase. There will be a public entrance under the portico and a driveway from the east end of Main street through the terrace and basement so that the Governor may drive in his carriage or motor vehicle to a private elevator which connects with his own chambers. This arrangement will be a great convenience to visitors and others, particularly in inclement weather.

Situated on the ground floor, and perhaps its greatest feature, are the two great museums on either side of the rotunda, and extending through two stories. These lie directly and are so arranged that the presiding officers can upon opening intervening doors see each other. The lounging rooms and different committee rooms surround the legislative chambers, and are all directly lighted from the exterior. The legislative chambers rise through two stories, and extend above the roof, so that not only are they lighted by skylights, but have direct window openings for light and ventilation. The third floor is occupied by the House and Senate galleries and government departments not housed elsewhere. The question of acoustics in the House and Senate chambers is one which is often neglected until too late to remedy. In this case it has been carefully studied with Professor Sabine of Harvard University, the greatest authority on the subject, and the rooms have been so designed that there can be no chance of failure of hearing, echoes or reverberation.

The power house is situated on the low ground lying to the west, and is connected by means of a tunnel to the capitol. The heating and ventilation are by the most approved methods.

below the Senate and House chambers, and are devoted respectively to the history of the State and to natural resources. The museums, which demand large area and height, are placed in the center, serve as a main thoroughfare and occupy basement and first story in height. Besides several State departments there is also located on this floor the great dining room with its kitchens and appurtenances. The first floor, which may be called the administrative floor, has situated in the center of the river front the large offices and reception room of the Governor, and in their proper relations the offices of the Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer and Superintendent of Education—all administrative officers—with their respective working rooms and vaults. Special importance has been given the Governor's reception room, which is beautifully located overlooking the north terrace and the river.

The second or legislative floor is approached by the great State stairs, which rise from the portico through a vaulted vestibule sixty feet high directly to the rotunda under the dome. The Senate and House lie respectively to the east and west,

EDWIN W. STEPHENS,
Chairman.

THEO. LACAFF.

EDWIN WILLIAM STEPHENS (Democrat) of Columbia, Boone county, was born in Columbia, Mo., January 21, 1849, and has lived in that city all his life. His father, the late James L. Stephens, came with his father from Kentucky to Boone county, Missouri, in 1820, and was merchant, trader and capitalist, member of State Senate 1880-1884, and founder of Stephens College, Columbia. His mother was Amelia Hockaday, daughter of the late Judge I. O. Hockaday of Fulton. He was married in 1871 to Miss Laura Moss, daughter of the late James H. Moss of Liberty. She, with four children, are now living; there are three sons, Hugh of Jefferson City, James L. and Edwin Sydney of Columbia, and one daughter, Mrs. W. Ashley Gray of St. Louis. Mr. Stephens graduated at the University of Missouri in 1867, and he received the degree of A. B., A. M. and LL. D. from that institution. Was editor and publisher of the Columbia (Missouri) Herald from 1870 to 1905. His business is that of law book publisher. In order to determine and demonstrate the importance of improved and better methods of the breeding and rearing of poultry and to bring the results of scientific research in the range of all farmers and poultry raisers of Missouri, the Forty-sixth General Assembly created and established a State Poultry Experiment Station at Mountain Grove, Mo. The objects and purposes of this institution are to experiment with the different kinds of houses, incubators, brooders and appliances, and the different varieties of poultry, and determine which is best adapted to the farmers and poultry raisers of Missouri in the different sections thereof, and to make a study of the different diseases to which poultry is subject, and to make other experiments and tests which will tend to the betterment of the poultry interests of the State.

The station is located on thirty-six acres of land partly within the corporate limits of Mountain Grove, in the south-central part of the State.

The State Poultry Experiment Station now has the following buildings: The administration building, which includes the director's, superintendent's and assistant's offices, laboratory, incubator room, educational exhibit, egg rooms, mailing room, feed room, carpenter shop, feeding and killing room, bath and living room; the director's residence; laying houses; brooder houses; barn and implement house.

The government of the State Poultry Experiment Station is vested in the State Poultry Board, consisting of six members appointed by the Governor for terms of three years each, and an Advisory Board, consisting of the Governor, dean of the College of Agriculture and the Secretary of the State Agricultural Board. The State Poultry Board has direct charge of the State poultry shows, and conduct poultry institutes and poultry extension work throughout the State. THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

The Legislature of Missouri convenes in regular session in the State capitol at Jefferson City on the first Wednesday after the first day of January in each odd numbered year. It is divided into two houses, called the Senate and the House of Representatives, collectively designated as the General Assembly of the State of Missouri. The Senators are elected for four years—those from the odd numbered districts being chosen in the same year of the Presidential election, and those from the even numbered districts in the intervening even numbered years.

There are under the present apportionment thirty-four Senators and one hundred and forty-two Representatives. The members of the House are elected every two years. The Senate is presided over by the Lieutenant-Governor, who receives a salary of $1,000 a year and a per diem of $7.00 when presiding over the Senate. The Senators receive a per diem of $5.00 per day during the first seventy days of each regular session, and for 120 days for each revising session, and after that time but one dollar per day.

The House is presided over by a Speaker of its own selection, whose per diem is the same as that of Lieutenant-Governor, and the members receive the same per diem and are under the same restrictions as to length of session as are the members of the Senate. The members of both House and Senate receive traveling expenses in coming to and returning from the session, and thirty dollars per session for stationery and postage.

STATE SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES OF MISSOURI.

(From the First to the Forty-seventh General Assembly, inclusive.)

The first printed list of Senators and Representatives of Missouri appeared in the Missouri Manual for 1897-98, and was compiled by Secretary of State A. A. Lesueur. Absolute correctness was not claimed for the list then, but it was as complete as information at hand, official and unofficial, could make it. With the destruction of the capitol by fire in 1837, all records, from which an officially correct list could have been compiled, were destroyed. The information herein, prior to 1837, was therefore obtained from unofficial, but reliable sources, and compiled with great difficulty.

The information given for the period since 1837 was gathered from the journals in possession of the State and some in possession of the Missouri Historical Society. In recent legislative journals there appear within the first few pages complete lists of Senators and Representatives prepared by the Secretary of State. Not so in the journals of the earlier sessions of the General Assembly. The name of the member appeared first on the page of the journal the day he presented his credentials; and as those days were before railroads, members put in but a straggling appearance—weeks, oftentimes, after the opening of the session, and sometimes not at all. As a result, to get a complete list of the members of any one General Assembly, nearly every page of the journals had to be carefully scanned, and as some of the journals accessible had many missing pages, names necessarily were missed. In two or three of the mutilated journals the names of the members could be obtained only from the record of the roll call, which, of course, neither gave the given names nor counties.

STATE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTIONS.

Missouri has provided for the holding of, and has held, four conventions for the purpose of framing or revising the State's Constitution.

Convention of 1820.

By act of Congress, approved March 6, 1820, the people of Missouri, then organized into fifteen counties, were authorized to hold an election on the first Monday and two succeeding days in May, 1820, to elect delegates to a convention to be held in St. Louis, then the seat of government, on June 12th of that year. At this election the counties elected delegates, as follows:

Cooper—Robert P. Clark, Robert Wallace, William Lillard.

Lincoln—Malcom Henry.

Montgomery—Jonathan Ramsey, James Talbott.

Madison—Nathaniel Cook.

New Madrid—Robert D. Dawson, Christopher G. Houts.

Pike—Stephen Cleaver.

St. Charles—Benjamin Emmons, Nathan Boone, Hiram H. Baber.

Ste. Genevieve—John D. Cook, Henry Dodge, John Scott, R. T. Brown.

St. Louis—David Barton, Edward Bates, Alexander McNair, William Rector, John C. Sullivan, Pierre Chouteau, Jr., Bernard Pratte, Thos. F. Riddick.

Washington—John Rice Jones, Samuel Perry, John Hutchings.

Wayne—Elijah Bettis.

The convention organized with David Barton as chairman and William G. Pettus of St. Charles county as secretary. The Constitution framed by this body took effect from authority of the convention, there being no provision whereby it could be submitted to a vote of the people for ratification. The convention concluded its labors July 19, thus in the short space of five weeks enacting the organic law of this State; and it must have been well nigh perfect, as it answered, with but few amendments, every requirement for forty-five years.

Convention of 1845.

The General Assembly, by act approved February 27, 1843, submitted to the people the question of whether or not a convention should be held to remodel the Constitution. At the general election of 1844 this proposition was voted upon and carried overwhelmingly. John C. Edwards, then Governor, as directed by this act, issued his proclamation April 24, 1845, directing that an election be held on the first Monday in August, 1845, to elect delegates to a convention to be held the 17th of the following November to remodel the Constitution. The delegates were elected by senatorial districts, each district electing delegates to double the number of Senators in the General Assembly, to which it was entitled.

The convention met in Jefferson City upon the date specified and organized by electing Robert W. Wells as president; Claiborne F. Jackson, vice-president, and R. Walker, secretary.

The membership of the convention was as follows:

First District—Edwin D. Bevitt and John D. Coalter.

Third District—Joshua Gentry and Thomas L. Anderson.

Fourth District—James S. Green and James L. Jones.

Fifth District—John C. Griffin and Moses H. Simmonds.

Sixth District—Joseph B. Nickel and James M. Fulkerson.

Seventh District—Jonathan M. Bassett and Robert M. Stewart.

Eighth District—John E. Pitt, Daniel Branstetter, Thompson Ward and Roland Brown.

Ninth District—William Y. Slack and Hiram Wilcoxson.

Eleventh District—Hancock Jackson and Elias Kincheloe.

Twelfth District—David M. Hickman and John F. Stone.

Fourteenth District—Robert W. Wells and James W. Morrow.

Fifteenth District—Charles Jones and Joseph B. Wells.

Sixteenth District—James Farquhar, Philip Pipkin, William B. Pannel and William M. Davis.

Seventeenth District—Thomas M. Horine and Corbin Alexander.

Nineteenth District—Abraham Hunter and Robert Gibbony.

Twentieth District—John Buford and Theodore F. Tong.

Twenty-first District—Thomas B. Neaves and Burton A. James.

Twenty-second District—William C. Jones and Benjamin F. Massey.

Twenty-third District—Robert E. Acock and Samuel H. Bunch.

Twenty-fourth District—John McHenry and Aaron Finch.

Twenty-fifth District—Duke W. Simpson, Nathaniel C. Mitchell, Thompson M. Ewing and Samuel H. Woodson.

Twenty-sixth District—M. M. Marmaduke and William Shields.

Twenty-seventh District—F. W. G. Thomas and Charles M. Brooking.

Twenty-eighth District—William M. Campbell, Frederic Hyatt, Trusten Polk, Miron Leslie, Joseph Foster and Uriel Wright.

The convention was in session from November 17, 1845, to January 14, 1846, and the instrument, as remodeled, passed the convention by a vote of 49 to 13. But the people refused to ratify it, defeating the proposition to adopt at the August election by over 9,000 majority in a total vote of 60,000.

Convention of 1865.

Under an act of the General Assembly, approved February 13, 1864, providing for holding a convention to revise the Constitution, which proposition the people adopted at the November election of 1864, delegates were chosen, and the convention assembled in Mercantile Library Hall in the city of St. Louis, Friday, January 6, 1865. The convention organized by electing Arnold Krekel as president; Charles D. Drake, vice-president; Amos P. Foster, secretary; Thomas Proctor, assistant secretary; H. J. Stierlin, doorkeeper; John W. The act of the General Assembly authorizing the assembling of the convention provided that it should consider, (1) such amendments to the Constitution as might by them be deemed necessary for the emancipation of slaves; (2) amendments calculated to limit the elective franchise, and any other amendments deemed essential to the changed and turbulent conditions of the times.

The convention of the State, which was provided for under the provisions of a law approved by Governor Claib Jackson January 1, 1861, and which was called by his proclamation, assembled at Jefferson City February 28, 1861, and elected Sterling Price president. This convention held several sessions, and was reconvened in June, 1862, by Provisional Governor Gamble, Governor Jackson having left the State. This convention, on the 10th of June, 1862, adopted an ordinance, having the force of a constitutional provision, disfranchising certain voters, and requiring an oath of loyalty to be taken by all officers, jurors, attorneys at law, professors and curators of the State University, teachers and ministers of the gospel. This proposition was afterwards ingrafted into the Constitution of 1865, but repealed under the provision of an amendment to the Constitution submitted by the Legislature of 1869 and voted for at the succeeding election.

The proposition to call a convention to revise the Constitution having been carried at the November election of 1874, an election was ordered for January 26, 1875, to elect delegates. On May 5, 1875, the convention assembled in Jefferson City, and organized by electing Waldo P. Johnson as president; Nathaniel W. Watkins, vice-president; George N. Nolan of Jackson county, secretary; W. Boyle Adams of Cooper county, assistant secretary; Silas Carr of Montgomery county, sergeant-at-arms, and H. C. Moore, doorkeeper.

A thorough revision of the entire organic law was made; and the adoption of the Constitution by the convention by a vote of ayes, 60; noes, none; absent, 8, is emphatic of the unity of purpose which actuated the body. The convention adjourned August 2, 1875. The Constitution was submitted to a vote of the people October 30, 1875, and ratified by a majority of 76,688—the vote standing: For the Constitution, 91,205; against the Constitution, 14,517. By proclamation of the Governor, it became the organic law of the State on the 30th day of November, 1875.

STATE INSTITUTIONS.

UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI—COLUMBIA.

The legislative act establishing the public school system was approved February 9, 1839, and that establishing the University was approved February 11, 1839. This is considered the date of the foundation of the University. The University was located at Columbia June 24, 1839, and the corner stone of the main building was laid July 4, 1840. Courses of instruction in academic work began on April 14, 1841. A normal department was established in 1867 and was opened in September, 1868. A year later women were admitted first to this department. The College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts and the School of Mines and Metallurgy were made departments of the University in 1870, the latter being located at Rolla. The law department was opened in 1872, the medical department in 1873 and the engineering department in 1877. The Experiment Station was established under an act of Congress in 1888. The Missouri State Military School was created in 1890, and in June, 1896, the graduate department was established by the Board of Curators. The School of Journalism was established by the Board of Curators in 1906 and the extension division in 1910. The University received its first aid from the State in 1868, the Legislature then appropriating $10,000.

The University now has the following buildings: Academic hall, agricultural building, Benton hall, cattle barn, chemistry building, dairy building, engineering building, farm machine building, geology and zoology building, horticultural building, Lathrop hall, law building, Laws observatory, live stock judging pavilion, medical building, Parker memorial hospital, power houses (3), Read hall, Rothwell gymnasium, Switzler hall, veterinary building, engineering shop, dairy barn, physics building and agricultural chemistry building.

The University comprises the following departments: College of arts and science, college of agriculture, school of education, school of law, school of medicine, school of engineering, school of journalism, school of mines and metallurgy (Rolla), graduate department, extension division.

The enrollment by departments at Columbia was on June 1, 1913, as follows: College of arts and science, 1,574; college of agriculture, 808, including short course, 307; school of education, 391; school of law, 127; school of medicine, 61; school of engineering, 170; school of journalism, 68; summer session, 680; graduate department, 188. Total, deducting duplicates, 3,081.

The government of the State University is vested in a Board of Curators, consisting of nine members appointed by the Governor, the terms of three members expiring every two years. Members of the Board receive no compensation save expenses. Meetings of the Board are held quarterly.

SOME AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE WORK.MISSOURI CHIEF JOSEPHINE.

All are familiar with the "high school" horses of Missouri. Here, however, is given the remarkable story of a "University" cow. Of the 750,000 cows in the State of Missouri only one is widely known by name to the people of the State. She is Josephine of the College of Agriculture, University of Missouri. Her full name was Missouri Chief Josephine. Her sire was Missouri Chief, a famous show bull owned for many years by M. E. Moore of Cameron, Mo.; her mother a descendant of the imported cow, Empress Josephine III.

Josephine, a pure-bred Holstein, was born on the Agricultural College farm at Columbia, Mo., in March, 1902. It was not until 1910 that she began to attract public attention, although even then she had for two or three years the highest milk record for the State. Her great year had come. She freshened in February. Within a few days it was evident that she would far exceed the milk production of any other Missouri cow, that she would approach the world's record. In one day she produced 110.2 pounds of milk, about 52 quarts. The average farmer is satisfied with 20 pounds a day, about 10 quarts.

Six months passed and Josephine had yielded 17,008 pounds of milk—much more than any other cow in the world had yielded for the same period. Her daily average production was 96 pounds, or 47 quarts. The question became, "Josephine, can you beat the world for a year?" The remaining six months of the year passed, but it was a week too short. Josephine fell only 500 pounds below the world's record at the time. Her total milk production for the twelve months was 26,861 pounds, which gave her second rank for all breeds in all countries.

To appreciate Josephine's record, compare it with that of the average Missouri cow. The average cow in this State produces about 4,000 pounds of milk a year. It would take more than six cows to equal the production of Josephine. It requires about 750,000 cows to supply the dairy products used by the people of Missouri. If all these cows were equal to Josephine, the cows in Missouri would not only produce milk enough for this State, but could also supply Kansas, Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska. The value of the milk of the Missouri cow is about $20,000,000 a year. If all Missouri cows produced equal to Josephine, Missouri's yearly milk value would be more than $100,000,000.

After the close of her year's record Josephine was taken on three special agricultural trains as part of the exhibit. Here she was the main drawing card. By actual count 97,000 people passed through the car to see her. While on test, an average of nearly fifty visitors came to see her daily. Her picture has been published in nearly one hundred agricultural papers in the United States and foreign countries, including England, Australia and the Argentine Republic.

Josephine at least demonstrated to the world that it is possible to raise dairy cows in Missouri equal to those found anywhere. And the fact that a Missouri-raised cow made this marvelous record has been a stimulation to the entire dairy interests of the State.

DESERTER AND DISPUTER.

The grade Hereford steers, Deserter and Disputer, were bred, fed and exhibited by the department of animal husbandry, College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri. The most remarkable achievement of these steers lies in the fact that each of them was champion steer under twelve months of age at the International Live Stock Show, Chicago.

These steers were exhibited in competition at the largest and best live stock shows in America. They competed at the Interstate Live Stock Show, St. Joseph, Mo.; Missouri State Fair, Sedalia, Mo.; American Royal Live Stock Show, Kansas City, Mo.; International Live Stock Show, Chicago, Ill.

Deserter was shown during the years 1909 and 1910. In that time he won four championship prizes, one reserve championship prize, seven first prizes, five second prizes, one third prize.

Disputer was exhibited during the years 1911 and 1912. In the two years he won one grand championship prize, four championship prizes, one reserve championship prize, eight first prizes, one third prize.

FIRST AID TO THE FARMER.What the College of Agriculture is Doing for the State.

Through the work of its College of Agriculture and its Agricultural Experiment Station, the University of Missouri comes into direct touch with the farmers of the State. The college and station have one aim, to be of service. There are four phases to their work for farmers out in the State: First, the investigation of agricultural problems; second, the publication of results of investigation in bulletins for free distribution to the people; third, teaching and demonstration of farm methods out in the State; fourth, service work, such as distribution of hog cholera serum, testing of seeds and judging stock at county fairs.

Practical Work is Done.

Investigations are continually in progress. They deal with soils and farm crops, fertilizers, feeding and breeding live stock, dairying, fruit growing, farm management, poultry raising, agricultural chemistry, veterinary science, botany and zoology.

A mere mention of the results of some of the work of the University of Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station will show its intensely practical nature. The station has shown that $4.20 worth of fertilizer may be used on Northeast Missouri rolling prairie lands to bring a return of $14.54. It has shown that clover forage may be fed hogs so that the clover field yields $34.11 an acre with pork at six cents a pound. In its spraying investigations it has increased the yield of apple orchards $125.00 an acre. Through its distribution of hog cholera serum it added as much as $3,500,000 to the wealth of the State in the last four years. These are only a few of the accomplishments of the investigational work of the College of Agriculture and the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Missouri.

Bulletins are Free to Missouri Farmers.

After the work of investigation and experiment comes the work of publication, that the farmers of Missouri may know the latest thought in the solution of their problems. The Agricultural Experiment Station has published 180 bulletins and circulars of information. All publications are sent free to residents of Missouri upon request as long as the supply is available. Address the Agricultural Experiment Station, Columbia, Mo.

University Goes Direct to the Farmer.

In its teaching and demonstration work the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri goes direct to the farmer. Branch short courses in agriculture are held at different places in the State. Lecturers on special agricultural trains spoke last year to more than 100,000 people. Co-operative work is being done by the Experiment Station with 204 farmers, representing nearly every county in the State. Moreover, through county farm advisers, county and State Fair exhibits, dairy extension work, judging live stock and corn at county fairs, orchard demonstrations, and in numerous other ways, the College of Agriculture comes into most intimate touch with the farmers out in the State in its teaching and demonstration work.

Farmers Saved $3,500,000.

By its extensive service work in the distribution of hog cholera serum, the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri saved the farmers of the State $3,500,000 in the last four years, as already mentioned. This calculation makes allowance for the hogs that would have lived without vaccination. The saving was made with two appropriations, one of $10,000 and another of $25,000. The return on the investment was 10,000 per cent. The University of Missouri, through its College of Agriculture, hopes to rid the State of hog cholera.

Seeds Tested Free..

In co-operation with the United States Department of Agriculture, the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri maintains a free seed-testing laboratory. Any farmer or seedsman in the State of Missouri may avail himself of its services without charge. Seeds are tested for weeds. They are also tested for vitality. Thus the dissemination of weed seeds is prevented, and the farmer learns what percentages of his seeds are fresh and viable. In 1912 1,504 samples were tested. Farmers are invited to send seeds to this testing laboratory.

Live Stock Judged at County Fairs.

Last year the College of Agriculture supplied 36 county fairs with expert judges of live stock. These judges were all trained by the animal husbandry department of the College of Agriculture. It required 103 days and the services of 14 men to meet this demand for judges. At these fairs 7,026 animals were examined and placed for prizes. The fairs were attended by 313,600 people.

Judges were also supplied to 56 corn shows in as many counties. These judges passed upon 1,934 samples of grains. The shows were attended by 52,645 people.

The Work Goes On.

Just a few instances of the comprehensive work being done have been mentioned. The Agriculture Experiment Station is now busy with sixty-two well-defined lines of investigation of intensely practical interest to farmers. The work is such as the study of effects of fertilizers on fruit trees and strawberries, investigation of feeding stuffs on the open market, investigation of the cost of producing farm crops, etc. The College of Agriculture is planning constantly for greater service that it may aid every farmer in the State. The college avails itself of every opportunity to be of help to the people in all parts of Missouri.

County Farm Advisers Help to Rid State of Hog Cholera.

To eradicate hog cholera from their counties is one of the campaigns undertaken by the Missouri county farm advisers. In their work they are using serum prepared by the College of Agriculture, University of Missouri, Columbia.

C. M. McWilliams, county farm adviser for Cape Girardeau county, has used more than 3,000 doses, and reports highly satisfactory results. His policy has been to vaccinate no sick animals unless the infection was of recent date. The serum was used only in herds where some of the hogs had begun to die or where the herd had been exposed to the disease. Between 150 and 300 farmers have used this serum in that county.

PARKER HALL, STATE SCHOOL OF MINES AND METALLURGY, ROLLA—CONTAINS LIBRARY, AUDITORIUM AND EXECUTIVE OFFICES—FIREPROOF.

Edward J. Rodekohr began work in Dade county on April 10th. Since then he has vaccinated 710 hogs in 43 different herds. Of the hogs 668 are alive today as a result of the treatment. The number of doses of serum required for the work was 940.

In Johnson county C. M. Long has used about 2,500 doses since beginning work in April. He has vaccinated 1,500 swine. The herds treated ranged in size from 3 to 241 hogs. In nearly every case there was cholera in the herd at the time the work was done, and in almost every case one or two animals so far along that it was useless to vaccinate. Because of the treatment the largest loss reported from any herd was three hogs.

E. W. Rusk, county farm adviser for Audrain county, has been at work since April 1, 1913. Since that time he has vaccinated 681 hogs and reports from the farmers all indicate satisfactory results. The only treated hogs which have died are those which showed marked signs of sickness at the time of vaccination.

E. A. Ikenberry of Jackson county began the work as county farm adviser the summer of 1913. During his first month he vaccinated about 400 hogs, most of them breeding stock.

SCHOOL OF MINES AND METALLURGY—ROLLA.

In 1870 the General Assembly of Missouri, in accepting the donation of land for educational purposes made by the general government, through act of Congress, approved July 2, 1862, established an Agricultural and Mechanical College and a School of Mines and Metallurgy. The School of Mines and Metallurgy was located at Rolla in Phelps county, and was formally opened in November, 1871. The statutes fix the status of the school as one of the colleges of the State University. There are eleven buildings located on the enclosed campus: Mining and metallurgical building; chemical laboratory; museum and geological survey; workshop; storehouse; director's residence; mechanical building; Norwood hall; Parker hall; gymnasium; engineering building; heating and power plant.

The School of Mines and Metallurgy offers four regular courses leading to degrees and several special courses. The former extend four years and are: (1) Mining engineering; (2) civil engineering; (3) chemistry and metallurgy; (4) general science. Special courses are offered in chemistry and assaying, mining, surveying, and electricity. The Geological Bureau has its headquarters at the School of Mines.

The affairs of the school are under the immediate supervision of an executive committee, consisting of three members of the University Board of Curators, selected by that body.

NORMAL SCHOOL, DISTRICT NO. 2—WARRENSBURG.

The Second Normal School District was established by an act of the General Assembly, approved March 20, 1870. The commission appointed by the Governor of the State to locate the school selected Warrensburg, the county seat of Johnson county, April 27, 1871. In consideration of such selection, Warrensburg and Johnson county deeded to the State a tract of land containing sixteen acres for a campus and voted municipal and county bonds to the amount of one hundred and seventy-three thousand dollars, the proceeds from the sale of said bonds to be used in the erection of a normal school building.

The corner stone of the main building, 160 by 80 feet, three stories high, was laid August 16, 1871, and in June, 1872, the first story was completed and ready for occupancy. But the building, as at first projected, was not completed until the summer of 1881. It is built of brick and stone and is an imposing structure.

During the years 1885 and 1886 a wing 66x116 feet was erected south of the center of the main building, and connected with it by a short corridor. This improvement provided greatly increased accommodations for the training department and added six large rooms, two cloak rooms and an assembly room to the normal department. The General Assembly in 1895 made an appropriation of $30,000 for the erection of a science building. This building is 92x122 feet, three stories high, substantially built of native sandstone, and joins the main building by a corridor on the west. It contains four laboratories, several school rooms and the library.

The General Assembly of 1903 made an appropriation for a gymnasium. The Board of Regents erected a thoroughly modern building of the famous Johnson county sandstone. It is the most beautiful building on the campus. It contains a gymnasium especially equipped for women and another for men, occupying an entire floor. Also bowling alley, locker rooms, bathrooms, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. halls, offices and physical testing rooms for physical directors, and rooms for literary societies.

An additional appropriation was made by the Assembly of $22,000 for the erection of a new power house, with a second story, for the manual training department. Five rooms of the building have been equipped and devoted to the use of that department.

The General Assembly in 1907 again came to the aid of the school with an appropriation for a training school building. It is built of native sandstone, is directly south of the main group of buildings and connected by a corridor. This building contains thirty-five rooms, well arranged and well equipped for work. The entire first floor is occupied by the department of drawing and household arts of the normal proper, and the second and third stories by the kindergarten, the elementary school and the high school.

The enrollment of students for the year ending May 25, 1913, was as follows:

Total number of different students attending during the year.....	1,940
Number of students attending training school.....	352

Total number enrolled for year..... 2,292

NORMAL SCHOOL, DISTRICT NO. 3—CAPE GIRARDEAU.

The Missouri State Normal School, Third District, was established by an act of the Legislature approved March 22, 1873. This act created a Board of Regents for the management of the school. After due public notice, bids were received by the Regents for its location, and they determined the location in favor of Cape Girardeau. On the third day of December, 1873, the Board of Regents selected the site for the building and made arrangements for the immediate opening of the school.

The school was opened, with about thirty students attending, in the public school building. In the spring of 1875 the school removed to the normal school building, which had been completed. In 1883 the auditorium of the normal school building was enlarged. In 1895 two wings were added to the building, one on the west and one on the east. The wings were built to furnish suitable halls for the literary societies of the normal school.

This normal school now has a group of six buildings (two dormitories included): Academic hall, completed in January, 1906; manual training hall, completed December, 1907; training hall, completed November, 1903; science hall, completed January, 1903. Academic hall is the main building of the school; contains an auditorium with seating capacity of 1,600; library, including stack rooms and reading rooms, having a total floor space of 98x65 feet; a gymnasium for men and a gymnasium for women; an art hall 92x35 feet; ladies' parlor, four literary society halls, six offices, twenty class rooms. Manual training hall is a completely equipped manual training building. Science hall has six well-equipped laboratories and equipment for cooking and sewing. Training hall is devoted to the elementary school maintained for practical and experimental work in education.

The attendance of the Third District State Normal School for the last twelve years has been as follows: 1899-1900, 329; 1900-1901, 373; 1901-1902, 363; 1902-1903, 368; 1903-1904, 451; 1904-1905, 481; 1905-1906, 631; 1906-1907, 777; 1907-1908, 852; 1908-1909, 894; 1909-1910, 903; 1910-1911, 912; 1911-1912, 1,001; 1912-1913, 1,153.

DR. W. T. CARRINGTON, PRESIDENT STATE NORMAL SCHOOL NO. 4, SPRINGFIELD, AND MAIN BUILDING.

NORMAL SCHOOL, DISTRICT NO. 4—SPRINGFIELD.

This institution was established by an act of the Forty-third General Assembly, approved March 17, 1905. The district is composed of twenty-two counties in Southwest Missouri. The commission appointed to locate the school selected Springfield as the site. The bonus given by the citizens of Springfield consisted of forty acres of land inside the city limits, valued at $40,000, and $25,000 in cash.

It began its work in leased buildings June 11, 1906, and enrolled 543 students in its first term. The total enrollment for the year of forty-eight weeks, beginning September, 1906, was 934; for the next year, 1,087; for the third year, 1,237; for the fourth year, 1,388; for the fifth year, 1,408; for sixth year, 1,724, and for last year, 2,018.

The Forty-fourth General Assembly appropriated $225,000 for buildings. Academic hall, shown in the accompanying picture, was erected at a cost of approximately $225,000. The corner stone was laid August 10, 1907. It was first occupied by the school January 4, 1909. The Forty-sixth General Assembly appropriated $65,000 for auditorium and gymnasium.

These structures are the only fireproof school buildings owned by the State. They are constructed of Missouri marble, finished in hard wood and handsome in architecture, and as complete in heating, ventilation and light as modern science can provide.

This school has had seven commencements, in August of each year, from 1907 to 1913. In that time it has graduated 411 from its diploma course and has had two to take the bachelor's degree. It has graduated 798 from the secondary school course. Academically, the secondary school course is equal to that of a first-class high school, and the full course is equal to that of a junior college. Pedagogically, the secondary course equips one for the successful management of graded and rural schools, and the full course gives complete equipment for supervising and teaching any grade of public school.

NORMAL SCHOOL, DISTRICT NO. 5—MARYVILLE.

By an act of the General Assembly the Normal School of the Fifth district of Missouri was established on the 25th day of March, 1905.

Some weeks later a commission, consisting of C. C. Fogle of Lancaster, Edmund McWilliams of Plattsburg, C. A. Calvird of Clinton, J. W. Cox of Monroe City and J. C. Jones of Columbia, was appointed by the Governor to select a location for the proposed school. This commission, after visiting a number of competing points, reported in favor of Maryville, and announced the tender on the part of Maryville and Nodaway county of 8½ acres of land and $58,672 in cash. Shortly afterward a Board of Regents was appointed for the new school. This Board met in Maryville September 12, 1905, and effected an organization. By an act of the General Assembly of 1907 the sum of $302,000 was appropriated for the erection of a suitable building and the maintaining of a school for the following two years.

The Board of Regents have, from the sum contributed by the citizens of Maryville and Nodaway county, laid the foundation of the magnificent building now completed and purchased additional land, giving to the school a campus of 117 acres.

DR. B. F. ALLEN, PRESIDENT LINCOLN INSTITUTE, JEFFERSON CITY, AND VIEW OF INSTITUTION.

LINCOLN INSTITUTE—JEFFERSON CITY.

Lincoln Institute had its origin in a fund of $6,379, contributed by the 62nd and 65th regiments of the U. S. Colored Infantry when discharged from service January 14, 1866, of which the 62nd gave $5,000. The only condition of the gift was that a school be established in Missouri open to the colored people. The board of trustees, ten in number, was organized June 8th and incorporated June 25, 1866, and the school was opened September 17, 1866. In June, 1877, the main building was completed. It was a substantial three-story brick building, 60x70 feet, located just outside the limits of Jefferson City, the grounds containing 20 acres.

The Legislature of 1879 appropriated $15,000 for the support of the institute, provided $5,000 should be applied to the payment of the indebtedness. This appropriation was contained in the general appropriation bill, and was a grant to a corporation managing a charity. The grant was in violation of the Constitution, and Governor Phelps held the bill until the board of trustees met and unanimously voted to transfer the institute to the State. Governor Phelps immediately approved the bill, thus enabling the trustees to pay off all debts.

The main building was destroyed by fire on August 1, 1894, but was soon replaced by a far more commodious structure, for which the Legislature appropriated $40,000.

The buildings on the grounds are the following: Main institute building, president's home, boys' dormitory and farm cottage. The Forty-third General Assembly appropriated $25,000 for a girls' dormitory.

STATE HOSPITAL NO. 1—FULTON.

State Hospital No. 1 for the Insane is located at Fulton, Callaway county, and was the first institution of the kind in the State, having been established in 1847. It is on a tract of land comprising 544 acres, a short distance from the town of Fulton. Of this tract 160 acres are in cultivation, 30 in orchard and the remainder in pasture, campus, building sites, etc. About seventy of the patients work on the farm, producing much toward the support of the institution. In addition to the hospital buildings proper, there are machine and carpenter shops and a poultry yard, where such of the patients as are capable of labor, in addition to those needed on the farm, are given employment, and greatly benefited thereby. The State property is estimated to be worth $600,000. New buildings, for which $35,000 was appropriated in 1903 and $15,000 in 1907, are now completed and occupied. The institution has a cold storage plant, laundry, bakery, water plant, electric light plant, telephone system and other modern conveniences.

The were 1,003 patients in attendance December 31, 1912. The percentage of recoveries in this institution in 1911-1912 was .236, and the per capita cost was $0.50 for the same period.

The institution has an industrial department, an occupation department and a training school for nurses and attendants. The industrial department manufactures many articles, such as mattresses, brooms, brushes, etc. The occupation department is conducted by an occupation teacher, and many valuable and useful articles are made in this department. The training school for nurses and attendants is under the supervision of a superintendent of nurses, and is affiliated with the General Hospital of Kansas City. The length of training in this training school is one year for attendants, two and a half years for nurses. By the aid of this training course a much better class of attendants and nurses can be secured and retained.

During the years 1911-1912 total number of patients under treatment was 1,791. Of that number 216 died and 333 were discharged as restored, improved and stationary. There were remaining January 1, 1913, 1,234 (in hospital and on parole). Since the establishment of the institution to January 1, 1913, the admissions aggregate 6,651. Of that number 2,578 have been discharged as recovered, 621 as improved, 573 as unimproved, 8 as not insane, and 1,605 died. One thousand two hundred forty-nine patients on June 1, 1913. Annual per capita cost per patient, including clothing, $173.34.

STATE HOSPITAL NO. 4—FARMINGTON.

This hospital was established and a commission appointed for its location at the session of the General Assembly of 1899. Three hundred twenty-six acres of land were purchased near Farmington, the State paying $13,889.90 and the citizens paying $6,110.10 for same. Subsequently 65 acres at $100.00 per acre were purchased, making a total of 391 acres.

The original appropriation for hospital buildings was $150,000. From time to time other appropriations have been made by the Legislature, until now Hospital No. 4 has a large number of beautiful, modern and up-to-date buildings, located in the foothills of the Ozarks, with beautiful scenery, fine water, pure air and perfect hygienic surroundings. The buildings at present consist of the administration building; superintendent's residence; Folk building for nurses, attendants and amusements; the Governor's cottage row, consisting of the Stephens, Dockery, Hadley and Major cottages; also the Berry, Hall and Cayce cottages. There is also a large hospital building, the Harrison, accommodating 150 patients; a general dining room, kitchen, storeroom, ice plant, vegetable room, power house, laundry, hay barn and stock barn. There is a peach and apple orchard consisting of 15 acres, with a small grape vineyard. There are three deep wells affording an inexhaustible supply of pure, cool water, and a steel tank of 50,000 gallons capacity.

A great deal of work and considerable money have been expended on the driveways and walks, all of which are in a beautiful and in most excellent condition.

Hospital No. 4 was opened for patients January 1, 1903, and has since made a continuous growth, until today it is one of the prettiest and most substantial of all our State institutions. Since the opening of the hospital there have been admitted 1,084 male patients; 918 female patients; total, 2,002. Of all these admitted, 532 have recovered, 201 have improved, 222 have not improved, 438 have died, 4 were not insane, and 11 have been transferred to other institutions. On August 1, 1913, there were present 572 patients; on parole 22 patients, making a total on the life register of 594. The total number of recoveries based on the total number of cases admitted up to August 1, 1913, has been 26.5 per cent. The per capita cost of maintenance for the year ending August 1, 1913, was $169.50. The daily per capita cost for the year ending August 1, 1913, was 46 cents plus.

STATE CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS HOME—HIGGINSVILLE.

This institution originated in the earnest efforts of a number of charitable men and women of Missouri, who began the commendable work of providing a home for the old, infirm and dependent Confederate soldiers, their wives, widows and orphans. A large and excellent tract of land containing 362 acres was purchased near Higginsville, and a number of frame cottages, a church building and a large and commodious two-story brick structure erected thereon. The land and buildings cost about $68,000.00. By act of the General Assembly of 1897 the home was declared to be one of the eleemosynary institutions of the State, and the commonwealth assumed the support of the institution for twenty years. The then executive committee of the home conveyed the property to the State. The property now consists of the original two-story main building containing sixteen large rooms and a large dormitory and dining room, with a seating capacity of 110, also commodious kitchen and laundry, together with ample lavatories, closets and bathrooms. Hospital No. 1, 20 rooms, dormitory, dining room, kitchen and bathrooms. Hospital No. 2, 10 rooms, 4 dormitories, bathrooms and closets. New dormitory, 4 large rooms, bath and toilet and closets; sleeping capacity of 40 people. McLure flats, 10 rooms, closets and bathrooms; capacity of 32 people. Twenty cottages, chapel, power house, ice plant and cold storage.

STATE FEDERAL SOLDIERS HOME—ST. JAMES.

This institution owes its origin to the efforts of the Women's Relief Corps and the G. A. R.'s, who began the commendable work of providing a home for the old and dependent Federal soldiers and their wives.

A Federal Soldiers Home Association was incorporated in 1894 with headquarters in St. Louis. The people of St. James, aided by friends in other parts of the State, purchased and donated to the association the James mansion, situated on a tract of 60 acres of land near St. James, in Phelps county, which originally cost $70,000. The association expended some $7,000 in repairs and improvements, and on June 25, 1897, conveyed the property for $1.00 consideration to the State of Missouri for a State Soldiers Home. The Thirty-ninth General Assembly appropriated $10,000 for support. The Forty-first General Assembly appropriated $22,000 for dormitory and hospital, which were erected. The Forty-third General Assembly appropriated $3,000 for a commissary building and the further sum of $15,000 for a dormitory building, both having been in use since May 1, 1906. The Forty-fourth General Assembly appropriated $10,500 for a steam heating plant, which was erected and has been in use since December, 1907, and the further sum of $1,300 for enlarging laundry, and same was used. The property is valued at $100,500. There was also an appropriation of $900.00 for sidewalks and gradings, which completes the walk from the home to the town of St. James. Its management is vested in a board of five trustees. Each member receives $100.00 a year and traveling expenses, as for other State institutions.

There are now in the home 294 inmates. During the last biennial period 49 of the inmates died. The cost of support per capita per diem was 58½ cents.

RULES FOR ADMISSION OF INMATES TO THE HOME.

Application must be made upon the forms prescribed, and contain the information and evidence called for, and be accompanied by both pension certificate (if pensioner) and discharge of soldier, sailor or nurse—evidence of honorable discharge from service being essential basis of the application, and if ever an inmate of any other soldiers home, an honorable discharge therefrom must be sent. When application and evidence are received by the superintendent, he causes same to be recorded and forwarded to the president of the Board, by whom final action is taken, and the papers sent for file in the superintendent's office, whence notice is sent to applicant as soon as there is room for his reception. These blanks can be had from any trustee or officer of the home.

The following general information may be found useful:

1. Letters of inquiry on behalf of an intended applicant should state name, service and postoffice address before asking the blanks.

2. All outlay for railroad tickets and other expenses of persons coming to the home must be borne by themselves or others for them. County courts are authorized by law to incur this expense.

3. Persons afflicted by incurable malady, or infectious diseases, or any grade of insanity, are not admissible, though otherwise eligible. If such are sent, they will be returned at once at cost of those sending them.

4. No furniture of any sort should be brought to the home. But wearing apparel, chair cushions, head rests, work basket, or other small articles of room ornament as applicant may have, may be brought; also quilt, spread, table cover, towels and napkins.

5. Neither children or other dependent relatives of the soldier are eligible to this home—nor are wives or widows of soldiers under 50 or widow under 60 years of age.

6. Every applicant must pass a physical examination by his local physician and be examined and passed by the home surgeon upon arrival before admission. Two creditable persons acquainted with applicant's circumstances must be present and make oath thereto with him before a magistrate; lastly, the applicant must have the recommendation of either a post commander, a corps president, trustee of the home board or judge of county or probate court.

MISSOURI SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF—FULTON.

The Missouri School for the Deaf was established in 1851, an act of the Legislature providing for the transfer of forty acres of land and the buildings thereon from the State Lunatic Asylum, to be dedicated to this school. The school was opened November 5, 1851, with a single pupil from St. Louis. By July 16, 1852, the attendance was 17, which number increased the second year to 54. In 1854 an additional tract of eighteen acres was purchased and a building erected at a cost of $28,000.

In 1866 an appropriation was made for a workshop, and in 1879 a printing press was added. The school now comprises a group of twelve substantial buildings, with school-house on the west and trades building on the east. The main buildings have a frontage of 225 feet and are four stories high. The school building contains 33 rooms, with a chapel and gallery. The buildings, which were burned in 1888, were well insured, and were speedily rebuilt, and are practically new fireproof buildings, admirably adapted for the uses intended. An additional school building was completed in November, 1904, while a cottage for small pupils, a wagon shop and other buildings were erected during the 1907 and 1908 biennial period.

One of the main group of buildings, known as the "East building," originally the school building, but in recent years the principal dormitory for boys, was condemned in 1907 as unsafe. In its place has been erected a substantial, fireproof and well-arranged dormitory at a cost of $50,000. A new dairy barn, supplied with the most modern and sanitary equipment, was built during the summer of 1911.

The trades taught include cooking, baking, cabinet making, tailoring, printing, shoe-making, harness making, blacksmithing, barbering, gardening, sewing and dressmaking. The number of pupils December 31, 1912, was 300.

The management is vested in a Board of Managers, composed of five members, appointed as are the boards of the other eleemosynary institutions of the State. The superintendent and teachers are appointed by the Board of Managers.

ADMISSION OF PUPILS.

1. All children in the State between the ages of eight and twenty-one, and too deaf to be instructed in the common schools, are entitled to admission into this school free of charge for board and tuition; provided, no one shall be admitted who is feeble-minded, or afflicted with sore eyes, or with a contagious or offensive disease, or who, for any reason, is unable to attend to the ordinary duties of school.

2. Attention is called to the fact that this is not an asylum for the defective, nor a home for the friendless, nor a hospital for the diseased. It is simply a part of the public school system of the State—a school where deaf children receive an education as a matter of right, not as a matter of charity.

3. Parents or guardians wishing to have a child admitted should apply to the superintendent, who will send desired information concerning the school and certain blanks that must be filled out and returned before the child can be received.

4. The annual session begins on the second Wednesday in September and ends on the first Wednesday in June. Pupils should be brought to the institution at the opening of school and remain until the close. Only in extreme cases will pupils be permitted to enter after school has begun or leave before the end of the term.

MISSOURI SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND—ST. LOUIS.

The Missouri School for the Blind was founded in 1851 by Mr. Eli W. Whelan, opening with three blind pupils as a private charitable enterprise. It became, a few years later, a State institution, and has furnished instruction to 1,230 blind children. It is a public school for children of defective sight between the ages of six and twenty. Courses of study are from the kindergarten to the high school. An eight-year course in piano and pipe organ, composition and harmony, and an industrial department for both sexes. The boys are taught broom making, chair caning, wirework, wood sloyd and piano tuning. The girls are taught knitting, sewing, basket making and cooking. The school is located at Spring and Magnolia avenues, opposite Tower Grove park, and when completed will be one of the best institutions in the country for the education of blind children. The building is a plain, fireproof, two-story structure, especially adapted for its purpose. When the girls' wing is completed ample room will be afforded for the music department. The Forty-sixth General Assembly made an appropriation of $32,500 for the erection of one wing of the building, which was completed January 1, 1912.

MISSOURI COLONY FOR THE FEEBLE-MINDED AND EPILEPTIC— MARSHALL.

This institution was established by an act of the Legislature approved May 24, 1899, and was located at Marshall. It was declared in the act of establishment to be for "the humane, curative, scientific and economical treatment of the feeble-minded and epileptic." The law provided that the institution should be built on the cottage or village plan, and should contain cottages for domiciliary use, an infirmary, chapel, schoolhouse and workshop. The management is vested in five managers, two of whom shall be women, and but two of the others to be of the controlling political party. The term of office is four years, two to be first appointed for two years, three for four years and vacancies to be filled every two years thereafter. Compensation, $100 a year and traveling expenses. The officers of the institution are superintendent, treasurer, steward and matron. The Legislature of 1899 appropriated $30,000, and that of 1901 $150,000. Seven cottages have been erected, and the other buildings provided for by law.

MISSOURI STATE SANATORIUM—MT. VERNON.

Dr. James Stewart of Warren county introduced in the House of Representatives of the Forty-third General Assembly a bill, which became a law, providing for the establishment, at some place in the State, of an institution for the treatment of tuberculosis in its earlier stages. Fifty thousand dollars was appropriated for establishing this institution, and the act provided for the Board to select location and cause the erection of suitable buildings.

During the fall of 1905 the Board, after inspecting many available sites, decided on one of 200 acres offered by the citizens of Mt. Vernon, Lawrence county, Missouri. This beautiful little village is on the crest of the Ozarks, the climate of which already has considerable of a reputation for the curing of tuberculosis. A suitable building was erected and turned over to the Board of Managers in the spring of 1907. The Forty-fourth General Assembly appropriated $135,000 for other buildings, equipment and maintenance, and $164,250 was appropriated by the Forty-fifth General Assembly. The Forty-sixth General Assembly appropriated $170,000 and the Forty-seventh $153,000.

Six permanent buildings are completed and in use. Three of these are for patients. Each is built to accommodate 34 patients. The power house contains two 175-horsepower boilers and an engine and dynamo. All the buildings are heated and lighted from this machinery. The medical wing is used for administrative quarters.

All of the permanent buildings are constructed of red brick.

The sanatorium opened August 1, 1907, for the reception of patients, since which time there have been 1,049 patients treated. At present there are 150 patients in the sanatorium.

The sanatorium is situated at Mt. Vernon, the county seat of Lawrence county. The Frisco has a branch line from Greenfield to Aurora. This passes through Mt. Vernon. The Missouri Pacific passes through Hoberg, two and one-half miles distant.

The results of treatment have been far more successful than even the most sanguine supporters had expected. In spite of the fact that there has been a good per cent of the patients in the past incipient stage, over 90 per cent of all patients have made improvement while in the sanatorium. Over 99 per cent of the cases that were received in anywhere near the incipient stage have done well.

In addition to caring for the patients who are fortunate enough to get into the sanatorium, the medical staff attempts to do as much good in an educational way as is possible.

RULES OF ADMISSION.

The law provides for two classes of patients, namely, free patients and private patients.

The proper method of applying in each case is as follows:

A free patient makes an affidavit to the clerk of the court of the county in which he resides, or if in the city of St. Louis, to the city auditor, to the effect that he desires admission to the Missouri State Sanatorium, and that he is unable to pay for his support and treatment while there.

The court, after investigation, and finding the applicant to be worthy of the charity, recommends his admission to the sanatorium.

Private patients apply directly to the sanatorium. A list is kept of each class of applicants. The names are placed on this list in the order of their receipt.

When a vacancy occurs the person whose name appears first on the list of free patients is referred to an examining physician for examination. If there are no applications from free patients, the one whose name appears first on the list of private patients is referred to an examiner.

The cases that are found to be in the incipient stage are sent to the sanatorium.

The county transports the free patients. Only those who have been residents of Missouri for at least one year can be taken as patients to the sanatorium.

STATE PENITENTIARY—JEFFERSON CITY.

The erection of a State penitentiary "house" at Jefferson City was authorized by an act of the General Assembly, approved January 16, 1833, appropriating $25,000 for the cost of erection, and providing for its completion by October 1, 1834. The contractor failing to complete it in the given time, the Legislature of 1835 passed a special resolution authorizing James Dunica, the commissioner, to complete the stonework under contract with J. A. Crump and E. Finley. The prison inspection board was created by an act approved March 18, 1835. The same act provided for a warden to be chosen by a joint vote of the General Assembly. The first prisoner was received March 8, 1836, and the total number of prisoners for that year was eighteen. From the opening until January 1, 1913, 37,797 prisoners have been received. The greatest number imprisoned at any one time was 2,507. On April 1, 1911, there were 2,355 male and 74 female convicts in the Missouri Penitentiary. The total net earnings of the penitentiary for the biennial period ending December 31, 1912, were $710,704.62. The cost of food for the same period was $237,368.71; fuel, $87,980.84; clothing, $47,416.91; salaries, $263,649.03; cost of water, hospital, repairs and all other items of expense, $137,445.13, a total expenditure of $773,860.62, making the cost in excess of earnings $63,156.00. The State's property at the penitentiary was appraised on January 3, 1913, at $1,875,514.85.

The penitentiary is under the control and direction of three inspectors, one warden, a deputy warden, physician, chief clerk, chaplain and matron, with such guards and assistants as may be necessary.

INSPECTORS.

The State Treasurer, State Auditor and Attorney-General are ex officio inspectors at the penitentiary. Compensation each, $250 per annum. Prison inspection monthly.

MISSOURI TRAINING SCHOOL FOR BOYS—BOONVILLE.

The school was created by the act approved March 30, 1887, and was located near the city of Boonville by a commission composed of Governor John S. Marmaduke, Attorney-General B. G. Boone and Register of Lands Robert McCulloch. The main building was erected by contract under the supervision of this commission, and was opened for the reception of boys on the first of January, 1889.

The tract of land originally purchased as a site for the institution contained one hundred and eighty-one acres. The Legislature of 1897 appropriated seven thousand dollars, with which one hundred sixty-nine acres lying east of and adjoining the original tract were purchased. A small tract containing eight acres south of the main building was also bought and paid for out of the proceeds of the brickyard, and this tract is now used as a playground and roadway. The Legislature of 1905 appropriated twelve thousand dollars to buy additional land. With this money the Board purchased one hundred and forty-two acres adjoining the school property on the south. This tract lies partly within the limits of the city of Boonville, and was the only available land which could be secured by the school. The State now owns five hundred acres of land. There are located upon this land twenty-four substantial buildings. All of them, except the main building, were constructed by the boys. There is also a brick dwelling house on the land recently purchased.

This institution has graded schools up to eighth grade.

STATE INDUSTRIAL HOME FOR GIRLS—CHILLICOTHE.

The State Industrial Home for Girls was established by an act of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly, approved March 30, 1887. The sum of $50,000 was appropriated for the building. A commission, composed of the Governor, Attorney-General and Register of Lands, was appointed to locate the home, and the commissioners were authorized to receive such donations in money, land or building material as might be tendered to secure the location. On July 28, 1887, the commissioners accepted a donation of $5,000, tendered by the citizens of Chillicothe, through the Chillicothe Board of Trade, and located the institution on its present site in Chillicothe. Under the provisions of the act establishing the institution, the management is on the cottage plan. On June 15, 1888, the wall of the basement of the first cottage being completed, the corner stone was laid; this cottage is known as "Marmaduke Cottage." Three more cottages have since been added, and they are known as "Missouri Cottage," "Slack Cottage" and "Folk Cottage." Besides these buildings several others have been erected—a school building and chapel combined, a large boiler house of sufficient capacity to furnish steam heat and power for all buildings, and a new administration building at a cost of $15,000, a beautiful plot of ground immediately fronting the three cottages having been purchased for this building. Nine hundred fifty-four girls have entered the institution; 725 have left it for various reasons, viz: good behavior, expiration of time, etc., and 229 are at present in the home.

The general supervision and government of the Industrial Home for Girls is vested in a board of control of five members, appointed by the Governor for a term of six years. Members of the Board receive their expenses and $100 per year. Organization of the Board takes place in March of each odd-numbered year, as per Revised Statutes.

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The Democratic National Convention assembled at Baltimore, Md., June 25, 1912, and was called to order at 12:21 p. m. by the Hon. Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic National Committee. Judge Alton B. Parker of New York was temporary chairman and Ollie James of Kentucky was permanent chairman. The rule of the Democratic conventions called for a two-third vote of the delegates to nominate the candidates for President and Vice-President, and not a plurality or majority vote. This rule complicates the choice of candidates and makes it comparatively easy for the convention to fall into a deadlock. The test of strength was mainly between Hon. Champ Clark of Missouri and Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey. Mr. Clark received plurality of votes cast on twenty-nine ballots, his vote running from 440½ on first ballot to 556 on tenth ballot, and had the convention been governed by a plurality or majority vote, the Hon. Champ Clark of Missouri would have received the nomination on that ballot. From the tenth ballot on Governor Wilson gained in votes, and was finally nominated by vote of 990 on the forty-sixth ballot, the Missouri delegation voting for Mr. Clark to the last ballot. Senator Stone immediately moved that the nomination be made unanimous by acclamation. This was carried with cheers, and at 3:33 o'clock the nomination of Governor Wilson was announced amid great uproar. Thomas R. Marshall was unanimously nominated for Vice-President, and after the reading of the platform the convention adjourned.

THE PLATFORM.

(Adopted at Baltimore, Md., July 2, 1912.)

We, the representatives of the Democratic party of the United States, in National Convention assembled, reaffirm our devotion to the principles of Democratic government formulated by Thomas Jefferson and enforced by a long and illustrious line of Democratic Presidents.

We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the Federal Government under the Constitution has no right or power to impose or collect tariff duties, except for the purpose of revenue, and we demand that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessities of government honestly and economically administered.

The high Republican tariff is the principal cause of the unequal distribution of wealth; it is a system of taxation which makes the rich richer and the poor poorer; under its operations the American farmer and laboring man are the chief sufferers; it raises the cost of the necessities of life to them but does not protect their product or wages. The farmer sells largely in free markets and buys almost entirely in the protected markets. In the most highly protected industries, such as cotton and wool, steel and iron, the wages of the laborers are the lowest paid in any of our industries. We denounce the Republican pretense on that subject and assert that American wages are established by competitive conditions and not by the tariff.

Downward Revision of Duties.

We favor the immediate downward revision of the existing high and in many cases prohibitive tariff duties, insisting that material reductions be speedily made upon the necessities of life. Articles entering into competition with trust-controlled products and articles of American manufacture which are sold abroad more cheaply than at home should be put upon the free list.

We recognize that our system of tariff taxation is intimately connected with the business of the country, and we favor the ultimate attainment of the principles we advocate by legislation that will not injure or destroy legitimate industry.

We denounce the action of President Taft in vetoing the bills to reduce the tariff in the cotton, woolen, metals and chemical schedules and the farmers' free list bill, all of which were designed to give immediate relief to the masses from the exactions of the trusts.

The Republican party, while promising tariff revision, has shown by its tariff legislation that such revision is not to be in the people's interest; and having been faithless to its pledges of 1908, it should no longer enjoy the confidence of the nation. We appeal to the American people to support us in our demand for a tariff for revenue only.

High Cost of Living.

The high cost of living is a serious problem in every American home. The Republican party in its platform attempts to escape from responsibility for present conditions by denying that they are due to a protective tariff. We take issue with them on this subject, and charge that excessive prices result in a large measure from the high tariff laws enacted and maintained by the Republican party and from trusts and commercial conspiracies fostered and encouraged by such laws, and we assert that no substantial relief can be secured for the people until import duties on the necessities of life are materially reduced and these criminal conspiracies broken up.

Anti-Trust Law.

A private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. We therefore favor the vigorous enforcement of the criminal as well as the civil law against trusts and trust officials, and demand the enactment of such additional legislation as may be necessary to make it impossible for a private monopoly to exist in the United States.

We favor the declaration by law of the conditions upon which corporations shall be permitted to engage in interstate trade, including among others the prevention of holding companies, of interlocking directors, of stock watering, of discrimination in price, and the control by any one corporation of so large a proportion of any industry as to make it a menace to competitive conditions.

We condemn the action of the Republican administration in compromising with the Standard Oil Company and the tobacco trust, and its failure to invoke the criminal provisions of the anti-trust law against the officers of those corporations after the court had declared that from the undisputed facts in the record they had violated the criminal provisions of the law.

We regret that the Sherman anti-trust law has received a judicial construction depriving it of much of its efficacy, and we favor the enactment of legislation which will restore to the statute the strength of which it has been deprived by such interpretation.

Rights of the States.

We believe in the preservation and maintenance in their full strength and integrity of the three co-ordinate branches of the Federal Government—the executive, the legislative and the judicial—each keeping within its own bounds and not encroaching upon the just powers of either of the others.

Believing that the most efficient results under our system of government are to be attained by the full exercise by the states of their reserved sovereign powers, we denounce as usurpation the efforts of our opponents to deprive the states of any of the rights reserved to them, and to enlarge and magnify by indirection the powers of the Federal Government.

We insist upon the full exercise of all the powers of the government, both state and national, to protect the people from injustice at the hands of those who seek to make the government a private asset in business. There is no twilight zone between the nation and the state in which exploiting interests can take refuge from both. It is as necessary that the Federal Government shall exercise the powers reserved to them, but we insist that federal remedies for the regulation of interstate commerce and for the prevention of private monopoly shall be added to and not substituted for state remedies.

Income Tax and Popular Election of Senators.

We congratulate the country upon the triumph of two important reforms demanded in the last national platform, namely, the amendment of the Federal Constitution authorizing an income tax and the amendment providing for the popular election of senators, and we call upon the people of all the states to rally to the support of the pending propositions and secure their ratification.

We note with gratification the unanimous sentiment in favor of publicity, before the election, of campaign contributions, a measure demanded in our national platform of 1908, and at that time opposed by the Republican party, and we commend the Democratic House of Representatives for extending the doctrine of publicity to recommendations, verbal and written, upon which presidential appointments are made, to the ownership and control of newspapers and to the expenditures made by and in behalf of those who aspire to presidential nominations, and we point for additional justification for this legislation to the enormous expenditures of money in behalf of the President and his predecessor in the recent contest for the Republican nomination for President.

Presidential Primaries.

The movement toward more popular government should be promoted through legislation in each state which will permit the expression of the preference of the electors for national candidates at presidential primaries.

We direct that the National Committee incorporate in the call for the next nominating convention a requirement that all expressions of preference for presidential candidates shall be given and the selection of delegates and alternates be made through a primary election conducted by the party organization in each state where such expression and election are not provided for by state law. Committeemen who are hereafter to constitute the membership of the Democratic National Committee and whose election is not provided for by law shall be chosen in each state at such primary elections, and the service and authority of committeemen, however chosen, shall begin immediately upon the receipt of their credentials respectively.

Campaign Contributions.

We pledge the Democratic party to the enactment of a law prohibiting any corporation from contributing to a campaign fund and any individual from contributing any amount above a reasonable maximum.

Term of President.

We favor a single presidential term, and to that end urge the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution making the President of the United States ineligible for re-election, and we pledge the candidate of this convention to this principle.

Democratic Congress.

At this time, when the Republican party, after a generation of unlimited power in its control of the Federal Government, is rent into factions, it is opportune to point to the record of accomplishment of the Democratic House of Representatives in the Sixty-second Congress. We indorse its action and we challenge comparison of its record with that of any Congress which has been controlled by our opponents.

We call the attention of the patriotic citizens of our country to its record of efficiency, economy and constructive legislation.

It has, among other achievements, revised the rules of the House of Representatives so as to give to the representatives of the American people freedom of speech and of action in advocating, proposing and perfecting remedial legislation.

It has passed bills for the relief of the people and the development of our country; it has endeavored to revise the tariff taxes downward in the interest of the consuming masses and thus reduce the high cost of living.

It has proposed an amendment to the Federal Constitution providing for the election of United States Senators by the direct vote of the people.

It has secured the admission of Arizona and New Mexico as two sovereign states.

It has required the publicity of campaign expenses both before and after election and fixed a limit upon the election expenses of United States Senators and Representatives.

It has also passed a bill to prevent the abuse of the writ of injunction.

It has passed a law establishing an eight-hour day for workmen on all national public work.

It has passed a resolution which forced the President to take immediate steps to abrogate the Russian treaty.

And it has passed the great supply bills which lessen waste and extravagance and which reduce the annual expenses of the government by many millions of dollars.

We approve the measure reported by the Democratic leaders in the House of Representatives for the creation of a council of national defense which will determine a definite naval program with a view to increased efficiency and economy. The party that proclaimed and has always enforced the Monroe Doctrine and was sponsor for the new navy will continue faithfully to observe the constitutional requirements to provide and maintain an adequate and well-proportioned navy sufficient to defend American policies, protect our citizens and uphold the honor and dignity of the nation.

Republican Extravagance.

We denounce the profligate waste of the money wrung from the people by oppressive taxation through the lavish appropriations of recent Republican Congresses, which have kept taxes high and reduced the purchasing power of the people's toil. We demand a return to that simplicity and economy which befits a democratic government and a reduction in the number of useless offices, the salaries of which drain the substance of the people.

Railroads, Express Companies, Telegraph and Telephone Lines.

We favor the efficient supervision and rate regulation of railroads, express companies, telegraph and telephone lines engaged in interstate commerce. To this end we recommend the valuation of railroads, express companies, telegraph and telephone lines by the Interstate Commerce Commission, such valuation to take into consideration the physical value of the property, the original cost, the cost of reproduction, and any element of value that will render the valuation fair and just.

We favor such legislation as will effectually prohibit the railroads, express, telegraph and telephone companies from engaging in business which bring them into competition with their shippers or patrons; also legislation preventing the overissue of stocks and bonds by interstate railroads, express companies, telegraph and telephone lines, and legislation which will assure such reduction in transportation rates as conditions will permit, care being taken to avoid reduction that would compel a reduction of wages, prevent adequate service, or do injustice to legitimate investments.

Banking Legislation.

We oppose the so-called Aldrich bill or the establishment of a central bank, and we believe the people of the country will be largely freed from panics and consequent unemployment and business depression by such a systematic revision of our banking laws as will render temporary relief in localities where such relief is needed, with protection from control or dominion by what is known as the money trust.

Banks exist for the accommodation of the public and not for the control of business. All legislation on the subject of banking and currency should have for its purpose the securing of these accommodations on terms of absolute security to the public and of complete protection from the misuse of the power that wealth gives to those who possess it.

We condemn the present methods of depositing government funds in a few favored banks, largely situated in or controlled by Wall street, in return for political favors, and we pledge our party to provide by law for their deposit by competitive bidding in the banking institutions of the country, national and state, without discrimination as to locality, upon approved securities and subject to call by the government.

Rural Credits.

Of equal importance with the question of currency reform is the question of rural credits or agricultural finance. Therefore we recommend that an investigation of agricultural credit societies in foreign countries be made, so that it may be ascertained whether a system of rural credits may be devised suitable to conditions in the United States; and we also favor legislation permitting national banks to loan a reasonable proportion of their funds on real estate security.

We recognize the value of vocational education and urge federal appropriations for such training and extension teaching in agriculture in co-operation with the several states.

Waterways.

We renew the declaration in our last platform relating to the conservation of our natural resources and the development of our waterways. The present devastation of the Lower Mississippi Valley accentuates the movement for the regulation of river flow by additional bank and levee protection below, and the diversion, storage and control of the flood waters above, and their utilization for beneficial purposes in the reclamation of arid and swamp lands and the development of water power, instead of permitting the floods to continue, as heretofore, agents of destruction.

We hold that the control of the Mississippi river is a national problem. The preservation of the depth of its water for the purpose of navigation, the building of levees to maintain the integrity of its channel and the prevention of the overflow of the land and its consequent devastation, resulting in the interruption of interstate commerce, the disorganization of the mail service and the enormous loss of life and property, impose an obligation which alone can be discharged by the general government.

To maintain an adequate depth of water the entire year and thereby encourage water transportation is a consummation worthy of legislative attention and presents an issue national in its character. It calls for prompt action on the part of Congress, and the Democratic party pledges itself to the enactment of legislation leading to that end.

We favor the co-operation of the United States and the respective states in plans for the comprehensive treatment of all waterways with a view of co-ordinating plans for channel improvement with plans of drainage of swamp and overflowed lands, and to this end we favor the appropriation by the Federal Government of sufficient funds to make surveys of such lands, to develop plans for draining of the same and to supervise the work of construction.

We favor the adoption of a liberal and comprehensive plan for the development and improvement of our inland waterways with economy and efficiency, so as to permit their navigation by vessels of standard draught.

Post Roads.

We favor national aid to state and local authorities in the construction and maintenance of post roads.

Rights of Labor.

We repeat our declaration of the platform of 1908, as follows:

"The courts of justice are the bulwarks of our liberties and we yield to none in our purpose to maintain their dignity. Our party has given to the bench a long line of distinguished justices who have added to the respect and confidence in which this department must be jealously maintained. We resent the attempt of the Republican party to raise a false issue respecting the judiciary. It is an unjust reflection upon a great body of our citizens to assume that they lack respect for the courts.

"It is the function of the courts to interpret the laws which the people enact, and if the laws appear to work economic, social or political injustice, it is our duty to change them. The only basis upon which the integrity of our courts can stand is that of unswerving justice and protection of life, personal liberty and property. As judicial processes may be abused, we should guard them against abuse.

"Experience has proved the necessity of a modification of the present law relating to injunction, and we reiterate the pledges of our platforms of 1896 and 1904 in favor of a measure which passed the United States Senate in 1896, relating to contempt in federal courts and providing for trial by jury in cases of indirect contempt.

"Questions of judicial practice have arisen, especially in connection with industrial disputes. We believe that the parties to all judicial proceedings should be treated with rigid impartiality, and that injunctions should not be issued in any case in which an injunction would not issue if no industrial dispute were involved.

"The expanding organization of industry makes it essential that there should be no abridgment of the right of the wage-earners and producers to organize for the protection of wages and the improvement of labor conditions, to the end that such labor organizations and their members should not be regarded as illegal combinations in restraint of trade.

"We pledge the Democratic party to the enactment of a law creating a Department of Labor represented separately in the President's Cabinet, in which department shall be included the subject of mines and mining."

We pledge the Democratic party, so far as the federal jurisdiction extends, to an employee's compensation law providing adequate indemnity for injury to body or loss of life.

Conservation.

We believe in the conservation and the development, for the use of all the people, of the natural resources of the country. Our forests, our sources of water supply, our arable and our mineral lands, our navigable streams and all the other material resources with which our country has been so lavishly endowed, constitute the foundation of our national wealth. Such additional legislation as may be necessary to prevent their being wasted or absorbed by special or privileged interests should be enacted and the policy of their conservation should be rigidly adhered to.

The public domain should be administered and disposed of with due regard to the general welfare. Reservations should be limited to the purposes which they purport to serve and not extended to include land wholly unsuited therefor. The unnecessary withdrawal from sale and settlement of enormous tracts of public land, upon which tree growth never existed and cannot be promoted, tends only to retard development, create discontent and bring reproach upon the policy of conservation.

The public land laws should be administered in a spirit of the broadest liberality toward the settler exhibiting a bona fide purpose to comply therewith, to the end that the invitation of this government to the landless should be as attractive as possible; and the plain provisions of the forest reserve act, permitting homestead entries to be made within the national forests, should not be nullified by administrative regulations which amount to a withdrawal of great areas of the same from settlement.

Immediate action should be taken by Congress to make available the vast and valuable coal deposits of Alaska under conditions that will be a perfect guaranty against their falling into the hands of monopolizing corporations, associations or interests.

Mines and Miners.

We rejoice in the inheritance of mineral resources unequalled in extent, variety or value, and in the development of a mining industry unequalled in its magnitude and importance. We honor the men who, in their hazardous toil underground, daily risk their lives in extracting and preparing for our use the products of the mine, so essential to the industries, the commerce and the comfort of the people of this country. And we pledge ourselves to the extension of the work of the Bureau of Mines in every way appropriate for national legislation, with a view of safeguarding the lives of the miners, lessening the waste of essential resources and promoting the economic development of mining, which, along with agriculture, must in the future, even more than in the past, serve as the very foundation of our national prosperity and welfare and our international commerce.

Agriculture.

We believe in encouraging the development of a modern system of agriculture and a systematic effort to improve the conditions of trade in farm products, so as to benefit both the consumers and producers. And as an efficient means to this end we favor the enactment by Congress of legislation that will suppress the pernicious practice of gambling in agricultural products by organized exchanges or others.

Merchant Marine.

We believe in fostering, by constitutional regulation of commerce, the growth of a merchant marine which shall develop and strengthen the commercial ties which bind us to our sister republics of the South, but without imposing additional burdens upon the people and without bounties or subsidies from the public treasury.

We urge upon Congress the speedy enactment of laws for the greater security of life and property at sea, and we favor the repeal of all laws, and the abrogation of so much of our treaties with other nations, as provide for the arrest and imprisonment of seamen charged with desertion, or with violation of their contract of service.

Such laws and treaties are un-American and violate the spirit, if not the letter, of the Constitution of the United States.

We favor the exemption from tolls of American ships engaged in coastwise trade passing through the Panama canal.

We also favor legislation forbidding the use of the Panama canal by ships owned or controlled by railroad carriers engaged in transportation competitive with the canal.

Pure Food and Public Health.

We reaffirm our previous declarations advocating the union and strengthening of the various governmental agencies relating to pure foods, quarantine, vital statistics and human health. Thus united and administered without partiality to or discrimination against any school of medicine or system of healing, they would constitute a single health service, not subordinated to any commercial or financial interests, but devoted exclusively to the conservation of human life and efficiency. Moreover, this health service should co-operate with the health agencies of our various states and cities, without interference with their prerogatives or with the freedom of individuals to employ such medical or hygienic aid as they may see fit.

Civil Service Law.

The law pertaining to the civil service should be honestly and rigidly enforced, to the end that merit and ability should be the standard of appointment and promotion rather than service rendered to a political party; and we favor a reorganization of the civil service, with adequate compensation, commensurate with the class of work performed, for all officers and employees; we also favor the extension to all classes of civil service employees of the benefits of the provisions of the employers' liability law; we also recognize the right of direct petition to Congress by employees for the redress of grievances.

Law Reform.

We recognize the urgent need of reform in the administration of civil and criminal law in the United States, and we recommend the enactment of such legislation and the promotion of such measures as will rid the present legal system of the delays, expense and uncertainties incident to the system as now administered.

The Philippines.

We reaffirm the position thrice announced by the Democracy in National Convention assembled against a policy of imperialism and colonial exploitation in the Philippines or elsewhere. We condemn the experiment in imperialism as an inexcusable blunder which has involved us in enormous expense, brought us weakness instead of strength and laid our nation open to the charge of abandonment of the fundamental doctrine of self-government. We favor an immediate declaration of the nation's purpose to recognize the independence of the Philippine Islands as soon as a stable government can be established, such independence to be guaranteed by us until the neutralization of the Islands can be secured by treaty with other powers. In recognizing the independence of the Philippines, our government should retain such land as may be necessary for coaling stations and naval bases.

Arizona and New Mexico.

We welcome Arizona and New Mexico to the sisterhood of states and heartily congratulate them upon their auspicious beginning of great and glorious careers.

Alaska.

We demand for the people of Alaska the full enjoyment of the rights and privileges of a territorial form of government, and we believe that the officials appointed to administer the government of all our territories and the District of Columbia should be qualified by previous bona fide residence.

The Russian Treaty.

We commend the patriotism of the Democratic members of the Senate and House of Representatives which compelled the termination of the Russian treaty of 1832, and we pledge ourselves anew to preserve the sacred rights of American citizenship at home and abroad. No treaty should receive the sanction of our government which does not recognize that equality of all of our citizens, irrespective of race or creed, and which does not expressly guarantee the fundamental right of expatriation.

The constitutional rights of American citizens should protect them on our borders and go with them throughout the world, and every American citizen residing or having property in any foreign country is entitled to and must be given the full protection of the United States Government, both for himself and his property.

Parcel Post and Rural Delivery.

We favor the establishment of a parcel post or postal express and also the extension of the rural delivery system as rapidly as practicable.

Panama Canal Exposition.

We hereby express our deep interest in the great Panama Canal Exposition to be held in San Francisco in 1915, and favor such encouragement as can be properly given.

Protection of National Uniform.

We commend to the several states the adoption of a law making it an offense for the proprietors of places of public amusement and entertainment to discriminate against the uniform of the United States, similar to the law passed by Congress applicable to the District of Columbia and the territories, in 1911.

Pensions.

We renew the declaration of our last platform relating to a generous pension policy.

Rule of the People.

We call attention to the fact that the Democratic party's demand for a return to the rule of the people, expressed in the national platform four years ago, has now become the accepted doctrine of a large majority of the electors. We again remind the country that only by a larger exercise of the reserved power of the people can they protect themselves from the misuse of delegated power and the usurpation of governmental instrumentalities by special interests. For this reason the National Convention insisted on the overthrow of Cannonism and the inauguration of a system by which United States Senators could be elected by direct vote.

The Democratic party offers itself to the country as an agency through which the complete overthrow and extirpation of corruption, fraud and machine rule in American politics can be effected.

Conclusion.

Our platform is one of principles which we believe to be essential to our national welfare. Our pledges are made to be kept when in office as well as relied upon during the campaign, and we invite the co-operation of all citizens, regardless of party, who believe in maintaining unimpaired the institutions and traditions of our country.

DEMOCRATIC SUBNATIONAL STATE CONVENTION, 1912.

The Democratic State Convention met at Joplin, Mo., February 20, 1912, and was called to order by Joseph B. Shannon, chairman of the State Committee. Hon. E. M. Harber of Grundy county was chosen temporary chairman and Henry T. Lee of Boone county, temporary secretary. The permanent officers of the convention were as follows: Chairman, Hon. Wm. S. Cowherd of Kansas City; secretary, Henry T. Lee of Boone county; assistant secretaries, J. T. Higgs of Jackson county, E. C. Schult of the Fourteenth congressional district, Joe Burnett of Ralls county, Ed Kelso of Worth county, John Y. Patrick of St. Louis, W. E. Reynolds of Dallas county and S. H. Ellison of Adair county. Edward F. Goltra of St. Louis was selected National Committeeman. Frank H. Farris of Crawford county and W. E. Fowler of Clay were then chosen electors at large. Eight delegates at large and their alternates at large were selected to the Baltimore Convention, each to have one-half vote. Delegates and alternates and electors were elected to the National Convention at Baltimore. The following platform was adopted:

DEMOCRATIC SUBNATIONAL PLATFORM, 1912.

The Democracy of Missouri, by its representatives in convention assembled, greets the Democracy of the United States. The spirit manifested in this convention is a splendid augury of victory for our party. The history of the Republican party is a tale of broken promises, violated faith and betrayal of trusts. It destroyed popular government in the House of Representatives by a system of rules which vested arbitrary power in the Speaker. This power it employed in the service of the great special interests. It inaugurated a system of wasteful extravagances unparalleled in history. It created a tariff law which imposes a tax upon the necessities of life for the benefit of favored institutions. It allowed the agents of those interests to dictate the very terms of the statute under which they plundered the people. It not only permitted the establishment of monopoly, but gave executive sanction to the destruction by the greatest trust on earth of its last potential rival. It promised in advance legal immunity to those who consummated the criminal conspiracy. It is responsible for the existence of that vast system of combination which oppresses the people, taxes their energies, limits their opportunities, and which at the same time has raised the price of living to a point where the cost of the very necessities of life is almost beyond the reach of the great industrial classes. The Republican party came before the people at the last national election apologizing for its errors and promising to reform its own iniquities. It especially promised a reduction of the tariff taxation. In violation of the pledge it enacted the Payne-Aldrich iniquity. Declaring the most important schedule of this bill to be utterly indefensible, the President nevertheless signed the measure and gave it the force of law. In this, as in all other matters, the Republican party utterly failed to fulfill its promises or keep faith with the people. The Democratic party, under the splendid leadership of Champ Clark, overthrew Cannonism and restored the representative government of the popular branch of Congress. This great victory, won under Clark's guidance, challenged the attention of the country to existing abuses, and so aroused the American people that in the election of 1910 the Democrats gained control of the House of Representatives and reduced the Republican majority in the Senate from thirty to eight. Because of his eminent efficiency and long party service, Champ Clark was made Speaker of the House, and we challenge attention to the splendid record subsequently made. A bill was passed reducing the tariff tax upon woolen goods, thus abrogating the injustices of schedule K which President Taft had admitted to be indefensible. Bills reducing taxes upon steel, cotton, chemicals and other prime necessities of life were also passed and in very substantial form forced through the Senate by the aid of the insurgent vote. In response to the demands of the monopolies and other great protected industries, President Taft vetoed all these measures of reform.

We commend and endorse the splendid work done by the Democrats of the House and Senate.

We particularly express our admiration for the leadership of Speaker Clark, whose wisdom, patience, fortitude and patriotism united our party in Congress and made possible the victories achieved. The fight for these great progressive reforms in legislation must go on until government by the people is re-established and justice is rendered to the great mass of the people. Commendation is due and is hereby given to our United States Senators and to our Representatives in Congress for their faithful, courageous and conscientious discharge of their duties to all the people of our State. We congratulate the Democrats of Missouri upon the splendid record and faithful service of our Democratic State officials. We commend the vigorous and intelligent work being performed by the State Committee and its chairman. We call upon all Democrats to organize and make victory in the coming election certain.

The interests of our State demand that our great waterways should be improved so that commerce may be restored to our rivers. We insist that these improvements should be made so as to protect the rich bottom land contiguous to those navigable streams from the ravages of destructive floods, and we favor early action by our government looking to the reclamation of the millions of acres of swamps and overflowed lands in this country.

We are opposed to any system which brings into competition with honest labor the products manufactured by convicts. We therefore recommend that all the convicts of the State shall be employed in such manner as not to bring them into competition with the honest producing classes of our people.

We declare that the people of large cities of our State should be permitted to manage their own affairs without interference or dictation. We therefore favor home rule for the cities and communities of the State. The doctrine that all governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed and that the people are capable of managing and controlling their own affairs is not only the cardinal principle of this nation, but is being accepted throughout the world. We congratulate the people of Ireland upon the fact that the struggle for self-government, which they have so valiantly maintained for a century of time, is about to reach a triumphal consummation.

In presenting to the Democracy of the United States the name of Champ Clark as candidate for President, we challenge attention to the fact that for twenty years he has been a commanding figure in the great battles for all those principles which are the cardinal doctrines of the Democratic faith. He has never waived in his allegiance. His courage has never faltered. He has always been the champion of the rights of the masses. In him is personified the issues upon which Democracy must win the coming contest. We therefore, in presenting the name of the great and progressive Democrat, Champ Clark, hereby direct and specifically instruct the delegates elected by this convention to the National Democratic Convention to be held in Baltimore, Md., June 25, 1912, to work and vote for Champ Clark as a unit continuously, to the end that he may be made the nominee of said Democratic National Convention for President of the United States, and the said delegates are instructed to use all proper and honorable means to secure his nomination by the National Convention, and to this end we earnestly and cordially invite the co-operation of the Democrats of the United States.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION, 1912.

The Democratic State Convention assembled in Jefferson City September 10, 1912, meeting in the county courthouse. The convention was called to order at 3 p. m. by former State Chairman Joseph B. Shannon as temporary chairman and Ed Kelso, temporary secretary. The permanent officers were Joshua W. Alexander of Gallatin, chairman; Frank G. Harris of Columbia, secretary; Patrick O'Donnell of St. Louis, sergeant-at-arms, and H. J. Simmons of Clarence, doorkeeper. On the second day of the convention, at 5 p. m., the platform was read to the convention by Congressman Joshua W. Alexander of the resolution committee, and adopted unanimously.

THE PLATFORM.

We heartily endorse the national Democratic platform adopted at Baltimore, also the nomination of Woodrow Wilson for President and Thomas R. Marshall for Vice-President. Upon this platform and with these candidates we cordially invite the co-operation of all citizens of whatever political persuasion.

Democratic Officers and Members State Board of Equalization.

We heartily commend the able and efficient manner in which our Senators and Democratic Representatives in Congress, our Democratic State officers, members of the General Assembly and of the State Board of Equalization have discharged their respective duties; and we commend the nominees selected on the Democratic ticket at the recent primaries.

State Finances.

The surplus now in the treasury and the present splendid financial condition of the State of Missouri are due to the wise and efficient management of Democratic officers and are the result of laws enacted by Democratic Legislatures.

Good Roads.

We favor the enactment of laws providing more liberal and substantial aid upon the part of the State in the improvement of public roads, the equitable distribution of State road funds, and the enactment of laws providing that road districts may be organized in counties under township organization the same as in counties not under township organization.

Public Schools.

We congratulate our people on the superiority of our public school system. A wise constitutional provision provides that one-fourth of the general revenue must be devoted to public schools; our General Assembly, however, appropriates one-third of such revenue for such support and the Missouri taxpayer contributes of his means each year for a like purpose. This State has always been among the first to adopt every progressive measure for the improvement of our educational system. Measures extending aid to weak districts and teaching practical agriculture, heralded elsewhere as popular innovations, were long ago instituted in this State. As a pioneer in progressive education Missouri has always been a model for sister states to follow. Except Texas, Missouri's endowment fund for educational purposes is larger than that of any other state.

Education.

We reaffirm the declaration of our party made in its platform two years ago, favoring the cause of public education and adequate appropriations for the support of all departments of our educational system. We believe in increasing the efficiency of the common school system, in continuing the strengthening of weak rural schools, in enabling consolidated schools or high schools to be established and maintained in the country and in small towns now without these advantages; in providing general instruction in agriculture, domestic science and manual training; in permitting the maintenance of kindergartens and providing industrial training for young people of all ages, and in more adequate provision for the higher institutions of learning in the State. Therefore we endorse the principle of maintaining a separate permanent fund for these purposes.

Direct Election of Senators.

We favor the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people and demand prompt ratification of such an amendment by the Legislature.

Primary Elections and Presidential Preference Laws.

Believing in the rule of the people, we declare our adherence to the principle of primary election laws. Certain defects are yet to be remedied, but the amendments that we favor are in the direction of making the law more adaptable to the needs of the people and more subservient to their wishes. Furthermore, we give our hearty endorsement to such an extension of its provisions as will afford the people an opportunity to register at the polls their preference for presidential candidates.

Home Rule.

We favor giving to the larger cities of the State home rule in accordance with the fundamental Democratic principle of local self-government, and to that end we favor giving to them the right to elect their excise and police commissioners as they now elect all other officers, or in such other manner as they may wish.

Land Reclamation.

We advocate the reclamation of our overflow land and in the enactment of proper laws looking to the accomplishment of that purpose. We advocate laws making more efficient the organization of drainage districts and the protection of lands generally in such matters.

Eleemosynary Institutions.

The unfortunate and dependent who are cared for and treated in our eleemosynary institutions must have kind and humane treatment. A high standard of efficiency must be established in these institutions, to the end that the inmates may be properly treated and cared for. We deplore the inefficiency which has characterized the management of many of our eleemosynary, penal and reformatory institutions during the administration of the present Republican Governor, which has unjustly reflected upon the good name and humanitarian spirit of our people. The Democratic party pledges that the conduct of all institutions charged with the detention and care of unfortunates shall in the future, as in the past under Democratic administrations, be signalized by economical administration and the appointment only of those especially fitted for the duties imposed. We recommend increased facilities in our reformatory institutions for industrial training, in the useful arts, of persons confined therein. We recommend the creation, by proper legislation, of a board of pardons and paroles, that young offenders may be helped toward a better citizenship. We recommend an enlargement of the powers of the Board of Charities and Corrections in regard to dependent children.

Immigration.

We heartily endorse every honest and enterprising effort to induce worthy people to settle within the State, develop its resources and share the prosperity of our citizens. Our fields and forests, hills and valleys, are rich in untold wealth and capable of supporting many more millions of people. We welcome the home maker and rejoice in telling the world of the State's many superior advantages. The truth about Missouri, when all told and known, will give the State first rank in wealth and population.

Court Procedure.

We favor the enactment of laws which will simplify court procedure and tend to bring about an early determination of litigation, to the end that civil and criminal costs, the latter being one of the heaviest burdens resting upon the State, may be reduced to the minimum.

Revision of Taxation Laws.

In the matter of taxation no system can be devised which will be perfect. Among the cardinal principles should be equality and the lightness of the burden consistent with efficient service. We oppose any unnecessary policy or effort to increase the burdens of taxation on the citizens of Missouri, as our revenues are ample to meet every demand and raise our State institutions to the highest standard. We favor the amendment of the laws in such a way as to secure the assessment of millions of dollars of personal property now escaping taxation, and to the end that all property bear its just proportion of the burdens of government.

Industrial Home for Negro Girls.

We favor liberal appropriations for the erection and maintenance of the industrial school for negro girls.

Workmen's Compensation.

We favor the enactment of a workmen's compensation act. Such a law should be fair and just both to the employer and the employed. It should be plain, simple, definite, reasonable and in consonance with the constitutional provisions of the State and Federal Constitutions, to the end that litigation may be avoided and liabilities speedily adjusted and paid.

Commission Form of Government.

We favor legislation that will give the municipalities of the State the right to adopt the commission form of government.

Public Utilities.

We favor a utility commission, with power to fix freight and passenger rates, express rates, telegraph and telephone rates, the charges of electric light, gas, water and power companies and all other public service corporations. The commission should have authority to supervise the issuance of stock and the creation of mortgage indebtedness and be vested with power to ascertain the value of the physical property of such corporations.

Taxation System.

We believe in just and equitable taxation. Every citizen should be willing to bear his just share of the burdens of taxation for the support of the government economically administered. We are unwilling to discriminate against any class of citizens, or property, in imposing these burdens; hence are opposed to the proposed amendments to the State Constitution known as the single tax amendments.

Law Enforcement.

The laws of the State represent the will of the people. The people can rule only by and through the due observance of the laws. We therefore believe in and declare for the firm and impartial enforcement of the laws enacted by the commonwealth, and we favor the enactment of legislation which shall make adequate provision for proceeding against public officers, charged with the enforcement of law, for willful failure or refusal to perform such duties.

REPUBLICAN PARTY.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

(Nominees—For President, William Howard Taft of Ohio; for Vice-President, James S. Sherman of New York.)

The Republican National Convention met in Chicago June 18, 1912, and was called to order by William Hayward, secretary of the National Committee. Governor Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri was floor manager for the Roosevelt delegates and James E. Watson of Indiana acted in the same capacity for the Taft delegates. The convention was characterized by an extreme hard-fought fight between the Roosevelt and Taft delegates for control of the convention. There were in dispute about 260 seats. Most of these were in the south and concerned chiefly the negro delegates from the southern states. It was evident at this time that the balance of power in the convention rested in the hands of these colored delegates. The result of the contest before the National Committee gave Mr. Taft 555 votes, or enough for the nomination if these votes could be held. The withdrawal of 60 or 70 colored delegates from his support to that of Mr. Roosevelt would prevent the President's renomination. The first test of strength was shown in the election of Senator Elihu Root of New York, a Taft delegate, as temporary chairman by a vote of 558 to 502. The next show of strength was made before the committee on credentials, in which the credentials committee in each instance endorsed the action of the National Committee in seating the Taft delegates. A bitter fight was waged against the adoption of the committee's report, led by Governor Hadley, representing the Roosevelt forces, but which resulted in the seating in each instance of the Taft delegates. On Saturday, June 22th, Senator Root was made permanent chairman and the permanent organization concluded. Following the election of Permanent Chairman Root, Hon. Henry J. Allen of Texas, who had succeeded Governor Hadley as representative of Mr. Roosevelt in the convention, read the following statement from Mr. Roosevelt:

Final Statement of Mr. Roosevelt.

"A clear majority of the delegates honestly elected to this convention were chosen by the people to nominate me. Under the direction and with the encouragement of Mr. Taft the majority of the National Committee, by the so-called 'steam roller' methods and with scandalous disregard of every principle of elementary honesty and decency, stole eighty or ninety delegates, putting on the temporary call a sufficient number of fraudulent delegates to defeat the legally expressed will of the people and to substitute a dishonest for an honest majority.

"The convention has now declined to purge the roll of the fraudulent delegates placed thereon by the defunct National Committee, and the majority which thus endorsed fraud was made a majority only because it included the fraudulent delegates themselves, who all sat as judges on one another's cases. If these fraudulent votes had not thus been cast and counted the convention would have been purged of their presence. This action makes the convention in no proper sense any longer a Republican convention representing the real Republican party. Therefore I hope the men elected as Roosevelt delegates will now decline to vote on any matter before the convention. I do not release any delegate from his honorable obligation to vote for me if he votes at all; but under the actual conditions I hope that he will not vote at all.

"The convention as now composed has no claim to represent the voters of the Republican party. It represents nothing but a successful fraud in overriding the will of the rank and file of the party. Any man nominated by the convention as now constituted will be merely the beneficiary of this successful fraud; it would be deeply discreditable to any man to accept the convention's nomination under these circumstances, and any man thus accepting it would have no claim to the support of any Republican on party grounds and would have forfeited the right to ask the support of any honest man of any party on moral grounds."

Following the issuance of this statement Mr. Taft was nominated on the first ballot by a vote of 561, 344 not voting. Following this, James S. Sherman of New York was nominated for Vice-President. Following the nomination of Mr. Taft the Roosevelt delegates assembled at Orchestra Hall and organized an informal nominating convention and proceeded to organize the Progressive party.

The Republican party, assembled by its representatives in National Convention, declares its unchanging faith in government of the people, by the people, for the people. We renew our allegiance to the principles of the Republican party and our devotion to the cause of Republican institutions established by the fathers.

It is appropriate that we should now recall with a sense of veneration and gratitude the name of our first great leader, who was nominated in this city, and whose lofty principles and superb devotion to his country are an inspiration to the party he honored—Abraham Lincoln. In the present state of public affairs we should be inspired by his broad statesmanship and by his tolerant spirit toward men.

The Republican party looks back on its record with pride and satisfaction and forward to its new responsibilities with hope and confidence. Its achievements in government constitute the most luminous pages in our history. Our greatest national advance has been made during the years of its ascendancy in public affairs. It has been genuinely and always a party of progress; it has never been either stationary or reactionary. It has gone from the fulfillment of one great pledge to the fulfillment of another in response to the public need and to the popular will.

Government of Laws, Not of Men.

We believe in our self-controlled representative democracy, which is a government of laws, not of men, and in which order is the prerequisite of progress.

The principles of constitutional government, which make provision for orderly and effective expression of the popular will, for the protection of civil liberty and the rights of men, and for the interpretation of the law by an untrammelled and independent judiciary, have proved themselves capable of sustaining the structure of a government which, after more than a century of development, embraces 100,000,000 of people, scattered over a wide and diverse territory, but bound by common purpose, common ideals and common affection to the Constitution of the United States.

Under the Constitution and the principles asserted and vitalized by it, the United States has grown to be one of the great civilized and civilizing powers of the earth. It offers a home and an opportunity to the ambitious and the industrious from other lands. Resting upon the broad basis of a people's confidence and a people's support, and managed by the people themselves, the Government of the United States will meet the problems of the future as satisfactorily as it has solved those of the past.

The Party's Program.

The Republican party is now, as always, a party of advanced and constructive statesmanship. It is prepared to go forward with the solution of those new questions which social, economic and political development have brought into the forefront of the nation's interest. It will strive, not only in the nation but in the several states, to enact the necessary legislation to safeguard the public health; to limit effectively the labor of women and children; to protect wage-earners engaged in dangerous occupations; to enact comprehensive and generous workman's compensation laws in place of the present wasteful and unjust system of employers' liability, and in all possible ways to satisfy the just demand of the people for the study and solution of the complex and constantly changing problems of social welfare.

In dealing with these questions it is important that the rights of every individual to the freest possible development of his own powers and resources and to the control of his own justly acquired property, so far as those are compatible with the rights of others, shall not be interfered with or destroyed. The social and political structure of the United States rests upon the civil liberty of the individual; and for the protection of that liberty the people have wisely, in the national and state institutions, put definite limitations upon themselves and upon their governmental officers and agencies. To enforce these limitations, to secure the orderly and coherent exercise of governmental powers, and to protect the rights of even the humblest and least favored individual are the function of independent courts of justice.

To Uphold Courts.

The Republican party reaffirms its intention to uphold at all times the authority and integrity of the courts, both state and federal, and it will ever insist that their powers to enforce their process and to protect life, liberty and property shall be preserved inviolate. An orderly method is provided under our system of government by which the people may, when they choose, alter or amend the constitutional provisions which underlie that government. Until these constitutional provisions are so altered or amended, in orderly fashion, it is the duty of the courts to see to it that when challenged they are enforced.

That the courts, both federal and state, may bear the heavy burden laid upon them to the complete satisfaction of public opinion, we favor legislation to prevent long delays and the tedious and costly appeals which have so often amounted to a denial of justice in civil cases and to a failure to protect the public at large in criminal cases.

Since the responsibility of the judiciary is so great, the standards of judicial action must be always and everywhere above suspicion and reproach. While we regard the recall of judges as unnecessary and unwise, we favor such action as may be necessary to simplify the process by which any judge who is found to be derelict in his duty may be removed from office.

Together with peaceful and orderly development at home, the Republican party earnestly favors all measures for the establishment and protection of the peace of the world and for the development of closer relations between the various nations of the earth. It believes most earnestly in the peaceful settlement of international disputes and in the reference of all justiciable controversies between nations to an international court of justice.

Monopoly and Privilege.

The Republican party is opposed to special privilege and to monopoly. It placed upon the statute book the interstate commerce act of 1887, and the important amendments thereto, and the antitrust act of 1890, and it has consistently and successfully enforced the provisions of these laws. It will take no backward step to permit the re-establishment in any degree of conditions which were intolerable.

Experience makes it plain that the business of the country may be carried on without fear or without disturbance and at the same time without resort to practices which are abhorrent to the common sense of justice. The Republican party favors the enactment of legislation supplementary to the existing antitrust act, which will define as criminal offenses those specific acts that uniformly mark attempts to restrain and to monopolize trade, to the end that those who honestly intend to obey the law may have a guide for their action and that those who aim to violate the law may the more surely be punished.

The same certainty should be given to the law prohibiting combinations and monopolies that characterizes other provisions of commercial law, in order that no part of the field of business opportunity may be restricted by monopoly or combination, that business success honorably achieved may not be converted into crime, and that the right of every man to acquire commodities, and particularly the necessities of life, in an open market, uninfluenced by the manipulation of trust or combination, may be preserved.

Federal Trade Commission.

In the enforcement and administration of federal laws governing interstate commerce and enterprises impressed with a public use engaged therein, there is much that may be committed to a federal trade commission, thus placing in the hands of an administrative board many of the functions now necessarily exercised by the courts. This will promote promptness in the administration of the law and avoid delays and technicalities incident to court procedure.

The Tariff.

We reaffirm our belief in a protective tariff. The Republican tariff policy has been of the greatest benefit to the country, developing our resources, diversifying our industries and protecting our workmen against competition with cheaper labor abroad, thus establishing for our wage-earners the American standard of living. The protective tariff is so woven into the fabric of our industrial and agricultural life that to substitute for it a tariff for revenue only would destroy many industries and throw millions of our people out of employment. The products of the farm and of the mine should receive the same measure of protection as other products of American labor.

We hold that the import duties should be high enough, while yielding a sufficient revenue, to protect adequately American industries and wages. Some of the existing import duties are too high and should be reduced. Readjustment should be made from time to time to conform to changing conditions and to reduce excessive rates, but without injury to any American industry. To accomplish this correct information is indispensable. This information can best be obtained by an expert commission, as the large volume of useful facts contained in the recent reports of the tariff board has demonstrated. The pronounced feature of modern industrial life is its enormous diversification. To apply tariff rates justly to these changing conditions requires closer study and more scientific methods than ever before. The Republican party has shown by its creation of a tariff board its recognition of this situation and its determination to be equal to it. We condemn the Democratic party for its failure either to provide funds for the continuance of this board or to make some other provision for securing the information requisite for intelligent tariff legislation. We protest against the Democratic method of legislating on these vitally important subjects without careful investigation.

We condemn the Democratic tariff bills passed by the House of Representatives of the Sixty-second Congress as sectional, as injurious to the public credit, and as destructive of business enterprise.

Cost of Living.

The steadily increasing cost of living has become a matter not only of national but of world-wide concern. The fact that it is not due to the protective tariff system is evidenced by the existence of similar conditions in countries which have a tariff policy different from our own, as well as by the fact that the cost of living has increased while rates of duty have remained stationary or been reduced. The Republican party will support a prompt scientific inquiry into the causes which are operative, both in the United States and elsewhere, to increase the cost of living. When the exact facts are known, it will take the necessary steps to remove any abuses that may be found to exist in order that the cost of the food, clothing and shelter of the people may in no way be unduly or artificially increased.

Banking and Currency.

The Republican party has always stood for a sound currency and for safe banking methods. It is responsible for the resumption of specie payments and for the establishment of the gold standard. It is committed to the progressive development of our banking and currency systems. Our banking arrangements today need further revision to meet the requirements of current conditions. We need measures which will prevent the recurrence of money panics and financial disturbances and which will promote the prosperity of business and the welfare of labor by producing constant employment. We need better currency facilities for the movement of crops in the west and south. We need banking arrangements under American auspices for the encouragement and better conduct of our foreign trade. In attaining these ends, the independence of individual banks, whether organized under national or state charters, must be carefully protected and our banking and currency system must be safeguarded from any possibility of domination by sectional, financial or political interests.

It is of great importance to the social and economic welfare of this country that its farmers have facilities for borrowing easily and cheaply the money they need to increase the productivity of their land. It is as important that financial machinery be provided to supply the demand of farmers for credit as it is that the banking and currency systems be reformed in the interests of general business. Therefore, we recommend and urge an authoritative investigation of agricultural credit societies and corporations in other countries, and the passage of state and federal laws for the establishment and capable supervision of organizations having for their purpose the loaning of funds to farmers.

The Civil Service.

We reaffirm our adherence to the principle of appointment to public office based on proved fitness and tenure during good behavior and efficiency. The Republican party stands committed to the maintenance, extension and enforcement of the civil service law, and it favors the passage of legislation empowering the President to extend the competitive service as far as possible, the equitable retirement of disabled and superannuated members of the civil service, in order that a higher order of efficiency may be maintained.

Employers' Liability.

We favor the amendment of the federal employers' liability law so as to extend its provision to all government employes, as well as to provide a more liberal scale of compensation for injury and death.

Campaign Contributions.

We favor such additional legislation as may be necessary more effectually to prohibit corporations from contributing funds, directly or indirectly, to campaigns for the nomination or election of the President, the Vice-President, Senators and Representatives in Congress. We heartily approve the recent act of Congress requiring the fullest publicity in regard to all campaign contributions, whether made in connection with primaries, conventions or elections.

Conservation of Natural Resources.

We rejoice in the success of the distinctive Republican policy of the conservation of our natural resources, for their use by the people without waste and without monopoly. We pledge ourselves to a continuance of such a policy.

Acquisition of Public Lands.

We favor such fair and reasonable rules and regulations as will not discourage or interfere with actual bona fide homeseekers, prospectors and miners in the acquisition of public lands under existing laws.

Parcel Post.

In the interest of the general public, and particularly of the agricultural or rural communities, we favor legislation looking to the establishment, under proper regulations, of a parcel post, the postal rates to be graduated under a zone system in proportion to the length of carriage.

Protection of American Citizens.

We approve the action taken by the President and the Congress to secure with Russia, as with other countries, a treaty that will recognize the absolute right of expatriation, and that will prevent all discrimination of whatever kind between American citizens, whether native born or alien, and regardless of race, religion or previous political allegiance. The right of asylum is a precious possession of the people of the United States, and it is to be neither surrendered nor restricted.

The Navy.

We believe in the maintenance of an adequate navy for the national defense, and we condemn the action of the Democratic House of Representatives in refusing to authorize the construction of additional ships.

Merchant Marine.

We believe that one of the country's most urgent needs is a revived merchant marine. There should be American ships, and plenty of them, to make use of the great American interoceanic canal now nearing completion.

Flood Prevention in the Mississippi Valley.

The Mississippi river is the nation's drainage ditch. Its flood waters, gathered from thirty-one states and the Dominion of Canada, constitute an overpowering force which breaks the levees and pours its torrents over many million acres of the richest land in the Union, stopping mails, impeding commerce, and causing great loss of life and property. These floods are national in scope, and the disasters they produce seriously affect the general welfare. The states unaided cannot cope with this giant problem; hence we believe the Federal Government should assume a fair proportion of the burden of its control so as to prevent the disasters from recurring floods.

Reclamation of Arid Lands.

We favor the continuance of the policy of the government with regard to the reclamation of arid lands, and for the encouragement of the speedy settlement and improvement of such lands; we favor an amendment to the law that will reasonably extend the time within which the cost of any reclamation project may be repaid by the landowners under it.

Rivers and Harbors.

We favor a liberal and systematic policy for the improvement of our rivers and harbors. Such improvements should be made upon expert information and after a careful comparison of cost and prospective benefits.

Alaska.

We favor a liberal policy toward Alaska, to promote the development of the great resources of that district, with such safeguards as will prevent waste and monopoly. We favor the opening of the coal lands to development through a law leasing the lands on such terms as will invite development and provide fuel for the navy and the commerce of the Pacific ocean, while retaining title in the United States to prevent monopoly.

Porto Rico.

We ratify in all its particulars the platform of 1908 respecting citizenship for the people of Porto Rico.

Philippine Policy.

The Philippine policy of the Republican party has been and is inspired by the belief that our duty toward the Filipino people is a national obligation which should remain entirely free from partisan politics.

Immigration.

We pledge the Republican party to the enactment of appropriate laws to give relief from the constantly growing evil of induced or undesirable immigration, which is inimical to the progress and welfare of the people of the United States.

Safety at Sea.

We favor the speedy enactment of laws to provide that seamen shall not be compelled to endure involuntary servitude and that life and property at sea shall be safeguarded by the ample equipment of vessels with life-saving appliances and with full complements of skilled, able-bodied seamen to operate them.

Republican Accomplishment.

The approaching completion of the Panama canal, the establishment of a bureau of mines, the institution of postal savings banks, the increased provision made in 1912 for the aged and infirm soldiers and sailors of the republic and for their widows, and the vigorous administration of the laws relating to pure food and drugs, all mark the successful progress of Republican administration and are additional evidence of its effectiveness.

Economy and Efficiency.

We commend the earnest effort of the Republican administration to secure greater economy and increased efficiency in the conduct of government business; extravagant appropriations and the creation of unnecessary offices are an injustice to the taxpayer and a bad example to the citizen.

Civic Duty.

We call upon the people to quicken their interest in public affairs, to condemn and punish lynchings and other forms of lawlessness, and to strengthen in all possible ways a respect for law and the observance of it. Indifferent citizenship is an evil from which the law affords no adequate protection and for which legislation can provide no remedy.

Arizona and New Mexico.

We congratulate the people of Arizona and New Mexico upon the admission of those states, thus merging in the Union in final and enduring form the last remaining portion of our continental territory.

Republican Administration.

We challenge successful criticism of the sixteen years of Republican administration under Presidents McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft. We heartily reaffirm the endorsement of President McKinley contained in the platform of 1900 and of 1904 and that of President Roosevelt contained in the platforms of 1904 and 1908.

We invite the intelligent judgment of the American people upon the administration of William H. Taft. The country has prospered and been at peace under his Presidency. During the years in which he had the co-operation of a Republican Congress an unexampled amount of constructive legislation was framed and passed in the interest of the people and in obedience to their wish. That legislation is a record on which any administration might appeal with confidence to the favorable judgment of history.

We appeal to the American electorate upon the record of the Republican party and upon this declaration of its principles and purposes. We are confident that under the leadership of the candidates here to be nominated our appeal will not be in vain; that the Republican party will meet every just expectation of the people whose servant it is; that under its administration and its laws our nation will continue to advance; that peace and prosperity will abide with the people, and that new glory will be added to the great republic.

THE PLATFORM.

We, the Republicans of Missouri, in convention assembled, affirm our faith and declare our allegiance in the platform and declaration of principles and policies of the Republican party, its most splendid history and great achievements in peace and in war, specifically set forth and adopted by the Republican National Convention on June 18, 1908, upon which the Republican party won its great victory in 1908 in all the branches of the National Government.

The Republican party has always been a party of progress and achievement. It has ever turned its face toward the future rather than toward the past. While indulging in a just pride in things done, it considers of greater importance the work it has to do. If it is to continue as a useful agency of government it must solve the problems of the present and the future as it has dealt with the problems of the past.

We advocate the adoption of new methods and new processes of government and also the selection of new leaders whenever by so doing our party may render a more useful public service in nation or in state.

We believe that the initiative and referendum are useful, proper and often necessary methods of legislation, not as a substitute for our representative system, but to correct its inadequacies and imperfections. Based upon actual experience in this State, we see in these methods of government the only means by which the unjust, unfair and partisan division of this State into senatorial and congressional districts, that has resulted in the disfranchisement of one-half of the Republican voters, can be corrected.

While we believe that the independence of the judiciary should be maintained unimpaired, we declare it to be our belief that in determining the constitutionality of laws affecting the social, industrial or economic conditions of the people, the judges upon the bench should respond to the prevailing public morality of the period, as should the representatives of the people in legislative or executive departments of the State government; that when judges whom the people have selected to represent them set up their opinions as to what is advisable or necessary in legislation of this character, as against the opinions of their representatives in the legislative and executive departments of government, it is the right of the people, established by immemorial custom, both in nation and in state, to overrule such decisions by amending the Constitution. We agree with the first great leader of the Republican party, Abraham Lincoln, that "if the policy of the government upon vital questions affecting the whole people is to irrevocably fixed by decisions of the Supreme Court, the people will have ceased to be their own rulers, having to that extent practically resigned their government into the hands of that eminent tribunal. Nor is there in this view any assault upon the courts or the judges."

We believe that the people should enjoy a prompt, simple and effective method of amending their Constitution, so they can secure laws which a preponderant public opinion considers necessary for the accomplishment of a proper measure of social and industrial justice.

We believe in the principle of a short ballot in order that there may be an increased responsibility upon the part of elective officials for the conduct of public affairs, and a better opportunity for the people to discriminate in the selection of such officials. By the adoption in actual practice of such methods, we believe that the application of the policy of the recall of either executive, legislative or judicial officers will be found to be unnecessary and inadvisable.

In order that our government may be truly a government of the people, for the people and by the people, we are opposed to all those methods and processes of government, either in the nomination of public officials or in the conduct of public affairs, which places power in the hands of the few rather than in the people as a whole. In order that the principles of genuine popular rule may obtain, we favor direct primaries for the nomination of all public officials, including the President of the United States.

We declare it as our belief, however, that the real test by which the right of a party to the confidence and approval of the people should be determined is the character of the public service that it renders; that the time in which the theory that that government is best which governs least was correct has long since passed away; that important problems affecting vitally the social and industrial welfare of the people are demanding consideration and solution; that in dealing with these problems the Republican party should be ever ready to adopt new methods and new policies whenever old methods or old policies shall be found inadequate and insufficient; that our party should ever stand with its face toward the future, toward the morning and the sunrise, ever open to new thoughts and new ideas as the new years bring their lessons.

We indorse the efforts of President Taft in carrying out the pledges of the last Republican platform, and we hold in high esteem the President of the United States.

We, furthermore, indorse and express great pride in the splendid administration of our Governor, Hon. Herbert S. Hadley. Accepting the call of the party in 1904 for the nomination of the office of Attorney-General, he so ably, courageously and successfully performed the duties of that position that the party without a dissenting voice insisted, in 1908, on his acceptance of the nomination for Governor. Reluctantly, and at the risk of his health and life, he again responded to the call of the party, and in a notable campaign redeemed Missouri, giving to us, for the first time in forty years, a Republican Governor. His administration of that office has been characterized by such notable achievements, and so well did he serve the people that, in 1910, in the midst of a Democratic landslide throughout the entire country, the public approval of his administration and policies elected the entire Republican State ticket.

During his administration of this great office he has kept the party pledge to give to the people of the large cities an honest ballot and a fair count. He has taken the police departments of the large cities out of politics, caused to be increased their efficiency and character, and made them useful agencies for the protection of life and property. He has enforced all the laws without fear or favor. He has been the consistent and persistent advocate of every progressive measure in State government and the leader in every contest against injustice, discrimination, unfairness or special privilege in public or political affairs. He has encouraged and accomplished a splendid result in the development of the undeveloped resources of the State; encouraged immigration and inaugurated a progressive and effective plan for the building of public roads; he has raised the standard of efficiency in the conduct of the State's institutions and brought the management of the eleemosynary, penal and reformatory institutions in accord with modern, humane and scientific methods.

We especially commend him for his courageous fight for the right of fair representation of his party, refusing to approve or proclaim the late infamous gerrymander of the State into senatorial districts by Elliott W. Major and Cornelius Roach. His reasons for refusing to approve and proclaim this attempted gerrymander have been recently sustained by the unanimous decision of our Supreme Court in the following language:

"The analysis of the facts of the case was most conclusive evidence that, in apportioning the State into districts, they wholly disregarded the constitutional mandates as to compactness of territory, quality and population. We are, therefore, of the opinion that the actual apportionment is unconstitutional, null and void."

In making this courageous stand for the rights of the people he has put a check for all time on all attempts to disfranchise a part of the voters of our State by such partisan and illegal methods. In fact, so well has Governor Hadley served and wrought that this administration has become not only the pride of every Republican, but of every other fair-minded citizen who believes in honest, progressive government in the cause of the people.

Believing as we do that the time has come when the best interests of the American people and the wishes of the Republican party alike demand the return to the Presidency of that man of whom the Republican National Convention assembled in Chicago on June 16, 1908, through the Republican national platform, said:

"In this, the great era of American advancement, the Republican party has reached its highest service under the leadership of Theodore Roosevelt. His administration is an epoch in American history. In no other period since national sovereignty was won under Washington or preserved under Lincoln has there been such progress made for justice, equality and fair dealing among men."

The highest aspirations of the American people have found a voice. Their most exalted servant represents the best aims and worthiest purposes of all his countrymen. American manhood has been lifted to a nobler sense of duty and obligation. Conscience and courage in public station and higher standards of right and wrong in private life have become cardinal principles of political faith. Capital and labor have been brought into closer relations of confidence and interdependence, and the abuse of wealth, the tyranny of power and all the evils of privilege of favoritism have been put to scorn by the simple, manly virtues of justice and fair play.

The great accomplishments of President Roosevelt have been, first and foremost, a brave and impartial enforcement of the laws; the prosecution of illegal trusts and monopolies; the exposure and punishment of evildoers in the public service; the more effective regulation of the rates and services of the great transportation lines; the complete overthrow of preferences, rebates and discriminations; the arbitration of labor disputes; the amelioration of the condition of wage-workers everywhere; the conservation of the natural resources of the country; the forward step in the improvement of the inland waterways, and always the earnest support and defense of every wholesome safeguard which has made more secure the guarantees of life, liberty and property.

In view of this record of public achievement and the principles and policies for which he stands, we express our conviction that the best interests of the Republican party and the welfare of the American people demand the nomination and election of Theodore Roosevelt.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

The Republican State Convention assembled in Jefferson City September 10, 1912, in the Carnegie library and proceeded to organize, with John C. McKinley of Unionville as temporary chairman and William T. Findly of St. Louis as temporary secretary. The permanent officers were Polite Elvins, chairman, and William T. Findly, secretary. The platform was adopted September 11, 1912.

THE PLATFORM.

The Republican party of Missouri, through its legally chosen representatives in convention assembled, congratulates the people on the present unsurpassed era of prosperity which came to us with the return of the Republican party to power under the leadership of William McKinley, and we entertain the hope that the good judgment of the voters of Missouri will in the coming contest sustain these principles and policies that have made our present prosperity possible. We reiterate our firm belief in the principle of a protective tariff as expressed in our national platform, and call attention to the superior standard of our American wage-earners as compared with those of all other countries, ever mindful that the advancement of the condition of the masses is the paramount duty of a political party.

Proud of these prosperous times—the result of Republican rule—we reaffirm our faith in and pledge anew our fealty to the principles and policies of Republicanism as enunciated in our national and State platforms and as exemplified in our present national and State administrations, and we unqualifiedly indorse and approve our national ticket headed by William H. Taft and the State ticket headed by John C. McKinley, together with the other State, congressional, district and county candidates.

The Republican party is today a party of progressive spirit and constructive statesmanship; in the past it has grasped and solved the great problems of government in conformity with the general welfare of the people. It has the courage, ability and integrity to meet the political questions of today and settle them on the same high lines of honesty and patriotic statesmanship which have constantly characterized its work for more than half a century.

Republican State Administration.

We point with pride to the administration of our present Governor, Herbert S. Hadley, which has given to Missouri a fearless and honest administration, of which every Missourian should be proud. Under his administration the police of our large cities have been taken out of politics and made protectors of life and property; excise laws have been and will be faithfully enforced; fair and honest elections have been secured in our cities and the right of our citizens to cast their ballots and have them properly counted has been restored; laws have been enacted for the better protection of labor; for safeguarding of the health and lives of employes in our mines and factories; the blight of political influence has been removed from our eleemosynary institutions; better roads and highways have been built throughout our State; the banking system of the State has been so safeguarded that not a single dollar has been lost to depositors during the administration of the present State Bank Commissioner. This State administration has been so economically conducted as to convert a deficit of more than a million dollars at the beginning of the administration into a surplus now in the State treasury. Regardless of the persistent effort of the reactionary Democratic Legislature to thwart the will of the people and hinder the enactment of wise and wholesome legislation proposed by the Republican party, the present administration challenges comparison with that of any other administration since the Civil war.

Pledge of Continued Good Government.

We pledge to the people of Missouri in the nomination and election of our standard-bearer, John C. McKinley, the same high degree of faithful service in the performance of his official duties as is exemplified in the administration of Herbert S. Hadley, and a continuation of these policies which will uplift and make better the conditions of all classes of our people without regard to station in life. We believe that governments are devised among men for the mutual benefit of all classes, without special privilege to any, and that it becomes the highest duty of any political party to make and administer the laws so as to attain these ends in conformity with changing conditions. To the accomplishment of these purposes we pledge to the people of Missouri the support and co-operation of the candidates nominated upon the Republican ticket and appeal with confidence to the voters of Missouri for their election.

Laws to be Enacted.

In carrying out the high purpose of true government we advocate the enactment of workmen's compensation laws; of laws further regulating the hours of labor of women and children; of laws protecting the lives and health and safety of those engaged in industrial occupations, and repealing that part of the factory inspection system which exacts a fee for every inspection; of laws requiring the payment of all wages in lawful money; of laws protecting and conserving the public health; prohibiting the adulteration of food and drugs, and the enactment of such laws as will make more efficient the individual laborer.

Regulation of Public Utilities.

We believe that it is not only the right but the duty of government to effectively regulate the conduct and the rates of all public utilities, and that such a result can be better accomplished through the establishment of a State commission than by specific legislative enactments.

State Institutions.

We are in favor of every possible improvement which will raise the standard of the State eleemosynary, penal and reformatory institutions. The capacity of some of these institutions is now overtaxed, and liberal appropriations should be made for an increase of accommodations therein, and to enable them to be conducted more in accordance with modern scientific methods.

Industrial Schools and Tubercular Sanitariums.

We are in favor of appropriations for the increase of accommodations at the Girls' Industrial School at Chillicothe and an adequate appropriation for the establishment and maintenance of an industrial school for negro girls, and for the establishment of a sanitarium for the care and treatment of tubercular negro patients.

Reformatory Institutions and Protection of First Offenders.

We reaffirm our declaration of four years ago for the establishment of a State reformatory for youthful offenders, where they may be given a proper measure of general industrial education and an opportunity to thereby become useful citizens, and we advocate that immediate steps be taken to separate hardened criminals from the first offenders in our penal institutions, and that a pardoning board be created with full power to investigate and report on every applicant for clemency and charged with the duty of assisting released convicts in the securing of honest employment.

State Board of Immigration.

We favor a State board of immigration, liberally supplied with necessary funds to exploit our great natural resources and to encourage the immigration of settlers and the investment of capital. No state in the Union presents greater advantages than Missouri for attractive and prosperous homes or for the profitable investment of money, and it needs but a general dissemination of these facts, so well known to us, to largely increase the population and wealth of our great State.

Education in Agriculture.

In order that the people of this State may use to the best advantage the great natural resources with which they are endowed, we favor the most liberal appropriations for the carrying on of the work of practical agricultural education.

Better Roads.

We favor the revision of our present road laws so as to give greater efficiency to the local subdivisions of the State in the carrying on of their road improvement, and we advocate the establishment of a liberal State road fund to be used for the assistance of such communities as are engaged in permanent road improvement.

Convict Labor.

We are opposed to the system of contract labor now in use in Missouri whereby the prisoners in our penal institutions are farmed out to private contractors and their labor thus brought into competition with the free labor of the State, and favor the use of able-bodied male inmates of such institutions in the building of roads and the reclamation of swamps and overflowed land under such a system as will permit the equitable distribution of their labor among the several counties, and under such restrictive laws as will guarantee the humane treatment of the convicts and the protection of the people.

We favor the appointment of a legislative commission to investigate the practicability of employing a part of the convict labor in making school books for the elementary grades, to be furnished free to the public school children of the State.

Home Rule.

In furtherance of the principle of government "of the people, for the people and by the people," we hereby declare in favor of home rule in local affairs for every county, city and town in the State.

We declare our belief that the people of our large cities are entitled to local control of their police and excise affairs, and pledge ourselves, if given the power, to the enactment of an absolute home rule law.

We favor the enactment of laws authorizing the cities of this State to adopt the commission form of government.

Reform in Judicial Procedure.

We recognize the necessity for reform in the judicial procedure of the State so that cases may be decided upon their merits without the delays and reversals incident to decisions of technicalities not affecting the merits of the litigation. Bills for the accomplishment of such a result have been favored by the Republican members in the last two Legislatures and defeated by the Democratic members of those bodies.

Direct Election of United States Senators by the People.

We especially endorse the proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution for the election of United States Senators by a direct vote of the people, and pledge the candidates of the Republican party in the next Legislature to vote for this amendment.

Recall of Public Officials.

We are opposed to the recall of public officials, and especially to the recall of judges. We believe the methods for removal from office of public officials who have been derelict in the performance of their official duties should be made prompt, simple and effective, but we do not believe that men should be removed from public office except upon a judgment of wrongdoing, in accordance with the forms of law, and we believe that more harm than good will result by removal upon a mere judgment of unpopularity as determined by a popular vote.

Supervision of Corporate Stocks and Bonds.

We believe there should be a supervision of the issuance and sale of stocks and bonds in corporations and of the commissions of agents and promoters, so as to protect the people from the misrepresentation of irresponsible promoters in the sale of stocks and bonds.

Honest Election Districts.

We favor an honest and fair redistricting of the State into congressional, senatorial, legislative and judicial districts in accordance with the plain mandates of the State and federal laws, to the end that representative government may be no longer outraged in Missouri; and we denounce the unfair and un-American divisions into which, for partisan purposes, the Democratic party has divided this State, and we further call the attention of the people to the fact that when the last outrageous gerrymander of senatorial districts recently adopted by the present Democratic candidate for Governor and the present candidate for Secretary of State came before the Missouri Supreme Court, it was promptly repudiated and declared illegal by that tribunal.

Taxation.

We are unalterably opposed to the single tax amendment now pending. We favor such enforcement of existing laws and the enactment and enforcement of such new laws as will secure a complete return of all classes of property for the purposes of assessment and the equal assessment and taxation of all classes of property, in order that the burdens of government may be equally distributed.

Woman Suffrage.

We favor the immediate grant of the franchise to the women of Missouri on all questions concerning the public school system of the State.

Education.

We reaffirm the declaration of our party made in its platform two years ago favoring the cause of public education and adequate appropriations for the support of all departments of our educational system. We believe in increasing the efficiency of the common school system; in strengthening the weak rural schools; in enabling consolidated or high schools to be established and maintained in the country and small towns where they do not now exist; in providing general instruction in agriculture, domestic science and manual training; in permitting the maintenance of kindergartens and the providing of industrial training for scholars of all ages, and in more adequate provision for the higher institutions of learning in the State. Therefore, we endorse the principle of maintaining a separate, permanent fund for these purposes.

Adopted by the convention in conformity with law on the eleventh day of September, 1912.

PROGRESSIVE PARTY.

PROGRESSIVE NATIONAL CONVENTION.

(Nominees—For President, Theodore Roosevelt of New York; for Vice-President, Hiram W. Johnson of California.)

The Progressive National Convention met in Chicago August 5, 1912, and was called to order by Senator Dixon of Montana. Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana was selected as temporary chairman. The nomination for President came on the third day, August 8th. William A. Prendergast of New York presented the name of Mr. Roosevelt and he was nominated by acclamation. Governor Johnson of California received the unanimous nomination for Vice-President, and the convention adjourned.

THE PLATFORM.

(Adopted at Chicago, Ill., August 7, 1912.)

Declaration of Principles.

The conscience of the people, in a time of grave national problems, has called into being a new party, born of the nation's awakened sense of injustice.

We of the Progressive party here dedicate ourselves to the fulfillment of the duty laid upon us by our fathers to maintain that government of the people, by the people and for the people whose foundations they laid.

We hold, with Thomas Jefferson and Abraham Lincoln, that the people are the masters of their Constitution, to fulfill its purposes and to safeguard it from those who, by perversion of its intent, would convert it into an instrument of injustice. In accordance with the needs of each generation, the people must use their sovereign powers to establish and maintain equal opportunity and industrial justice, to secure which this government was founded and without which no republic can endure.

This country belongs to the people who inhabit it. Its resources, its business, its institutions and its laws should be utilized, maintained or altered in whatever manner will best promote the general interest. It is time to set the public welfare in the first place.

The Old Parties.

Political parties exist to secure responsible government and to execute the will of the people. From these great tasks both the old parties have turned aside. Instead of instruments to promote the general welfare they have become the tools of corrupt interests, which use them impartially to serve their selfish purposes. Behind the ostensible government sits enthroned an invisible government, owing no allegiance and acknowledging no responsibility to the people. To destroy this invisible government, to dissolve the unholy alliance between corrupt business and corrupt politics, is the first task of the statesmanship of the day.

The deliberate betrayal of its trust by the Republican party, the fatal incapacity of the Democratic party to deal with the new issues of the new time, have compelled the people to forge a new instrument of government through which to give effect to their will in laws and institutions.

Unhampered by tradition, uncorrupted by power, undismayed by the magnitude of the task, the new party offers itself as the instrument of the people to sweep away old abuses, to build a new and nobler commonwealth.

Covenant With the People.

This declaration is our covenant with the people, and we hereby bind the party and its candidates in state and nation to the pledges made herein.

Rule of the People.

The Progressive party, committed to the principle of government by a self-controlled democracy expressing its will through representatives of the people, pledges itself to secure such alterations in the fundamental law of the several states and of the United States as shall insure the representative character of the government. In particular the party declares for direct primaries for the nomination of state and national officers, for nation-wide preferential primaries for candidates for the Presidency, for the direct election of United States Senators by the people; and we urge on the states the policy of the short ballot, with responsibility to the people secured by the initiative, referendum and recall.

Constitution Should be Easily Amended.

The Progressive party, believing that a free people should have the power from time to time to amend their fundamental law so as to adapt it progressively to the changing needs of the people, pledges itself to provide a more easy and expeditious method of amending the Federal Constitution.

Nation and State.

Up to the limit of the Constitution, and later by amendment of the Constitution, if found necessary, we advocate bringing under effective national jurisdiction those problems which have expanded beyond the reach of the individual states.

It is as grotesque as it is intolerable that the several states should, by unequal laws in matter of common concern, become competing commercial agencies, barter the lives of their children, the health of their women and the safety and well-being of their working people for the benefit of their financial interests.

The extreme insistence on states' rights by the Democratic party in the Baltimore platform demonstrates anew its inability to understand the world into which it has survived or to administer the affairs of a union of states which have in all essential respects become one people.

Social and Industrial Reform.

The supreme duty of the nation is the conservation of human resources through an enlightened measure of social and industrial justice. We pledge ourselves to work unceasingly in state and nation for:

Effective legislation looking to the prevention of industrial accidents, occupational diseases, overwork, involuntary unemployment and other injurious effects incident to modern industry.

The fixing of minimum safety and health standards for the various occupations, and the exercise of the public authority of state and nation, including the federal control over interstate commerce and the taxing power, to maintain such standards.

The prohibition of child labor.

Minimum wage standards for working women, to provide a "living scale" in all industrial occupations.

The prohibition of night work for women and the establishment of an eight-hour day for women and young persons.

One day's rest in seven for all wageworkers.

The eight-hour day in continuous twenty-four hour industries.

The abolition of the convict contract labor system; substituting a system of prison production for governmental consumption only and the application of prisoners' earnings to the support of their dependent families.

Publicity as to wages, hours and conditions of labor; full reports upon industrial accidents and diseases and the opening to public inspection of all tallies, weights, measures and check systems on labor products.

Standards of compensation for death by industrial accident and injury and trade diseases which will transfer the burden of lost earnings from the families of working people to the industry, and thus to the community.

The protection of home life against the hazards of sickness, irregular employment and old age through the adoption of a system of social insurance adapted to American use.

The development of the creative labor power of America by lifting the last load of illiteracy from American youth, and establishing continuation schools for industrial education under public control and encouraging agricultural education and demonstration in rural schools.

The establishment of industrial research laboratories to put the methods and discoveries of science at the service of American producers.

We favor the organization of the workers, men and women, as a means of protecting their interests and of promoting their progress.

Regulation of Interstate Corporations.

We believe that true popular government, justice and prosperity go hand in hand, and, so believing, it is our purpose to secure that large measure of general prosperity which is the fruit of legitimate and honest business, fostered by equal justice and by sound progressive laws.

We demand that the test of true prosperity shall be the benefits conferred thereby on all the citizens, not confined to individuals or classes, and that the test of corporate efficiency shall be the ability better to serve the public; that those who profit by control of business affairs shall justify that profit and that control by sharing with the public the fruits thereof.

We therefore demand a strong national regulation of interstate corporations. The corporation is an essential part of modern business. The concentration of modern business, in some degree, is both inevitable and necessary for national and international business efficiency. But the existing concentration of vast wealth under a corporate system, unguarded and uncontrolled by the nation, has placed in the hands of a few men enormous, secret, irresponsible power over the daily life of the citizen—a power unsufferable in a free government and certain of abuse.

This power has been abused in monopoly of national resources, in stock watering, in unfair competition and unfair privileges, and, finally, in sinister influences on the public agencies of state and nation. We do not fear commercial power, but we insist that it shall be exercised openly, under publicity, supervision and regulation of the most efficient sort, which shall preserve its good while eradicating and preventing its evils.

To that end we urge the establishment of a strong federal administrative commission of high standing, which shall maintain permanent active supervision over industrial corporations engaged in interstate commerce, or such of them as are of public importance, doing for them what the government now does for the national banks, and what is now done for the railroads by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Such a commission must enforce the complete publicity of those corporate transactions which are of public interest; must attack unfair competition, false capitalization and special privilege, and by continuous trained watchfulness guard and keep open equally to all the highways of American commerce. Thus the business man will have certain knowledge of the law and will be able to conduct his business easily in conformity therewith, the investor will find security for his capital, dividends will be rendered more certain and the savings of the people will be drawn naturally and safely into the channels of trade.

Under such a system of constructive regulation legitimate business, freed from confusion, uncertainty and fruitless litigation, will develop normally in response to the energy and enterprise of the American business man.

Commercial Development.

The time has come when the Federal Government should co-operate with manufacturers and producers in extending our foreign commerce. To this end we demand adequate appropriations by Congress and the appointment of diplomatic and consular officers solely with a view to their special fitness and worth, and not in consideration of political expediency.

It is imperative to the welfare of our people that we enlarge and extend our foreign commerce. We are pre-eminently fitted to do this because, as a people, we have developed high skill in the art of manufacturing; our business men are strong executives, strong organizers. In every way possible our Federal Government should co-operate in this important matter.

Any one who has had opportunity to study and observe first-hand Germany's course in this respect must realize that their policy of co-operation between government and business has in comparatively few years made them a leading competitor for the commerce of the world. It should be remembered that they are doing this on a national scale and with large units of business, while the Democrats would have us believe that we should do it with small units of business, which would be controlled, not by the National Government, but by forty-nine conflicting sovereignties. Such a policy is utterly out of keeping with the progress of the times and gives our great commercial rivals in Europe—hungry for international markets—golden opportunities of which they are rapidly taking advantage.

The Tariff.

We believe in a protective tariff which shall equalize conditions of competition between the United States and foreign countries, both for the farmer and the manufacturer, and which shall maintain for labor an adequate standard of living. Primarily the benefit of any tariff should be disclosed in the pay envelope of the laborer. We declare that no industry deserves protection which is unfair to labor or which is operating in violation of federal law. We believe that the presumption is always in favor of the consuming public.

We demand tariff revision because the present tariff is unjust to the people of the United States. Fair dealing toward the people requires an immediate downward revision of those schedules wherein duties are shown to be unjust and excessive.

We pledge ourselves to the establishment of a nonpartisan scientific tariff commission, reporting both to the President and to either branch of Congress, which shall report, first, as to the costs of production, efficiency of labor, capitalization, industrial organization and efficiency, and the general competitive position in this country and abroad of industries seeking protection from Congress. Second, as to the revenue-producing power of the tariff and its relation to the resources of government, and thirdly, as to the effect of the tariff on prices, operations of middlemen, and on the purchasing power of the consumer.

We believe that this commission should have plenary power to elicit information, and for this purpose to prescribe a uniform system of accounting for the great protected industries. The work of the commission should not prevent the immediate adoption of acts reducing these schedules generally recognized as excessive.

We condemn the Payne-Aldrich bill as unjust to the people. The Republican organization is in the hands of those who have broken, and cannot again be trusted to keep, the promise of necessary downward revision. The Democratic party is committed to the destruction of the protective system through a tariff for revenue only—a policy which would inevitably produce widespread industrial and commercial disaster.

Reciprocity With Canada.

We demand the immediate repeal of the Canadian reciprocity act.

High Cost of Living.

The high cost of living is due partly to world-wide and partly to local causes; partly to natural and partly to artificial causes. The measures proposed in this platform on various subjects, such as the tariff, the trusts and conservation, will of themselves remove the artificial causes. There will remain other elements, such as the tendency to leave the country for the city, waste, extravagance, bad system of taxation, poor methods of raising crops and bad business methods in marketing crops. To remedy these conditions requires the fullest information, and, based on this information, effective government supervision and control to remove all the artificial causes. We pledge ourselves to such full and immediate inquiry and to immediate action to deal with every need such inquiry discloses.

Improvement of the Currency.

We believe there exists imperative need for prompt legislation for the improvement of our national currency system. We believe the present method of issuing notes through private agencies is harmful and unscientific. The issue of currency is fundamentally a government function and the system should have as basic principles soundness and elasticity. The control should be lodged with the government and should be protected from domination or manipulation by Wall Street or any special interests.

We are opposed to the so-called Aldrich currency bill, because its provisions would place our currency and credit system in private hands, not subject to effective public control.

Conservation of Natural Resources.

The natural resources of the nation must be promptly developed and generously used to supply the people's needs, but we cannot safely allow them to be wasted, exploited, monopolized or controlled against the general good. We heartily favor the policy of conservation, and we pledge our party to protect the national forests without hindering their legitimate use for the benefit of all the people. Agricultural lands in the national forests are and should remain open to the genuine settler. Conservation will not retard legitimate development. The honest settler must receive his patent promptly without hindrance, rules or delays.

We believe that the remaining forests, coal and oil lands, water powers and other natural resources still in state or national control (except agricultural lands) are more likely to be wisely conserved and utilized for the general welfare if held in the public hands.

In order that consumers and producers, managers and workmen, now and hereafter, need not pay toll to private monopolies of power and raw material, we demand that such resources shall be retained by the state or nation and opened to immediate use under laws which will encourage development and make to the people a moderate return for benefits conferred.

In particular we pledge our party to require reasonable compensation to the public for water power rights hereafter granted by the public. We pledge legislation to lease the public grazing lands under equitable provisions now pending which will increase the production of food for the people and thoroughly safeguard the rights of the actual home makers. Natural resources whose conservation is necessary for the national welfare should be owned and controlled by the nation.

Waterways.

The rivers of the United States are the natural arteries of this continent. We demand that they shall be opened to traffic as indispensable parts of a great nation-wide system of transportation in which the Panama canal will be the central link, thus enabling the whole interior of the United States to share with the Atlantic and Pacific seaboard in the benefit derived from the canal.

It is a national obligation to develop our rivers, and especially the Mississippi and its tributaries, without delay, under a comprehensive general plan covering each river system, from its source to its mouth, designed to secure its highest usefulness for navigation, irrigation, domestic supply, water power and the prevention of floods. We pledge our party to the immediate preparation of such a plan, which should be made and carried out in close and friendly co-operation between the nation, the state and the cities affected.

Under such a plan the destructive floods of the Mississippi and other streams, which represent a vast and needless loss to the nation, would be controlled by forest conservation and water storage at the headwaters, and by levees below, land sufficient to support millions of people would be reclaimed from the deserts and swamps, water power enough to transform the industrial standing of whole states would be developed, adequate water terminals would be provided, transportation would revive, and the railroads would be compelled to co-operate as freely with the boat lines as with each other.

The equipment, organization and experience acquired in constructing the Panama canal soon will be available for the lakes-to-the-gulf deep waterway and other portions of this great work, and should be utilized by the nation in co-operation with the various states, at the lowest net cost to the people.

Panama Canal.

The Panama canal, built and paid for by the American people, must be used primarily for their benefit. We demand that the canal shall be so operated as to break the transportation monopoly now held and misused by the transcontinental railroads by maintaining sea competition with them; that ships directly or indirectly owned or controlled by American railroad corporations shall not be permitted to use the canal, and that American ships engaged in coastwise trade shall pay no tolls.

The Progressive party will favor legislation having for its aim the development of friendship and commerce between the United States and Latin-American nations.

Alaska.

The coal and other natural resources of Alaska should be opened to development at once. They are owned by the people of the United States and are safe from monopoly, waste or destruction only while so owned. We demand that they shall neither be sold nor given away except under the homestead law, but while held in government ownership shall be opened to use promptly upon liberal terms requiring immediate development.

Thus the benefit of cheap fuel will accrue to the Government of the United States and to the people of Alaska and the Pacific coast; the settlement of extensive agricultural lands will be hastened; the extermination of the salmon will be prevented, and the just and wise development of Alaskan resources will take the place of private extortion or monopoly.

We demand also that extortion or monopoly in transportation shall be prevented by the prompt acquisition, construction or improvement by the government of such railroads, harbor and other facilities for transportation as the welfare of the people may demand.

We promise the people of the Territory of Alaska the same measure of local self-government that was given to other American territories, and that federal officials appointed there shall be qualified by previous bona fide residence in the territory.

Woman Suffrage.

The Progressive party, believing that no people can justly claim to be a true democracy which denies political rights on account of sex, pledges itself to the task of securing equal suffrage to men and women alike.

Corrupt Election Practices.

We pledge our party to legislation that will compel strict limitation of all campaign contributions and expenditures and detailed publicity of both before as well as after primaries and elections.

Publicity and Public Service.

We pledge our party to legislation compelling the registration of lobbyists; publicity of committee hearings, except on foreign affairs, and recording of all votes in committee; and forbidding federal appointees from holding office in state or national political organizations or taking part as officers or delegates in political conventions for the nomination of elective state or national officials.

Popular Review of Judicial Decisions.

The Progressive party demands such restriction of the power of the courts as shall leave to the people the ultimate authority to determine fundamental questions of social welfare and public policy. To secure this end it pledges itself to provide:

First—That when an act passed under the police power of the state is held unconstitutional under the state Constitution by the courts, the people, after an ample interval for deliberation, shall have an opportunity to vote on the question whether they desire the act to become law, notwithstanding such decision.

Second—That every decision of the highest appellate court of a state declaring an act of the Legislature unconstitutional on the ground of its violation of the Federal Constitution shall be subject to the same review by the Supreme Court of the United States as is now accorded to decisions sustaining such legislation.

Administration of Justice.

The Progressive party, in order to secure to the people a better administration of justice, and by that means to bring about a more general respect for the law and the courts, pledges itself to work unceasingly for the reform of legal procedure and judicial methods.

We believe that the issuance of injunctions in cases arising out of labor disputes should be prohibited when such injunctions would not apply when no labor disputes existed.

We also believe that a person cited for contempt in labor disputes, except when such contempt was committed in the actual presence of the court or so near thereto as to interfere with the proper administration of justice, should have a right to trial by jury.

A Department of Labor.

We pledge our party to establish a department of labor, with a seat in the Cabinet, and with wide jurisdiction over matters affecting the conditions of labor and living.

Country Life.

The development and prosperity of country life are as important to the people who live in the cities as they are to the farmers. Increase of prosperity on the farm will favorably affect the cost of living and promote the interests of all who dwell in the country and all who depend upon its products for clothing, shelter and food.

We pledge our party to foster the development of agricultural credit and co-operation, the teaching of agriculture in schools, agricultural college extension, the use of mechanical power on the farm and to re-establish the country life commission, thus directly promoting the welfare of the farmers and bringing the benefits of better farming, better business and better living within their reach.

National Health Service.

We favor the union of all the existing agencies of the Federal Government dealing with the public health into a single national health service, without discrimination against or for any one set of therapeutic methods, school of medicine or school of healing, with such additional powers as may be necessary to enable it to perform efficiently such duties in the protection of the public from preventable disease as may be properly undertaken by the federal authorities, including the executing of existing laws regarding pure food; quarantine and cognate subjects; the promotion of appropriate action for the improvement of vital statistics and the extension of the registration area of such statistics, and co-operation with the health activities of the various states and cities of the nation.

Patents.

We pledge ourselves to the enactment of a patent law which will make it impossible for patents to be suppressed or used against the public welfare in the interest of injurious monopolies.

Interstate Commerce Commission.

We pledge our party to secure to the Interstate Commerce Commission the power to value the physical property of railroads. In order that the power of the commission to protect the people may not be impaired or destroyed, we demand the abolition of the commerce court.

Good Roads.

We recognize the vital importance of good roads, and we pledge our party to foster their extension in every proper way, and we favor the early construction of national highways. We also favor the extension of the rural free delivery service.

Inheritance and Income Tax.

We believe in a graduated inheritance tax as a national means of equalizing the obligations of holders of property to government, and we hereby pledge our party to enact such a federal law as will tax large inheritances, returning to the states an equitable percentage of all amounts collected. We favor the ratification of the pending amendment to the Constitution giving the government power to levy an income tax.

Peace and National Defense.

The Progressive party deplors the survival in our civilization of the barbaric system of warfare among nations, with its enormous waste of resources even in time of peace, and the consequent impoverishment of the life of the toiling masses. We pledge the party to use its best endeavors to substitute judicial and other peaceful means of settling international differences.

We favor an international agreement for the limitation of naval forces. Pending such an agreement, and as the best means of preserving peace, we pledge ourselves to maintain for the present the policy of building two battleships a year.

Protection of American Citizens Abroad.

We pledge our party to protect the rights of American citizenship at home and abroad. No treaty should receive the sanction of our government which discriminates between American citizens because of birthplace, race or religion, or that does not recognize the absolute right of expatriation.

Immigration.

Through the establishment of industrial standards we propose to secure to the able-bodied immigrant and to his native fellow-workers a larger share of American opportunity.

We denounce the fatal policy of indifference and neglect which has left our enormous immigrant population to become the prey of chance and cupidity. We favor governmental action to encourage the distribution of immigrants away from the congested cities, to rigidly supervise all private agencies dealing with them and to promote their assimilation, education and advancement.

Pensions.

We pledge ourselves to a wise and just policy of pensioning American soldiers and sailors and their widows and children by the Federal Government.

And we approve the policy of the Southern States in granting pensions to the ex-Confederate soldiers and sailors and their widows and children.

Parcel Post.

We pledge our party to the immediate creation of a parcel post, with rates proportionate to distance and service.

The Civil Service Law.

We condemn the violations of the civil service law under the present administration, including the coercion and assessment of subordinate employes, and the President's refusal to punish such violation after a finding of guilty by his own commission; his distribution of patronage among subservient Congressmen while withholding it from those who refuse support of administration measures; his withdrawal of nominations from the Senate until political support for himself was secured, and his open use of the offices to reward those who voted for his renomination.

To eradicate these abuses we demand not only the enforcement of the civil service act in letter and spirit, but also legislation which will bring under the competitive system postmasters, collectors, marshals and all other nonpolitical officers, as well as the enactment of an equitable retirement law, and we also insist on continuous service during good behavior and efficiency.

Government Business Organization.

We pledge our party to readjustment of the business methods of the National Government and a proper co-ordination of the federal bureaus which will increase the economy and efficiency of the government service, prevent duplications and secure better results to the taxpayers for every dollar expended.

Supervision Over Investments.

The people of the United States are swindled out of many millions of dollars every year through worthless investments. The plain people, the wage-earners and the men and women with small savings, have no way of knowing the merit of concerns sending out highly colored prospectuses offering stock for sale, prospectuses that make big returns seem certain and fortunes easily within grasp.

We hold it to be the duty of the government to protect its people from this kind of piracy. We therefore demand wise, carefully thought-out legislation that will give us such governmental supervision over this matter as will furnish to the people of the United States this much-needed protection, and we pledge ourselves thereto.

Conclusion.

On these principles and on the recognized desirability of uniting the progressive forces of the nation into an organization which shall unequivocally represent the progressive spirit and policy, we appeal for the support of all American citizens, without regard to previous political affiliations.

PROGRESSIVE SUBNATIONAL PLATFORM.

The Progressive party has come into existence to meet and solve the new problems of social and political life, and to offer to all Progressives, of whatsoever former party affiliation, a common ground to make war against the forces of privilege now strongly entrenched in and in control of the two old political parties.

We heartily indorse the declaration of principles adopted by the National Convention of the Progressive party at Chicago, and adopt the same in its entirety as the solemn contract of this party with the people of the State of Missouri.

We regard the choice of Theodore Roosevelt and Hiram W. Johnson as the standard bearers of the party to be an earnest of the good faith of its pledges and a guarantee of their full and unqualified performance.

Social and Industrial Justice.

We invite attention to the fact that for the first time a great party has pledged itself, as Miss Jane Addams said, "to the protection of children, to the care of the aged, to the relief of overworked girls, and to the safeguarding of burdened men."

We hold with Theodore Roosevelt that we cannot afford to let any group of citizens or any individual citizen live or labor under conditions that are injurious or inimicable to the common welfare. To this end we will carry out, so far as possible in this State, the pledges of the national platform for the prevention of industrial accidents and diseases; the fixing and regulation of health and safety standards; the prohibition of child labor; the establishment of minimum wage standards for working women; prohibition of night work for women; eight-hour day laws for women and children; one day's rest in seven for all wage-earners; the abolition of contract convict labor, and the application of prisoners' wages to the support of their families; adequate inspection and full publicity of industrial conditions; a workingman's compensation act; the protection of home life against the hazards of sickness, irregular employment and old age through some system of social insurance, and for the organization of wage-earners.

State Institutions.

We favor the improvement and the more efficient control of the State's charitable and penal institutions, and particularly the increase of accommodations of the Girls' Industrial School at Chillicothe and the Feeble-Minded Colony at Marshall. There is urgent need of increasing the accommodations at these institutions so that their inmates may be more properly cared for. We advocate the immediate establishment of a reformatory for first offenders on the plan of the Elmira, N. Y., Reformatory, where trade training and proper education may be given offenders susceptible of reformation. We urge that counties or groups of counties establish farm colonies on the plan of the Kansas City Municipal Farm, where petty offenders may be given reformatory treatment.

We also favor the extension to the entire State of the operation of the "Widows' allowance law," now effective in Jackson county alone, in order that the children of indigent mothers who become a charge upon the State may be reared under home influences.

Development of Resources.

We pledge our candidates to work for a comprehensive and effective plan to promote the migration of settlers to Missouri and the development of the State's unimproved and unsettled lands. Agriculture is the foundation of the prosperity of the state and nation. By a co-operative system the farmers of Europe are able to borrow money on more favorable terms than are open to American farmers. We favor the development of agricultural credit and co-operation.

It is important that our roads and highways be improved. Better roads will bring the farms of Missouri closer to the markets; will increase rural school efficiency; promote social intercourse, and increase farm values. We favor an effective system of State aid in road-building in connection with local contribution.

We pledge ourselves to promote the development and navigation of the State's waterways, and especially endorse the suggestion of Theodore Roosevelt to bring the Panama canal equipment to the states for the improvement of the Mississippi, the Missouri and other inland watercourses. In this connection we also suggest the employment of federal convicts in this work.

Public Utilities.

Experience has demonstrated the most effective way of regulating rates and the service of public utilities corporations like railroads, street railroads, telephone, electric lighting, water, water power and gas companies is by a state public utilities commission. We favor the establishing of such a commission with full power of law to compel good service, establish reasonable rates and charges, supervise the capital and indebtedness of these companies, and co-operate with city governments in the regulation and control of such utilities as are conducted wholly within city limits.

In furtherance of such rate and service regulation, we favor extending municipal powers for acquiring public utilities. The right to issue municipal bonds for public utilities should be exempt from the present constitutional limitation upon the debt-making power of our municipalities. We pledge our efforts to secure the constitutional amendment to issue public utility bonds secured by a lien on the public utilities property without pledging the general credit of the municipality.

Education.

We favor the extension of vocational education, including agricultural training. We also favor State aid for communities which need it to maintain longer terms of school.

Taxation.

We favor a thorough revision of the revenue laws of the State, so as to insure an equitable and nondiscriminating distribution of the burdens of government.

Rule of the People.

In order to maintain improved standards of living, the people must be able to control more directly in political and governmental affairs.

We favor the primary system of nomination of candidates for elective offices, and pledge our party to the maintenance of the present laws on this subject, with such amendments thereto as will insure its more perfect operation. We favor a presidential preference primary law and the Oregon plan for the popular election of United States Senators until such time as the federal amendment for the election of Senators becomes effective.

We approve the State initiative and referendum and favor its extension to city and county matters. We also pledge ourselves to provide for the recall of all elective officers.

We also favor the short ballot with the names of the candidates grouped as provided under the Massachusetts law, so as to encourage independent voting and prevent the confusion which occurs with the present ballot.

Equal Suffrage.

As a part of the progressive movement, we favor equal suffrage for men and women, so that the hitherto unorganized forces of woman's moral energy may be directly available to promote our new program of social justice and enlightenment.

Merit System.

We favor the application of the merit system in all its subdivisions so that government may be made as efficient as possible.

Commission Government.

The commission form of government for cities has proved its efficiency, and we recommend extending to the municipalities of Missouri the right to adopt the commission form of government if they so desire.

The Judiciary.

We demand such restrictions of the power of the courts as shall leave to the people the ultimate authority to determine fundamental questions of social welfare and public policy.

Reform of Judicial Procedure.

It is of the highest importance that the courts of justice should command the confidence and respect of all the people. The administration of both criminal and civil law is now the subject of much suspicion and criticism. To restore the administration of justice to its proper place in public opinion, some fundamental reforms are necessary. We recommend the revision and recodification of the code of criminal procedure and substantial amendments to the civil code, to the end that the administration of justice be prompt, exact, free and equal. No verdict or judgment in civil or criminal cases, in our opinion, should be reversed for any error in the trial unless it affirmatively appears that the error of the trial court complained of was in fact prejudicial. The Progressive party specifically pledges itself to these reforms in this State.

Blue Sky Laws.

We favor the supervision by the State Government of the issuance and sale of so-called "wildcat" stocks and bonds, and we pledge our party to the enactment of such laws as will protect innocent investors and a confiding public from irresponsible promoters and dealers in worthless securities.

Home Rule.

As government by the people is the foundation stone of the Progressive party, we believe in home rule for cities and in local self-government; not for the purpose of nullifying State laws, but for insuring conditions, social, industrial and moral, in harmony with the desires and interest of the people. And to insure full and nonpartisan enforcement of the laws, both local and State, we favor bipartisan boards for the control of police, elections and excise matters, subject at all times to the power in the Governor of the State to suspend or remove derelict officials who fail to properly enforce the laws of the State.

Political Equality.

We hold that the door of opportunity should open equally to black and white, and we stand for the equal protection of all persons of every race, color and condition of life.

Conclusion.

Through such measures of social and industrial justice, and through the development of the State's resources, the standards of living for all citizens will be improved.

Through the rule of the people these ends will be best promoted. For the establishment of these great principles we invite the co-operation of all progressive citizens.

PROGRESSIVE STATE CONVENTION, 1912.

The Progressive State Convention assembled in Jefferson City September 10, 1912. The permanent officers were L. A. Ellis of Kansas City, chairman, and John A. Galbraith of Clinton, secretary.

Agriculture is the foundation of the prosperity of the state and the nation. By a co-operative system the farmers of Europe are able to borrow money on more favorable terms than are open to American farmers. We favor the development of agricultural credit and co-operation. We recommend the passage of stringent pure seed laws.

It is important that our roads and highways be improved. Better roads will bring the farms of Missouri closer to the markets; will increase rural school efficiency; promote social intercourse, and increase farm values. We favor an effective system of State aid in road-building in connection with local contribution.

PROHIBITION PARTY.

PROHIBITION NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The Prohibition party of the United States of America, in convention at Atlantic City, N. J., July 11, 1912, recognizing God as the source of all governmental authority, makes the following declaration of principles:

THE PLATFORM.

(Adopted at Atlantic City, N. J., July 11, 1912.)

The alcoholic drink traffic is wrong, the most serious drain upon the nation's wealth and resources, detrimental to the general welfare, destructive of the inalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and therefore all laws taxing or licensing a traffic that produces crime, poverty and political corruption and spreads disease and death should be repealed. To destroy such a traffic there must be elected to power a political party which will administer the government from the standpoint that the alcoholic drink traffic is a crime and not a business, and we pledge that the manufacture, importation, exportation, transportation and sale of alcoholic beverages shall be prohibited.

We favor:

The election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people.

Presidential terms of six years, and one term only.

Uniform marriage and divorce laws.

The extermination of polygamy and the complete suppression of the traffic in girls.

Suffrage for women upon the same terms as to men.

Court review as to postoffice and other departmental decisions and orders; the establishment of postal savings banks, the extension of the rural delivery and the establishment of an efficient parcel post, and add the following planks:

The protection of one day in seven as a day of rest.

The absolute protection of the rights of labor without impairment of the rights of capital.

The settlement of all international disputes by arbitration.

The initiative, referendum and recall.

The tariff is a commercial question and should be fixed on the basis of accurate knowledge secured by a permanent omnipartisan tariff commission with ample powers.

The abolition of child labor in the mines, workshops and factories, with the rigid enforcement of laws now flagrantly violated.

Equitable graduated income and inheritance taxes.

Conservation of our mineral and forest reserves, reclamation of arid and waste lands, and we urge that all mineral and timber lands and water powers now owned by the government to be held perpetually and leased for revenue purposes.

Clearly defined laws for the regulation and control of corporations transacting an interstate business.

Greater efficiency and economy in government service.

To the fundamental principles the National Prohibition party renews its long allegiance and on these issues invites the co-operation of all citizens to the end that the true object of popular government may be attained, i. e., equal and exact justice to all.

PROHIBITION STATE PLATFORM.

(Adopted at Jefferson City September 12, 1912.)

Preamble—Since God is the author of law and government, it is proper that He should be recognized in the politics of the state and nation; therefore we, the Prohibition party of Missouri, in convention assembled at Jefferson City, September 10, 1912, hereby renewing our faith in His justice and wisdom, in His name, declare as follows:

First—That the conservation of manhood and womanhood should be first in the politics of our country.

Second—For the total annihilation of the traffic in alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes.

Third—For the equality of the sexes, socially, morally and politically.

Fourth—For absolute separation of church and state.

Fifth—For reading of the Bible, without comment, in the public schools of the State.

Sixth—We are opposed to the use of public funds for the support of any sectarian schools.

Seventh—Against any form of taxation which recognizes the licensing of the sale of intoxicating liquors as a revenue measure.

Eighth—The immediate repeal of all liquor license laws, city, county and state. If the liquor traffic is a business, it should be recognized as such and treated like other lines of business. If not a business, but a crime, it is neither legally nor morally right to license it.

Ninth—As pioneers in that direction, we again declare for improved highways throughout the State, and for the use of State convicts in constructing the same.

Tenth—For the election of United States Senators by the people, which has been a part of our national platform for forty years.

Eleventh—In favor of the initiative, referendum and recall.

Twelfth—Against home (rum) rule in cities and for the rule of home in the State.

Thirteenth—We condemn as outrageous the sale of the machinery of the Democratic and Republican parties in 1910 to the beer oligarchy, which is responsible for the defeat of the prohibition amendment to the Constitution voted on at that time, and call upon the decent manhood of the State to rebuke such wholesale treachery to the rights and welfare of the people.

Fourteenth—For the complete annihilation of the vice preserves of our cities; and denounce as infamous the way that our State and city officials have permitted this crime against womanhood for the past generation, and further demand the suppression of the traffic in women, both white and black.

Fifteenth—For the only remedy for dishonest elections, the placing of honest men in office in a party not dominated by the liquor power.

Sixteenth—That we stand as the only organization, political, social, moral, temperance or religious, that declared for the submission of the prohibition amendment in 1912, and we believe that the failure to submit such amendment was unwise and gave comfort to the liquor forces and politicians.

Seventeenth—That there can be no progress in politics as long as the liquor traffic predominates.

Eighteenth—For commission form of government for municipalities.

 Nineteenth—For the abolition of the fee system.

Twentieth—We condemn the features of the present primary law that are oppressive to candidates, making it difficult to meet the endless chain of expenses.

Twenty-first—And we hereby pledge our allegiance to the principles set forth in the national platform adopted at Atlantic City, July 12, 1912, and adopt them as our rules of faith in national affairs.

Twenty-second—And we ask the support at the ballot box of all citizens to the foregoing declaration of principles who believe in the greatest good to the greatest number.

SOCIALIST PARTY.

THE SOCIALIST NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The Socialist National Convention was held at Indianapolis, Ind., May 16, 1912, and nominated Eugene V. Debs of Indiana for President and Emil Seidel of Wisconsin for Vice-President.

THE PLATFORM.

(Adopted at Indianapolis, Ind., May 16, 1912.)

The representatives of the Socialist party, in National Convention at Indianapolis, declare that the capitalist system has outgrown its historical function, and has become utterly incapable of meeting the problems now confronting society. We denounce this outgrown system as incompetent and corrupt and the source of unspeakable misery and suffering to the whole working class.

Under this system the industrial equipment of the nation has passed into the absolute control of a plutocracy which exacts an annual tribute of millions of dollars from the producers. Unafraid of any organized resistance, it stretches out its greedy hands over the still undeveloped resources of the nation—the land, the mines, the forests and the water powers of every state in the Union.

In spite of the multiplication of labor-saving machines and improved methods in industry which cheapen the cost of production, the share of the producers grows ever less and the prices of all the necessities of life steadily increase. The boasted prosperity of this nation is for the owning class alone. To the rest it means only greater hardship and misery. The high cost of living is felt in every home. Millions of wageworkers have seen the purchasing power of their wages decrease until life has become a desperate battle for mere existence.

Multitudes of unemployed walk the streets of our cities or trudge from state to state awaiting the will of the masters to move the wheels of industry.

The farmers in every state are plundered by the increasing prices exacted for tools and machinery and by extortionate freight rates and storage charges.

Capitalism Denounced.

Capitalist concentration is mercilessly crushing the class of small business men and driving its members into the ranks of propertyless wageworkers. The overwhelming majority of the people of America are being forced under a yoke of bondage by this soulless industrial despotism.

It is this capitalist system that is responsible for the increasing burden of armaments, the poverty, slums, child labor, most of the insanity, crime and prostitution, and much of the disease that afflicts mankind.

Under this system the working class is exposed to poisonous conditions, to frightful and needless perils to life and limb, is walled around with court decisions, injunctions and unjust laws, and is preyed upon incessantly for the benefit of the controlling oligarchy of wealth. Under it, also, the children of the working class are doomed to ignorance, drudging toil and darkened lives.

In the face of these evils, so manifest that all thoughtful observers are appalled at them, the legislative representatives of the Republican and Democratic parties remain the faithful servants of the oppressors. Measures designed to secure to the wage-earners of this nation as humane and just treatment as is already enjoyed by the wage-earners of all other civilized nations have been smothered in committee without debate, and laws ostensibly designed to bring relief to the farmers and general consumers are juggled and transformed into instruments for the exaction of further tribute. The growing unrest under oppression has driven these two old parties to the enactment of a variety of regulative measures, none of which has limited in any appreciable degree the power of the plutocracy, and some of which have been perverted into means for increasing that power. Antitrust laws, railroad restrictions and regulations, with the prosecutions, indictments and investigations based upon such legislation, have proved to be utterly futile and ridiculous.

Nor has this plutocracy been seriously restrained or even threatened by any Republican or Democratic executive. It has continued to grow in power and insolence alike under the administrations of Cleveland, McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft.

In addition to this legislative juggling and this executive connivance, the courts of America have sanctioned and strengthened the hold of this plutocracy as the Dred Scott and other decisions strengthened the slave power before the Civil war.

We declare, therefore, that the longer sufferance of these conditions is impossible, and we purpose to end them all. We declare them to be the product of the present system in which industry is carried on for private greed, instead of for the welfare of society. We declare, furthermore, that for these evils there will be and can be no remedy and no substantial relief except through socialism, under which industry will be carried on for the common good and every worker receive the full social value of the wealth he creates.

Society is divided into warring groups and classes, based upon material interests. Fundamentally, this struggle is a conflict between the two main classes, one of which, the capitalist class, owns the means of production, and the other, the working class, must use these means of production on terms dictated by the owners.

The capitalist class, though few in numbers, absolutely controls the government—legislative, executive and judicial. This class owns the machinery of gathering and disseminating news through its organized press. It subsidizes seats of learning—the colleges and schools—and even religious and moral agencies. It has also the added prestige which established customs give to any order of society, right or wrong.

The working class, which includes all those who are forced to work for a living, whether by hand or brain, in shop, mine or on the soil, vastly outnumbers the capitalist class. Lacking effective organization and class solidarity, this class is unable to enforce its will. Given such class solidarity and effective organization, the workers will have the power to make all laws and control all industry in their own interest.

All political parties are the expression of economic class interests. All other parties than the Socialist party represent one or another group of the ruling capitalist class. Their political conflicts reflect merely superficial rivalries between competing capitalist groups. However they result, these conflicts have no issue of real value to the workers. Whether the Democrats or Republicans win politically, it is the capitalist class that is victorious economically.

Socialism the Expression of the Workers.

The Socialist party is the political expression of the economic interests of the workers. Its defeats have been their defeats and its victories their victories. It is a party founded on the science and laws of social development. It proposes that, since all social necessities today are socially produced, the means of their production and distribution shall be socially owned and democratically controlled.

In the face of the economic and political aggressions of the capitalist class the only reliance left the workers is that of their economic organizations and their political power. By the intelligent and class-conscious use of these, they may resist successfully the capitalist class, break the fetters of wage slavery, and fit themselves for the future society, which is to displace the capitalist system. The Socialist party appreciates the full significance of class organization and urges the wage-earners, the working farmers and all other useful workers everywhere to organize for economic and political action, and we pledge ourselves to support the toilers of the fields as well as those in the shops, factories and mines of the nation in their struggles for economic justice.

In the defeat or victory of the working class party in this new struggle for freedom lies the defeat or triumph of the common people of all economic groups, as well as the failure or the triumph of popular government. Thus the Socialist party is the party of the present-day revolution, which marks the transition from economic individualism to socialism, from wage slavery to free co-operation, from capitalist oligarchy to industrial democracy.

Working Program.

As measures calculated to strengthen the working class in its fight for the realization of its ultimate aim, the co-operative commonwealth, and to increase its power of resistance against capitalist oppression, we advocate and pledge ourselves and our elected officers to the following program:

Collective Ownership.

First—The collective ownership and democratic management of railroads, wire and wireless telegraphs and telephones, express service, steamboat lines and all other social means of transportation and communication and of all large-scale industries.

Second—The immediate acquirement by the municipalities, the states or the Federal Government of all grain elevators, stockyards, storage warehouses, and other distributing agencies, in order to reduce the present extortionate cost of living.

Third—The extension of the public domain to include mines, quarries, oil wells, forests and water power.

Fourth—The further conservation and development of natural resources for the use and benefit of all the people:

- (a) By scientific forestation and timber protection.
- (b) By the reclamation of arid and swamp tracts.
- (c) By the storage of flood waters and the utilization of water power.
- (d) By the stoppage of the present extravagant waste of the soil and of the products of mines and oil wells.

(e) By the development of highway and waterway systems.

Fifth—The collective ownership of land wherever practicable, and in cases where such ownership is impracticable, the appropriation by taxation of the annual rental value of all land held for speculation or exploitation.

Sixth—The collective ownership and democratic management of the banking and currency system.

Unemployment.

The immediate government relief of the unemployed by the extension of all useful public works. All persons employed on such works to be engaged directly by the government under a workday of not more than eight hours and at not less than the prevailing union wages. The government also to establish employment bureaus; to lend money to states and municipalities, without interest, for the purpose of carrying on public works, and to take such other measures within its power as will lessen the widespread misery of the workers caused by the misrule of the capitalist class.

Industrial Demands.

The conservation of human resources, particularly of the lives and well-being of the workers and their families:

First—By shortening the workday in keeping with the increased productiveness of machinery.

Second—By securing to every worker a rest period of not less than a day and a half in each week.

Third—By securing a more effective inspection of workshops, factories and mines.

Fourth—By forbidding the employment of children under sixteen years of age.

Fifth—By abolishing the brutal exploitation of convicts under the contract system and prohibiting the sale of goods so produced in competition with other labor.

Sixth—By forbidding the interstate transportation of the products of child labor, of convict labor and of all uninspected factories and mines.

Seventh—By abolishing the profit system in government work, and substituting either the direct hire of labor or the awarding of contracts to co-operative groups of workers.

Eighth—By establishing minimum wage scales.

Ninth—By abolishing official charity and substituting a noncontributory system of old-age pensions, a general system of insurance by the state of all its members against unemployment and invalidism and a system of compulsory insurance by employers of their workers, without cost to the latter, against industrial diseases, accidents and death.

Political Demands.

First—The absolute freedom of press, speech and assemblage.

Second—The adoption of a graduated income tax, the increase of the rates of the present corporation tax and the extension of inheritance taxes, graduated in proportion to the value of the estate and to nearness of kin—the proceeds of these taxes to be employed in the socialization of industry.

Third—The gradual reduction of all tariff duties, particularly those on the necessities of life. The government to guarantee the re-employment of wage-earners who may be dis-employed by reason of changes in tariff schedules.

Fourth—The abolition of the monopoly ownership of patents and the substitution of collective ownership, with direct rewards to inventors by premiums or royalties.

Fifth—Unrestricted and equal suffrage for men and women.

Sixth—The adoption of the initiative, referendum and recall and of proportional representation, nationally as well as locally.

Seventh—The abolition of the Senate and of the veto power of the President.

Eighth—The election of the President and Vice-President by direct vote of the people.

Ninth—The abolition of the power usurped by the Supreme Court of the United States to pass upon the constitutionality of the legislation enacted by Congress. National laws to be repealed only by act of Congress or by a referendum vote of the whole people.

Tenth—The abolition of the present restrictions upon the amendment of the Constitution, so that that instrument may be made amendable by a majority of the voters in a majority of the states.

Eleventh—The granting of the right of suffrage in the District of Columbia with representation in Congress and a democratic form of municipal government for purely local affairs.

Twelfth—The extension of democratic government to all United States territory.

Thirteenth—The enactment of further measures for general education and particularly for vocational education in useful pursuits. The Bureau of Education to be made a department.

Fourteenth—The enactment of further measures for the conservation of health. The creation of an independent Bureau of Health, with such restrictions as will secure full liberty to all schools of practice.

Fifteenth—The separation of the present Bureau of Labor from the Department of Commerce and Labor and its elevation to the rank of a department.

Sixteenth—Abolition of all Federal District Courts and the United States Circuit Courts of Appeals. State courts to have jurisdiction in all cases arising between citizens of the several states and foreign corporations. The election of all judges for short terms.

Seventeenth—The immediate curbing of the power of the courts to issue injunctions.

Eighteenth—The free administration of justice.

Nineteenth—The calling of a convention for the revision of the Constitution of the United States.

Such measures of relief as we may be able to force from capitalism are but a preparation of the workers to seize the whole powers of government, in order that they may thereby lay hold of the whole system of socialized industry and thus come to their rightful inheritance.

SOCIALIST PARTY NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

John M. Work, acting national secretary, 111 North Washington street, Chicago.

This organization, known nationally as the Socialist party, is officially known as the Social Democratic party in Wisconsin and the Public Ownership party in Minnesota, to conform to the election laws in those states. The National Executive Committee is composed of seven members, elected by a national referendum of party members. The national secretary is elected in like manner. The term of office is one year. The following are the members of the National Executive Committee:

Victor L. Berger, Milwaukee, Wis.; Morris Hillquit, New York, N. Y.; Job Harriman, Los Angeles, Cal.; Wm. D. Haywood, Denver, Colo.; Alexander Irvine, Los Angeles, Cal.; Kate Richards O'Hare, St. Louis, Mo.; John Spargo, Old Bennington, Vt. The National Committee is composed of representatives from each organized state or territory, of which there are 47. Representation is as follows: The National Committee consists of the state secretaries of all organized states and territories, or such other person as the members of the party in the state elect by referendum vote, with one additional member from each state or territory for every three thousand members in good standing in such state or territory. For the purpose of determining the representation to which each state or territory may be entitled, the national secretary computes the beginning of each calendar year the average dues-paying membership of such state or territory for the preceding year. Three years' consecutive membership in the party is necessary to qualify for membership in the National Committee.

SOCIALIST STATE PLATFORM, 1912.

The Socialist party of Missouri, in convention assembled, pledges its fidelity and allegiance to the Socialist party of the United States, and endorses its national constitution, platform and program.

The Socialist party of Missouri stands unqualifiedly for the abolition of the capitalist wage and profit system which makes wage-slaves out of the working men, women and children.

We stand for the collective ownership of the means of production and distribution, i. e., for the Socialist co-operative commonwealth, which will guarantee to the wealth-producing working class the full product of their labor.

Modern capitalist production, based on the system of wage slavery and exploitation of the many by the few, produces the economic basis for the present class division in society. On the one side are the confiscators and owners of the natural resources and means of production—the capitalist class—while on the other side are the great masses of working people who are dependent for a living on the selling of their labor power to the capitalists. By selling their labor power to the capitalist owner of the means of production the wage-workers are selling themselves for so many hours, weeks, months or years of their natural life, and have their physical and mental energy and vitality exploited by the employing class.

Political parties are founded on an economic basis, and their actions are guided by material class interests. The history of our own country furnishes the best conclusive proof of the correctness of this statement.

Within the last century the system of wealth production and distribution, and the entire system of transportation and communication, has completely revolutionized the life of every nation on the face of the earth. But of all the countries no other has undergone such a radical economic revolution as our own.

These new economic conditions have produced new material class interests and class privileges. In order to strengthen, protect and perpetuate these new class interests for the benefit of the few, to the detriment of the many, the ruling class will always endeavor to control the political life of the country and get into absolute possession of the legislative bodies in city, state and nation.

Conflicting material interests among the capitalists occasionally give rise to a new capitalist party. But this in nowise alters the general character of the struggle between the capitalist class and the working class. The Progressive party, which is the result of the recent split in the Republican party, is merely a new capitalist party, organized, financed and controlled by capitalist interests similar to those that finance and control the Republican and Democratic parties.

The never-ceasing efforts on the part of the capitalist class to control the lawmaking machinery of the people and thereby give legal sanction and perpetuation to their class privileges, necessarily lead to political organization on the part of the working class, the result being political class struggles.

Thus the Socialist party has sprung into existence as the natural result of the struggle between the capitalist class and the working class. The Socialist party stands for the interest of the working class and its mission is to organize the working class into a powerful political party under the banner of socialism.

The great mass of the wageworkers are fast beginning to see that the land, natural resources, and the means of production, distribution, transportation and communication have been monopolized by the few, while the many are hopelessly slaving and suffering from the cradle to the grave. Powerful trusts and combinations have monopolized the means of life of the American people and are today dictating the prices for everything the people must eat, drink, wear and use. This outrageous work of confiscation and legalized robbery has been successfully carried on with the help, sanction and protection of the Republican and Democratic parties. The Socialist party insists that the working class and those in sympathy with this great modern Socialist and labor movement take possession of the lawmaking machinery by electing Socialist representatives to the State Legislature and other offices, where they can curb the dangerous power of the capitalist class, enact legislation for the benefit of the working class and lay the political foundation for the social ownership of the means of production and distribution. We appeal to the working class of Missouri and to all those in sympathy with our great cause to recognize the fact that "the emancipation of the working class must be achieved by the workers themselves," through their own political and economic organizations. Therefore, rally to the banner of the Socialist party and contribute your share of work to the noble cause of labor's emancipation and for a higher civilization.

Program.

In order to ameliorate labor's condition and bring about immediate economic and political reforms, we insist on the enactment of the following legislative measures:

1. Legislation authorizing municipalities and counties to build, acquire, own and operate street railways, electric light and power plants, and other public utilities for public use.
2. Municipal home rule, empowering the citizens of every municipality to manage their own public affairs without the interference of the Governor or any other State official.
3. Employers' liability law for the protection of all wageworkers.
4. Invalidity and old-age insurance law.
5. The State to monopolize and conduct as a public institution all life, fire and accident insurance.
6. Free textbooks for the public school children throughout the State; an efficient compulsory education law; also a comprehensive law applying to all cities and towns whereby a manual training department may be added, together with power to acquire, build and equip for such purpose.
7. Votes for women; equal political and civil rights for men and women.
8. Extension of legislation for the protection of health and life in factories and workshops; also extension of the factory inspection and child-labor laws.
9. Abolition of the contract system on public work. Such work to be done directly by the State, county or municipality, as the case may be, under union conditions at union wages.

10. Legislation prohibiting the erection or maintenance of stockades or any other places for lodging strike-breakers in or about the premises of industrial or commercial establishments.

11. That the State Mine Inspectors be elected by direct vote of those engaged in the mining industry, instead of being appointed by the Governor of the State, such inspectors to be experienced miners.

12. Stringent rules governing the inspection and regulation of the use of stage hoists, scaffolding and other appliances used in the erection or repairing of buildings, and rigid enforcement of the same.

13. Women and children shall not be employed in establishments or occupations where the conditions of labor are injurious to health or dangerous to life.

14. No private detective or strike-breaker agency shall be permitted to operate within the State of Missouri under any condition.

15. The State and municipalities shall have absolute control of the labor employment agencies, and no private employment agencies shall be permitted to do business within the State of Missouri.

16. It shall be unconstitutional for any court or other public official to set aside or annul any law or legal provision enacted by the people or their duly chosen representatives in the State Legislature.

17. It shall be unconstitutional for any court of law or judge to apply the writ of injunction in cases of labor strikes or boycotts; neither shall such writ be applied in any manner as a means of preventing the working people from improving their condition by organized efforts.

18. A legal eight-hour workday and a minimum wage law.

19. All wages to be paid in lawful money of the United States.

20. A law prohibiting the use of the militia or police for the purpose of breaking strikes.

21. Abolition of capital punishment; also abolition of money fines in criminal cases. Compensation for damages caused by unjust arrest and imprisonment.

22. In all criminal law cases the State shall conduct the defense as well as the prosecution free of charge; circuit judges shall not have the right to take civil cases from the jury.

23. We favor the use of voting machines.

24. In addition to the direct legislation (initiative and referendum) already enacted, we demand the imperative mandate (better known as the recall), and proportional representation for all legislative bodies.

25. The extension of the public domain to include mines, quarries, oil wells, forests and water power.

26. The immediate acquirement by the municipalities or the State of all grain elevators, stockyards, storage warehouses and other distributing agencies, in order to reduce the present extortionate cost of living as much as possible.

27. The immediate State relief of the unemployed by the extension of all useful public works. All persons employed on such works to be engaged directly by the State under a workday of not more than eight hours and at not less than the prevailing union wages.

28. The collective ownership of land whenever practicable, and in cases where such ownership is impracticable, the appropriation by taxation of the annual rental value of all land held for speculation or exploitation.

29. Abolition of the State Senate and of the veto power of the Governor.

SOCIALIST LABOR PARTY.

THE SOCIALIST LABOR NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The Socialist Labor Convention met in New York on April 10, 1912.

THE PLATFORM.

(Adopted at New York April 10, 1912.)

The Socialist Labor party of the United States of America, in National Convention assembled in New York on April 10, 1912, reaffirming its previous platform pronouncements, and in accord with the international Socialist movement, declares:

Social conditions, as illustrated by the events that crowded into the last four years, have ripened so fast that each and all the principles hitherto proclaimed by the Socialist Labor party, and all and each the methods that the Socialist Labor party has hitherto advocated, stand today most conspicuously demonstrated.

The capitalist social system has wrought its own destruction. Its leading exponents, the present incumbent in the presidential chair, and his "illustrious predecessor," however seemingly at war with each other on principles, cannot conceal the identity of their political views. The oligarchy proclaimed by the tenets of the one, the monarchy proclaimed by the tenets of the other, jointly proclaim the conviction of the foremost men in the ruling class that the republic of capital is at the end of its tether.

True to the economic laws from which socialism proceeds, dominant wealth has to such an extent concentrated into the hands of a select few, the plutocracy, that the lower layers of the capitalist class feel driven to the ragged edge, while the large majority of the people, the working class, are being submerged.

True to the sociologic laws, by the right of which socialism reads its forecasts, the plutocracy is breaking through its republic-democratic shell and is stretching out its hands towards absolutism in government; the property-holding layers below it are turning at bay; the proletariat is awakening to its consciousness of class, and thereby to the perception of its historic mission.

In the midst of this hurly, all the colors of the rainbow are being projected upon the social mists from the prevalent confusion of thought.

From the lower layers of the capitalist class the bolder, yet foolhardy, portion bluntly demands that "the trust be smashed."

Even if the trust could, it should not be smashed; even if it should, it cannot. The law of social progress pushes towards a system of production that shall crown the efforts of man, without arduous toil, with an abundance of the necessities for material existence, to the end of allowing leisure for mental and spiritual expansion. The trust is a mechanical contrivance wherewith to solve the problem. To smash the contrivance were to re-introduce the days of small-fry competition and set back the hands on the dial of time. The mere thought is foolhardy. He who undertakes the feat might as well brace himself against the cascade of Niagara. The cascade of social evolution would whelm him.

The less bold among the smaller property-holding element proposes to "curb" the trust with a variety of schemes. The very forces of social evolution that propel the development of the trust stamp the "curbing" schemes, whether political or economic, as childish. They are attempts to hold back a runaway horse by the tail. The laws by which the attempt has been tried strew the path of the runaway. They are splintered to pieces with its kicks, and serve only to furnish a livelihood for the corporation and the anti-corporation lawyer.

From still lower layers of the same property-holding class, social layers that have sniffed the breath of socialism and imagine themselves socialists, comes the iridescent theory of capturing the trust for the people by the ballot only. The "capture of the trust for the people" implies the social revolution. To imply the social revolution with the ballot only, without the means to enforce the ballot's fiat, in case of reaction's attempt to override it, is to fire blank cartridges at a foe. It is worse. It is to threaten his existence without the means to carry out the threat. Threats of revolution without provisions to carry them out result in one of two things only—either the leaders are brought out, or the revolutionary class, to which the leaders appeal and which they succeed in drawing after themselves, are led like cattle to the shambles. The Commune disaster of France stands a monumental warning against the blunder.

An equally iridescent hue of the rainbow is projected from a still lower layer, a layer that lies almost wholly within the submerged class—the theory of capturing the trust for the working class with the fist only. The capture of the trust for the people implies something else besides revolution. It implies revolution carried on by the masses. For reasons parallel to those that decree the day of small-fry competition gone by, mass-revolutionary conspiracy is, today, an impossibility. The trust-holding plutocracy may successfully put through a conspiracy of physical force. The smallness of its numbers makes a successful conspiracy possible on its part. The hugeness of the numbers requisite for a revolution against the trust-holding plutocracy excludes conspiracy from the arsenal of the revolution. The idea of capturing the trust with physical force only is a wild chimera.

Only two programs—the program of the plutocracy and the program of the Socialist Labor party—grasp the situation.

The political state, another name for the class state, is worn out in this, the leading capitalist nation of the world, most prominently. The industrial or Socialist state is throbbing for birth. The political state, being a class state, is government separate and apart from the productive energies of the people; it is government mainly for holding the ruled class in subjection. The industrial or socialist state, being the denial of the class state, is government that is part and parcel of the productive energies of the people.

As their functions are different, so are the structures of the two states different.

The structure of the political state contemplates territorial "representation" only; the structure of the industrial state contemplates representation of industries, or useful occupations only.

The economic or industrial evolution has reached that point where the political state no longer can maintain itself under the forms of democracy. While the plutocracy has relatively shrunk, the enemies it has raised against itself have become too numerous to be dallied with. What is still worse, obedient to the law of its own existence the political state has been forced not merely to multiply enemies against itself; it has been forced to recruit and group the bulk of these enemies, the revolutionary bulk, at that.

The working class of the land, the historically revolutionary element, is grouped by the leading occupations, agricultural as well as industrial, in such manner that the "autonomous craft union," one time the palladium of the workers, has become a harmless scarecrow upon which the capitalist birds roost at ease, while the industrial unions cast ahead of them the constituencies of the government of the future, and, jointly, point to the industrial state.

Nor yet is this all. Not only has the political state raised its own enemies; not only has itself multiplied them; not only has itself recruited and drilled them; not only has itself grouped them into shape and form to succeed it; it is, furthermore, driven by its inherent necessities, prodding on the revolutionary class by digging ever more fiercely into its flanks the harpoon of exploitation.

With the purchasing power of wages sinking to ever lower depths; with certainty of work hanging on ever slenderer threads; with an evermore gigantically swelling army of the unemployed; with the need of profits pressing the plutocracy harder and harder recklessly to squander the workers' limbs and life; what with all this and the parallel process of merging the workers of all industries into one interdependent solid mass, the final break-up is rendered inevitable and at hand.

No wild schemes and no rainbow-chasing will stead in the approaching emergency. The plutocracy knows this—and so does the Socialist Labor party—and logical is the program of each.

The program of the plutocracy is feudalistic autocracy, translated into capitalism. Where a social revolution is pending, and, for whatever reason, is not enforced, reaction is the alternative.

The program of the Socialist Labor party is revolution—the industrial or Socialist republic, the social order where the political state is overthrown; where the Congress of the land consists of the representatives of the useful occupations of the land; where, accordingly, a government is an essential factor in production; where the blessings to man that the trust is instinct with are freed from the trammels of the private ownership that now turn the potential blessings into a curse; where, accordingly, abundance can be the patrimony of all who work, and the shackles of wage slavery are no more.

In keeping with the goals of the different programs are the means of their execution.

The means in contemplation by reaction is the bayonet. To this end reaction is seeking, by means of the police spy and other agencies, to lash the proletariat into acts of violence that may give a color to the resort to the bayonet. By its maneuvers it is egging the working class on to deeds of fury. The capitalist press echoes the policy, while the pure and simple political Socialist party press, generally, is snared into the trap.

On the contrary, the means firmly adhered to by the Socialist Labor party is the constitutional method of political action, backed by the industrially and class-consciously organized proletariat, to the exclusion of anarchy, and all that thereby hangs.

At such a critical period in the nation's existence the Socialist Labor party calls upon the working class of America, more deliberately serious than ever before, to rally at the polls under the party's banner. And the party also calls upon all intelligent citizens to place themselves squarely upon the ground of working class interests and join us in this mighty and noble work of human emancipation, so that we may put summary end to the existing barbarous class conflict by placing the land and all the means of production, transportation and distribution into the hands of the people as a collective body, and substituting for the present state of planless production, industrial war and social disorder, the Socialist or industrial commonwealth—a commonwealth in which every worker shall have the free exercise and full benefit of his faculties, multiplied by all the modern factors of civilization.

SOCIALIST LABOR PARTY STATE PLATFORM.

The Socialist Labor party of the State of Missouri, in accordance with its national platform, and in accordance with the international Socialist movement, declares:

In view of the tremendous law of industrial evolution, as hitherto proclaimed by the Socialist Labor party, dominant wealth has to such an extent concentrated into the hands of the few, capitalist rule can no longer maintain itself in its old form of government, and is breaking through its republic-democratic shell and stretching out its hands toward absolutism.

The program of plutocracy is feudal autocracy translated into capitalism. Only two programs grasp the situation—the program of the Socialist Labor party and the program of plutocracy.

Geographical representative government, separate and apart from industry, has reached its climax. The plutocracy sees this; so does the Socialist Labor party. While one—the plutocracy—leans toward industrial autocratic government, the other—the Socialist Labor party, backed by the revolutionary class-conscious, industrially organized proletariat—leans toward an industrial democracy, a representative constitutional government by the industrial vote.

The means to bring about this revolution is the constitutional method of political action, backed by an industrial organization of the working class, to the exclusion of anarchy.

While hitherto the underclass, in whose hands the future state rests, suffered from the development of capitalism, it also suffered from the incompleteness of that development. The capitalist system having now reached the end of the tether, the industrial republic throbs for birth. Therefore, the Socialist Labor party of the State of Missouri warns all wageworkers to support no reform issues which spring from the lower layers of the capitalist class, and calls upon all working people to rally under the banner of the Socialist Labor party to make a clean swath of this entire system under which labor is bought and sold like merchandise.

THE NATIONAL FLAG.

The official flag of the United States bears forty-eight white stars in a blue field, arranged in six rows of eight stars each. Two stars were added in 1912 by the admission of Arizona and New Mexico to the Union. The garrison flag of the army is made of bunting, thirty-six feet fly and twenty feet hoist; thirteen stripes, and in the upper quarter, next the staff, is the field or "union" of stars, equal to the number of states, on blue field, over one-third length of the flag, extending to the lower edge of the fourth red stripe from the top. The storm flag is twenty feet by ten feet, and the recruiting flag nine feet nine inches by four feet four inches. The "American Jack" is the "union," or blue field of the flag. The Revenue Marine Service flag, authorized by act of Congress, March 2, 1799, was originally prescribed to "consist of sixteen perpendicular stripes, alternate red and white, the union of the ensign bearing the arms of the United States in dark blue on a white field." The sixteen stripes represented the number of states which had been admitted to the Union at that time, and no change has been made since. June 14, the anniversary of the adoption of the flag, is celebrated as Flag Day in a large part of the Union.

IN ORDER TO SHOW PROPER RESPECT FOR THE FLAG THE FOLLOWING CEREMONY SHOULD BE OBSERVED:

It should not be hoisted before sunrise nor allowed to remain up after sunset.

At "retreat," sunset, civilian spectators should stand at "attention" and uncover during the playing of the "Star-Spangled Banner." Military spectators are required by regulation to stand at "attention" and give the military salute.

When the national colors are passing on parade, or in review, the spectator should, if walking, halt, and if sitting, arise and stand at attention and uncover.

When the flag is flown at half staff as a sign of mourning it should be hoisted to full staff at the conclusion of the funeral.

In placing the flag at half staff, it should first be hoisted to the top of the staff and then lowered to position, and preliminary to lowering from half staff it should be first raised to the top.

On Memorial Day, May 30, the flag should fly at half staff from sunrise to noon and full staff from noon to sunset.

Resources.		Liabilities.
Real estate securities.....	$13,091,064.08	Installment dues.....	$8,136,011.18

The Missouri Building and Loan Bureau report for 1911 showed that $11,788,446.53 of the total assets were invested in real estate securities.

Their report of 1912 shows $13,091,064.08 invested in real estate securities. This is a gain of $1,302,617.55 in this class of securities, which indicates that of the total gain in assets within the past year 94 per cent are invested in real estate securities.

The number of associations have not increased during the past year, but the membership of the associations have increased very materially.

Borrowing members have increased from 9,700 to 10,734 and nonborrowing members have increased from 17,250 to 20,417. This brings the total membership of all associations in Missouri up to 31,151.

THE MISSOURI ASSOCIATION FOR THE RELIEF AND CONTROL OF TUBERCULOSIS (INCORPORATED).

The aim of this association is the suppression of tuberculosis; its work is the crusade against the disease; the ultimate object of its work is to promote health and economic welfare in all Missouri. This association bears no official relation to the State and receives no financial aid therefrom; it is supported entirely by voluntary contributions and the proceeds of the sale of red cross Christmas seals.

The first meeting of the association, at which by-laws were adopted, was held in the House of Representatives, State capitol, Jefferson City, May 15, 1907. Articles of agreement for incorporation were filed with the Secretary of State May 9, 1907. The association was incorporated under article XI of chapter 12 of the Revised Statutes of Missouri, 1899, regulating the incorporation of "benevolent, religious, scientific, fraternal-benevolent, educational and miscellaneous associations."

The third article provides: "That the corporation shall be composed of persons interested in the relief, prevention and control of tuberculosis incorporated for the following purposes, to wit:

"Dissemination of knowledge concerning the causes, treatment and prevention of tuberculosis; investigation of the prevalence of tuberculosis in Missouri and the collecting and publishing of useful information; securing of proper legislation for the relief and prevention of tuberculosis; co-operation with the public authorities (State and local boards of health), the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, medical societies and other organizations in approved measures adopted for the prevention of the disease; promotion of the organization and work of local societies in all parts of Missouri; encouragement of adequate provision for consumptives by the establishment of sanatoria, hospitals, dispensaries and otherwise; and in general to do all things and acts having as their object the relief of those afflicted with tuberculosis and the control and prevention of that disease throughout the entire State.

"That the said corporation may take and receive, may purchase and hold and likewise convey and transfer any and all real estate and personal property intended to execute and further the purposes herein set forth and as may be sanctioned by law; to contract and incur debts and obligations, issue bonds, notes and bills and other evidences of debt; to adopt and use a common seal, sue and defend and have and exercise all such rights and powers as may be incidental to a body corporate and politic of the kind and character herein perpetuated."

The management and control of the corporation is vested in a board of directors, the members of which, in numbers and geographical distribution, shall be elected as are Representatives to the State Legislature. The board of directors have power to make all necessary rules and regulations for the government of the association, to fix the compensation of any officer or employe, to suspend or remove any officer or employe for neglect of duty or for misconduct, to fill all vacancies of office and have general control of the property and business of the corporation and the power and authority to alter or repeal the by-laws of the association. It shall fill all vacancies in the board of directors, and it or the executive committee shall determine to what uses the funds of the association shall be devoted.

The executive committee shall supervise the affairs of the association, subject to the control of the board of directors, and when the board of directors is not in session, the executive committee shall have and exercise all powers of said board.

It is provided by the by-laws that the members of the association shall be classified as follows:

Class A—Members.—(1) All persons participating in the organization of the association at the meeting held in Jefferson City, May 15, 1907.

(2) Individual persons or representatives of firms, corporations, institutions, or of social, religious or other organizations, having interest in the control or suppression of tuberculosis, who shall have applied for membership and received a majority vote of the board of directors.

Class B—Sustaining Members.—Persons or representatives who contribute or subscribe not less than $1.00 annually to further the purposes of this association.

Class C—Contributing Members.—Persons or representatives who contribute or subscribe not less than $10.00 annually to further the purposes of this association.

Class D—Supporting Members.—Persons or representatives who contribute or subscribe not less than $100.00 annually to further the purposes of this association.

Class E—Honorary Members.—Any person distinguished for original research pertaining to tuberculosis, eminent sanitarian, or philanthropist who has given material aid in the relief, prevention or control of tuberculosis may be elected to honorary membership upon receiving the majority vote of the board of directors of the association.

The by-laws of the association provide for the following standing committees: Finance; membership; woman's auxiliary; press and publicity; lectures and public meetings; literature and publications; legislation and law enforcement; education and course of study; housing and vocational safety; tuberculosis dispensary service, and tuberculosis visiting nurse service.

For the furtherance of its objects, particularly through the schools of the State, the association issues the following bulletin on tuberculosis and its prevention:

THE CAMPAIGN AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS.

Tuberculosis is an infectious and communicable disease caused by the growth of the tubercle bacillus within the body. This bacillus is a plant parasite, rod-shaped, and of such length that it would require 10,000 of them laid end to end to measure an inch. It lives a strictly parasitic life, which signifies that under ordinary circumstances it does not live indefinitely and propagate its kind outside of its living host, which may be man, almost any domestic animal, or one of the many animals that have not been brought under domestication. Though incapable of propagating itself outside its living host, the bacillus is capable of living for a long period of time under favorable conditions outside of the body.

Those conditions which most favor the prolongation of its life outside of the body are darkness, moisture and ordinary temperatures. It dies in a few minutes when exposed to direct sunlight, when not deeply imbedded in the albuminous discharges from the lesions which are characteristic of the disease. In the human body the commonest form of tuberculosis is consumption, or tuberculosis of the lungs, but it may occur in any part or organ of the body, especially in the bones, joints and lymph glands of children, in which structures it is known respectively as white swelling of bones and joints, and scrofula. It is a very common cause of hunchback and of meningitis in children.

The tubercle bacillus in the body stimulates the growth of cells which, under the influence of toxins or poisons which are elaborated by the bacillus, die, disintegrate, and are given off from the body in the form of discharges that are peculiar to the organ or tissue in which the lesion is located, e. g., from the lungs as sputum, from scrofulous glands and white swelling as pus, and from the intestines in the feces. All these discharges are capable of starting the disease in the healthy, whether by being taken into the stomach, inhaled in the lungs, or by the inoculation of open superficial cuts and wounds.

PREDISPOSING CAUSES.

Approximately ten per cent of all cases of tuberculosis occurring in children have resulted from the ingestion of milk or meat from tuberculous animals. Tuberculosis is not inherited as was formerly supposed. It is always acquired through infection from some other case, by the transmission of the tubercle bacillus, either directly or indirectly. Because it is a germ disease it is preventable and curable, not unavoidable and fatal as until recently it has been regarded. All people are not equally susceptible to the disease. Those who are in a weakened physical condition or who lack proper and sufficient food, or who are addicted to the use of alcohol, or who have suffered from grippe, colds, measles, typhoid, pleurisy, etc., or who take insufficient rest, or exercise too little in the open air, or sleep in close rooms, or work in a moist, dark or dusty atmosphere, are predisposed to the disease. While tuberculosis is not essentially a disease of the poor and destitute, it is with this class of people that it is most prevalent.

COMMONEST EARLY SYMPTOMS.

The commonest early symptoms of the disease are persistent cough or cold lasting a month or longer, hoarseness, loss of weight and appetite, run-down feeling, slight fever in the afternoons, night sweats, spitting of blood or streaks of blood in the sputum. Any one or any combination of these symptoms should lead one to suspect tuberculosis and he should consult a physician immediately. If the physician cannot find a cause for these symptoms, they should be attributed to tuberculosis. It is most important that the disease be recognized early so that timely treatment may be begun. Most cases of tuberculosis that have been diagnosed in the incipient or very early stage, under modern methods of treatment, are cured.

TUBERCULOSIS IN CHILDREN.

Tuberculosis is a house disease, a disease of the home. It runs in families, not because inherited, but because of home association. It is probable that most infections occur in childhood, though the disease may not develop to the point of recognition until late in life. It is acquired by children through kissing, caressing, use of common eating utensils, and from playing on an infectious floor. A consumptive in the family may be the means of transmitting the disease not only through spitting, but by coughing, sneezing, and even by speaking into the face of another.

HOW TUBERCULOSIS MAY BE PREVENTED.

The sputum which a consumptive raises should be received in a cuspidor containing an antiseptic solution, or he should cough or spit into a napkin, or onto a paper held before his face, and these then should be thoroughly disinfected or burned. The prevention and treatment of tuberculosis rest upon the principles that have been set forth above. They are:

1. Early and frequent examination in suspected cases and of all individuals of a family in which tuberculosis is known to exist or to have existed.
2. The control and destruction of all tuberculous discharges.
3. To live and sleep in the open air as much as possible.
4. No tuberculous patient should sleep in the bed or even in the room with an unaffected person.
5. Proper food in sufficient quantity.
6. Plenty of sleep.
7. Absolute rest in bed when the temperature is over 99 degrees, or the pulse is over 100.

These conditions are best obtained in the early stages of tuberculosis in a sanatorium, in the advanced stages in a hospital. All treatment of tuberculosis should be under the direction of a physician, whether at home or in an institution. All patent medicines and alcohol must be avoided.

An important adjunct to the treatment of incipient tuberculosis at home in children is the open-air school; in adults, the day camp or the night camp.

WHAT IS BEING DONE TO PREVENT TUBERCULOSIS.

In its broader aspects the campaign against tuberculosis includes popular and systematic school education and social or visiting nursing. Under popular education are included free lectures, exhibits, whether local or traveling, moving picture plays, lantern demonstrations, special popular educational literature in the form of circulars or magazine articles, and newspaper publicity and visiting nursing. Under systematic school education may be included lectures, natural science lessons, recitations, the organization of red cross seal selling campaigns, and the employment of school nurses and the medical inspection of school children. This systematic educational work should be graded in adaptation to the age and maturity of the pupil, and should be illustrated and demonstrated in the various ways employed in the teaching of natural science, so far as possible.

The general movement against tuberculosis includes also the securing of proper State and municipal legislation, as well as co-operation with all movements for the betterment of living and working conditions.

THE COST OF TUBERCULOSIS.

In Missouri, in 1912, tuberculosis killed 4,900 persons. It killed approximately one-ninth of all who died. It killed approximately one-third of all who died at ages between eighteen and forty-five years. It cost in dollars and cents to the patients themselves and to others about $40,000,000, over two and a half times the cost of the public schools of the State for all purposes in the same year. It is estimated that the number of people having active tuberculosis in Missouri is not less than 30,000.

HOW YOU CAN HELP.

1. Teachers.—By instructing pupils as to the nature, prevention and cure of tuberculosis; teaching children simple rules of health, how to breathe deeply, etc.; keeping the classroom well ventilated and by insisting upon the medical inspection of school children.
2. Parents.—By keeping the home clean and well ventilated; teaching children to sleep with windows open, to eat proper and nourishing food, to observe the laws of health, to keep the teeth clean and in repair.
3. Children.—By keeping clean; by not putting anything into mouths except food; by staying as much as possible in the fresh air; by eating only wholesome and nourishing food; by always washing the hands before eating.

4. Everyone.—By taking care of your own health; by stopping indiscriminate spitting; by joining in the movement to stamp out tuberculosis; by buying and otherwise promoting the use of the red cross Christmas seal; by insisting upon the employment of county-paid tuberculosis visiting nurses; by promoting the organization of a tuberculosis hospital district in your county or in yours and adjoining county or counties.

For further information pertaining to the fight against tuberculosis in the schools or otherwise, address the author of the foregoing, Dr. W. McN. Miller, secretary, Columbia, Missouri.

(Session Acts, 1903.)

New section. High school inspection by State Superintendent.—For the purpose of classifying high schools and having their work accredited by higher educational institutions, the State Superintendent of Public Schools shall, in person or by deputy, inspect and examine any high school making application for classification, and he shall prescribe rules and regulations governing such inspections and examinations and keep complete record of all inspections, examinations and recommendations made. He shall from time to time publish lists of classified high schools: Provided, he may drop any school in its classification if, on reinspection or re-examination, he finds that such school does not maintain the required standard of excellence. Admission from Accredited Schools in Other States.

The University will admit, without examination, such graduates of schools fully accredited by other state universities of similar rank as comply with the requirements for admission from accredited schools.

Admission from State Normal Schools.

Graduates of the State normal schools will be admitted without examination, provided they furnish certificates showing that they have satisfied the entrance requirements to the college or school which they wish to enter. B.) and bachelor of science (B. S.) in education. The certificates should be sent in advance to the dean of the University faculty.

A graduate of a State normal school who has completed two years' work in an accredited high school and four years' (twelve quarters') work in the normal school will be admitted to junior standing in the college of arts and science. A graduate of a normal school will not be recommended for a degree until he has completed two years' (four semesters') work in the University.

Admission from Accredited Junior Colleges.

Graduates of accredited junior colleges will be admitted without examination to junior standing in the college of arts and science of the University, provided they furnish certificates showing that they have satisfied the entrance requirements and the work of the first two years of the college. Such certificates will also be accepted for admission to any other division of the University except the graduate school. The certificates should be sent in advance to the dean of the University faculty.

Accredited Junior Colleges.

The following institutions have been recognized as accredited junior colleges of the University:

Hardin College (Mexico).
 Howard Payne College (Fayette).

The first apportionment was made in January, 1842, on the ratio of sixty cents to each child above the age of six and under eighteen years in the district in which an organized school was taught. The second, third and fourth apportionments were also made on the enumeration of children between the ages of six and eighteen years. The fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth were made on children between the ages of six and twenty years. The ninth to the twenty-first, inclusive, were made on children between the ages of five and twenty years. The twenty-second, twenty-third and twenty-fourth were apportioned on children between the ages of five and twenty-one years. From 1871 to the present time the legal school age has been from six to twenty years.

No apportionments were made in 1861, 1862, 1863, 1865 and 1867.

The apportionments from the revenue fund were first made in 1854, being one-fourth of the State revenue collected from November, 1853. This was continued regularly, except that no apportionment was made for the seven years from 1861 to 1868. Since 1887 one-third of the ordinary State revenue has been appropriated to the public schools.

In 1842 the number of children taught was 6,192; the number reported between the ages of six and eighteen, 10,839; the number of counties having organized schools, 28; whole number of counties in the State, 77.

From 1892 to 1900 the amount apportioned per child of school age was less than $1.00. In 1900 it was $1.00, and has steadily increased each year, except one, till 1910, when it was $1.79. In 1909 it was one cent less than in 1908, but the total was greater on account of the increase in the number enumerated. For the three years, 1906, 1907 and 1908, the enumeration shows a steady decrease. In 1909 an increase of 20,433 over the enumeration of the preceding year is shown. This is on account of a new enumeration of St. Louis being taken, which is done only once in every five years. The enumeration of 1910 is 1,870 less than in 1909. This loss is known to be in the State outside the city of St. Louis, for the reason that the St. Louis enumeration of 1909 will stand until 1914.

The decrease in the enumeration in 1911 and 1912 was due partly to the elimination of padded lists in some of the larger cities, and partly to an actual decrease in the number of children in the rural districts. The number of school children in Missouri in 1896 was 963,479, and in 1913 was 961,505. Thus it is seen that the number of pupils of school age in the State is no greater now than seventeen years ago. In these seventeen years the State school fund has more than doubled, increasing from $924,940.55 in 1896 to $1,882,553.63 in 1913, or an amount almost equal to $2.00 per child enumerated.

In the last four years the State has completely changed its method of apportioning the public school funds, since a large public school fund cannot be equitably apportioned on a census basis. The State in its apportionment of its public school funds now recognizes the three fundamental purposes of a public school fund, viz.:

1. To equalize educational opportunities.
2. To equalize educational burdens.
3. To stimulate local effort.

About one-half of the fund is now apportioned on the number of teachers employed, and the other half partly on the aggregate attendance and partly as special aid to districts that do not have sufficient funds to support a good school after they have levied the maximum constitutional limit for school purposes. This year, 1913, 1,745 rural schools and 167 high schools received aid.

The present method of apportionment stimulates schools to strive for good attendance, good school work in every way, and encourages good levies for school purposes. The following table shows the

The permanent funds are five in number: State common school fund, seminary fund, county fund, township fund, special fund.

On admitting Missouri into the Union Congress donated twelve bodies of saline lands of six sections each. In 1837 the General Assembly provided that the proceeds of the sales of this land, augmented by the profits on the United States' deposits in Missouri banks, should constitute a permanent school fund. This was increased in 1865 by $132,000 from the sale of the State tobacco warehouse. This fund now amounts to $3,159,281.14. The income from it, with one-third of the ordinary revenue, is apportioned annually by the State Superintendent to the counties and to the city of St. Louis, according to the number of children of school age.

By acts of 1818 and 1820 Congress donated seventy-two sections of public land for establishment and support of a "Seminary of learning." The fund from the sale of this land amounts to $1,259,988.20. The income from it is used for the support of the University.

County funds are from fines, forfeitures, sale of estrays and swamp lands. These funds amount to $5,618,629.57. They are loaned by the county courts on real estate and personal security, and the interest is apportioned annually by the county clerks.

THE PUBLIC LANDS OF MISSOURI.HOW TITLE MAY BE ACQUIRED.

The homestead laws secure to qualified persons the right to settle upon and acquire title to not exceeding one-quarter section, or 160 acres of public land, by establishing and maintaining residence thereon and improving and cultivating the land for the continuous period of five years.

A homestead entryman must be the head of a family or a person who has arrived at the age of 21 years, and a citizen of the United States, or one who has filed his declaration of intention to become such, as required by the naturalization laws, and must not be the proprietor of more than 160 acres of land in any state or territory.

At the expiration of five years, and upon satisfactory proof of improvement, cultivation and continuous residence, patent will be issued to the homesteader by the government upon payment of the fees required by law.

The first section of the act of Congress of March 2, 1889, provides that from and after its passage "no public lands of the United States, except those in the State of Missouri, shall be subject to private entry;" that is, cash entry.

All public lands in the State of Missouri are subject to private or cash entry at $1.25 per acre, except within twenty miles of the Frisco railroad west of Springfield, which is $2.50 per acre. There is no limitation as to the number of acres a person may take under this law, and a married woman may acquire the land in the same way as a male citizen, provided she is a native-born or naturalized citizen of the United States and over the age of twenty-one years.

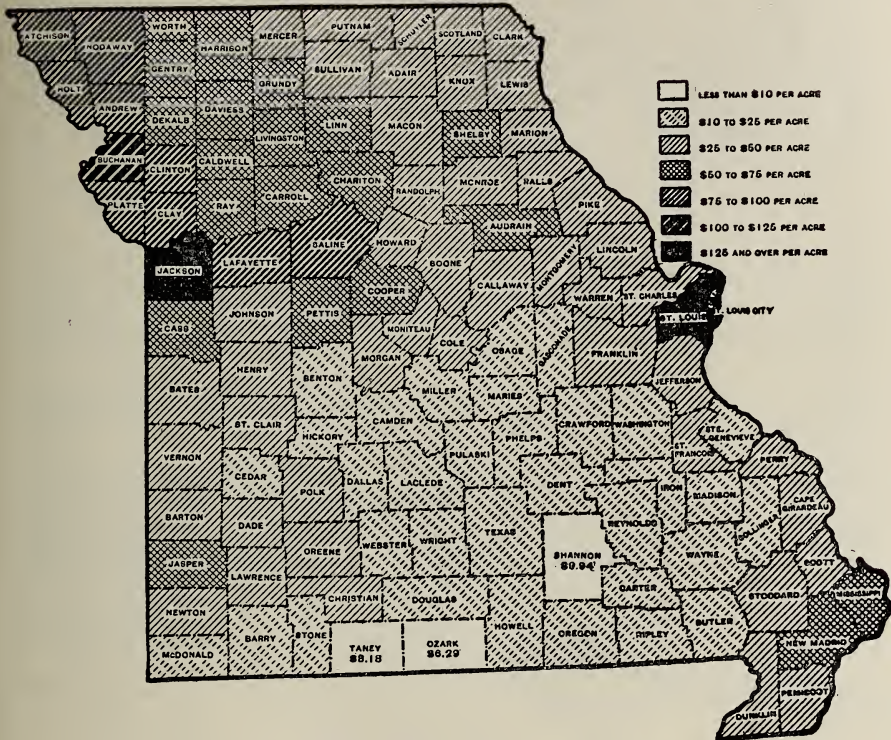

A person desiring to cash-enter lands in Missouri must make a personal inspection of the lands and have two witnesses to go and see the lands, so that they may be able to swear that no one is living upon said lands or claiming same as an actual settler or otherwise. No residence upon the lands is necessary to cash entries. Papers in cash entries may be executed before notaries or clerks of courts of record, but not before justices of the peace.

To buy public lands for cash, it is necessary to present a written application to the register for the district in which the land is situated, describing the tract and its area. If the tract is vacant and subject to sale, upon payment of purchase price the applicant is entitled to a patent therefor, which will be issued by the general land office if all proceedings are found regular.

AVERAGE VALUE OF FARM LAND PER ACRE.

When the value is less than $10 per acre it is inserted under the county name.

MISSOURI—FARMS AND FARM PROPERTY.

(From Federal Census Report, 1910.)

Missouri ranks eighteenth in land area and seventh in population among the states and territories of continental United States. The northern portion of Missouri, north of the Missouri river, consists of a broad, nearly level, or gently undulating prairie in the westward portion of the Mississippi Basin Plateau. This region has been heavily glaciated, and the underlying rocks are covered to extremely variable depths with the glacial debris. Over this glacial material the fine silty loess has been deposited to a considerable depth along both the Missouri and the Mississippi rivers and to a less depth over the glaciated plateau more remote from the river courses. In consequence the soils of the northern portion of the State are prevalently silty. In the vicinity of the rivers and back from the river bluffs to a varying distance the deep loess gives rise to yellow and brown loams, which constitute excellent soils for the production of corn, wheat, oats and grass. The shallow covering of loess over the remainder of the glaciated area is chiefly a gray to brown silty loam, usually possessed of a stiff plastic silt loam or clay subsoil. These latter soils are better suited to the production of winter wheat, oats and grass, although some of them are excellent corn soils. There are also extensive loess deposits in the vicinity of the Mississippi river in the southeastern portion of the State.

All of the south-central portion of Missouri consists of an elevated section known as the Ozark region. A little to the east of the central portion of this region is found the rough, rugged, mountainous country of the Ozark center, more noted for its mineral than its agricultural production. Small valleys within this region, however, contain excellent agricultural soils. This center is bounded upon all sides by the elevated and deeply dissected Ozark Plateau, within which the soils are principally derived from cherty and flinty limestones and to a less degree from associated fine-grained sandstones. The gray, silty and stony soils of this section are better suited to the production of wheat and grass than to that of any other farm crops.

The Ozark Plateau sinks to the north and west into a less elevated but rolling and hilly section known as the Ozark border, where the soils are again prevalently gray, brown or red silty loams. The topography is less rough, the rolling to level areas between stream drainages are better suited to agriculture, and corn, wheat, oats and grass are grown extensively.

Lying to the west and north of this Ozark section and south of the Missouri river is a level to undulating prairie region whose soils are derived from shales, sandstones and limestones. This comprises the residual prairie section of Missouri. Within this region winter wheat, corn and grass are the principal agricultural products.

Both the Mississippi and the Missouri rivers within the State of Missouri are bordered by narrow bottom lands occupied by alluvial soils. In the extreme southeastern portion of the State the Mississippi bottom lands broaden to many miles in width, constituting valuable cotton soils upon the better drained portions and extensive forested swamps at the lower levels.

It is upon some of the stony, silty loams of the Ozark region that the development of apple orcharding within the State has occurred.

It will be seen by reference to the maps that the counties showing a high percentage of area in farms, that is, over 90 or 95 per cent, are located generally in the northern half of the State. The high percentage counties, however, run into the southern half of the State along the western border, and occupy a considerable area in the southwest. As one passes from the center of the State toward its southeastern extremity the percentage of area in farms tends to fall off irregularly, except that it is maintained in certain counties along the Mississippi river. A considerable area in the southeast shows less than 60 per cent in farms, while certain counties here fall into the 20 to 40 per cent class. No county except St. Louis city reports less than 20 per cent of its area in farms.

The most conspicuous features of the map showing average value of farm land per acre are the dark areas indicating average values of over $100 or $125 for St. Louis city, St. Louis, Jackson and Buchanan counties. The high average value of land in these counties is due to its proximity to the cities of St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph, respectively. Outside of these counties it is generally true that the value of land per acre tends to be relatively high in regions which have a high percentage of their area in farms. The high value land in the $50 to $75 and $75 to $100 classes lies generally in the northwestern and in the western, the low value land in the south-central regions. In three southern counties the value falls below $10 per acre. In considering these average values it should be borne in mind that the average in each case is based upon total farm area, which includes unimproved with improved land. The averages are, therefore, generally below the usual value of improved land, and may be very much below the value per acre of the best farm land.

Progress During the Decade, 1900 to 1910.—Between 1900 and 1910 there was an increase of 186,670, or 6 per cent, in the population of the State, while there was a decrease of 7,642, or 2.7 per cent., in the number of farms. There was an increase of 1.7 per cent in the area of farm land, while the improved land in farms increased 7.3 per cent, and the average size of farms rose from 119.3 to 124.8 acres.

Farm property, which includes land, buildings, implements and machinery and live stock (domestic animals, poultry and bees), has increased in value during the decade over a billion dollars, or about doubled. This increase is made up of increases of $121,714,000 in the value of buildings, of $750,512,000 in the value of land and of $147,570,000 in the value of farm equipment, including implements and machinery and live stock, of which more than five-sixths represents a gain in the value of live stock and the remainder the increase in the value of implements and machinery. In considering the increase of values in agriculture the general increase in the prices of all commodities in the last ten years should be borne in mind.

The average value of a farm with its equipment in 1900 was $3,626, while ten years later it was $7,405. The average value of land rose from $20.46 per acre in 1900 to $41.80 in 1910, this advance being accompanied by increases in the average value per farm of buildings, implements and machinery, and live stock.

The following table summarizes for the State the more significant facts relating to population and land area; the number, value and acreage of farms, and the value of all other farm property in 1910 and 1900:

Population, Number of Farms and Farm Acreage, 1850 to 1910.—The table following presents for the State as a whole for each census from 1850 to 1910, inclusive, a statement of the total population, the number of farms, and the acreage of farm land and of improved land in farms. It also gives the percentage of the land area in farms, the percentage of farm land improved, and the percentage of increase during each decade in the number of farms and in the land in farms.

*A minus sign (—) denotes decrease.

In sixty years the population of the State has increased 2,611,291 and was in 1910 nearly five times as great as in 1850.

There are 277,244 farms in Missouri, or more than five times as many as in 1850. The increase was very rapid from 1850 to 1880, averaging 5,371 per year, as compared with 3,466 during the next twenty years, but during the decade just past the number of farms has been decreasing at the rate of 764 per year. This decrease was quite general throughout the State, except in the southeastern quarter of the State, where increases occurred.

The land surface of Missouri is approximately 43,985,280 acres. Of this area 34,591,248 acres, or 78.6 per cent, are included in farms, while 24,581,186 acres, or 71.1 per cent of the total farm acreage, are reported as improved land, representing 55.9 per cent of the total land area of the State. The total acreage of farm land increased 1.7 per cent during the last decade. Since the reported acreage of improved land increased more rapidly than the total acreage in farms during the last decade, the percentage of farm land improved rose.

The preceding table shows also the rapid increase from 1850 to 1880 in the total farm acreage and in the acreage of improved land, and their slower but continuous increase since that time. The proportion of the total land area of the State which was occupied by farms rose during the period before 1880 from 22.1 to 63.4 per cent, while the proportion which improved land formed of the total land in farms increased from 30.2 to 60.1 per cent. In 1910, 78.6 per cent of the State's land surface was in farms and 71.1 per cent of the farm acreage was reported as improved.

In 1910 the total wealth in the form of farm property exceeded $2,000,000,000. Of this amount 83.6 per cent represented land and buildings, 2.5 per cent implements and machinery and 13.9 per cent live stock. The total value of farm property increased during the last decade by over a billion dollars, or 98.7 per cent. This was a greater absolute increase than that of the preceding half century, and a greater relative increase than during any other decade since 1860. Of the total increase in the value of farm property during the past decade, $872,225,000 represents the increase in the value of land and buildings, $22,271,000 the increase in the value of implements and machinery and $125,299,000 the increase in the value of live stock.

Average Acreage and Values per Farm, 1850 to 1910.—The changes which have taken place during the past sixty years in the average acreage of Missouri farms and in the average values of the various classes of farm property, as well as in the average value per acre of land and buildings, are shown in the next table.

The average size of the Missouri farm increased from 178.7 acres in 1850 to 215.4 acres in 1860, but during the next two decades it decreased to 129.3 acres. From 1880 to 1890 there was no change, but during the decade 1890 to 1900 the average size decreased to 119.3 acres. Since 1900 there has been an increase of 5.5 acres. The average size in 1910, 124.8 acres, was still 4.5 acres smaller than in 1880 or in 1890.

The average value of a Missouri farm, including its equipment, has grown during the last decade from $3,626 to $7,405. Of this average value in 1910, $6,190 represents land and buildings, $1,031 live stock and $183 implements and machinery. During the last decade the average value of land and buildings per acre has increased $24.79, or almost exactly doubled. The average value per farm of land and buildings in 1910 is more than five times as great as in 1850; of farm equipment, which includes implements and machinery and live stock, it is two and three-fourths times as great as it was sixty years ago. In each class of farm property the increase in average value per farm during the last decade has been greater than the increase during the whole half century, 1850 to 1900.

*Not reported separately.

During the last decade the number of farms operated by owners and managers decreased 3,703, and those operated by tenants, 3,939, giving an aggregate decrease of 7,642 in the total number of farms.

In 1910 about thirty out of every one hundred Missouri farms were operated by tenants, and although the proportion has changed slightly from decade to decade the percentage of tenants has not increased materially during the thirty years. The percentage decreased slightly, from 27.3 to 26.8, in the decade 1880 to 1890, increased in the decade 1890 to 1900 to 30.5, and decreased in the last decade to 29.9. Approximately, one-third of the tenant farms are rented for cash, including nonspecified, and two-thirds wholly or in part for a share of the crops. This proportion is substantially the same as in 1880, and the departure from it in 1890 and 1900 was not great.

The following table shows the acreage, improved acreage and the value of lands and buildings for farms operated by owners (including part owners), managers and tenants, respectively:

The following table shows the per cent distribution by tenure groups of the items in the preceding table, and also of the number of farms:

Tenants.....	29.9	30.5	25.4	23.3	26.4	24.7	27.4	25.4

It will be seen that, in 1910, 72.8 per cent of all land in farms was in farms operated by their owners (including part owners), 1.8 per cent in farms operated by managers and 25.4 per cent in farms operated by tenants, the percentage for owners and for managers being lower and that for tenants higher than in 1900.

As shown by the table below, the average size of farms operated by managers in 1910 (314.8 acres) was somewhat less than two and one-half times as great as that of farms operated by owners (131 acres), which was in turn somewhat larger than that of farms operated by tenants (105.7 acres).

The average size of farms operated by owners and by tenants increased from 1900 to 1910, while that of farms operated by managers decreased considerably. In 1910 the percentage of farm land improved was highest for farms operated by tenants and lowest for farms operated by managers.

Farm Mortgages, 1890 to 1910.—The eleventh census (1890) was the first to collect data relating to mortgage debt on farms. The basis of the returns was the "farm home" occupied by its owner. The same class of information was secured by the population schedules of the twelfth census (1900). The agricultural schedules of the thirteenth census (1910) secured practically the same information, except that the basis was "owned farms" instead of "owned farm homes"—a difference involving, however, no appreciable incomparability.

The following table relates to farms operated by persons owning all or part of the land, and shows for 1910 (1) the number of such farms reported as free from mortgage; (2) the number reported as mortgaged, and (3) the number for which no mortgage reports were secured. Comparable items are included for 1900 and 1890.

In 1910 the total number of farms owned in whole or in part by the operators was 192,285. Of this number, 102,514 were reported as free from mortgage; 88,486 were reported as mortgaged, and for 1,285 no report relative to mortgage indebtedness was obtained. The number of mortgaged farms constituted 46.3 per cent of the total number of owned farms, exclusive of those for which no mortgage report was obtained. The percentage was 42.4 in 1900 and 36.4 in 1890. It may be noted that the percentages given for the three censuses are comparable, but that the number of mortgaged and unmortgaged farms reported in 1890 is not entirely comparable with the numbers reported at the later censuses because at the census of 1890 the farms for which no reports were obtained were distributed between the two classes of mortgaged and unmortgaged farms. It can be seen, however, that the number of unmortgaged farms has been practically stationary since 1890, while the number of mortgaged has increased very considerably.

The statement of mortgage debt and the value of mortgaged farm property is restricted to the farms of those farmers who own all of their land and report the amount as well as the fact of indebtedness. Of the 88,486 farms reported as mortgaged, 66,339 are wholly owned by the farmers, and for 64,028 of these the amount of mortgage debt is reported. Only these last-mentioned farms are included under 1910 in the next table, which presents data relating to mortgaged farms for 1910 and 1890. In this connection it should be noted that in 1890 the amount of mortgage debt of farms with incomplete reports was estimated according to the percentages and averages obtained from farms with full reports, but that no such estimate is here made for 1910.

The table gives a comparative statement of the value of mortgaged farms owned entirely by their operators and the amount of indebtedness, together with the average value of such farms, the average debt per farm and the average equity per farm for 1910 and 1890. Data regarding the amount of mortgage debt were not obtained in 1900.

*Includes only farms consisting wholly of owned land and reporting value of farm and amount of debt.

†Includes all owned farm homes, estimates being made of value of farms and amount of debt for all defective reports.

The average debt of mortgaged farms increased in the twenty years from $853 to $1,758, or 106.1 per cent, while the average value of such farms rose from $2,643 to $6,083, or 130.2 per cent. Thus the owner's equity increased on the average from $1,790 to $4,325, or 141.6 per cent. As a result of the greater relative increase in farm value than in farm debt, the mortgage indebtedness, which was 32.3 per cent of the value of the mortgaged farms in 1890, had decreased to 28.9 per cent of the value in 1910.

Color and Nativity of Farmers, 1910.—Prior to the thirteenth census no attempt was made to secure information on the farm schedules concerning the nativity of farmers. The table which follows shows the color and nativity of farm operators by character of tenure for 1910:

	Total.		Owners.	Tenants.	Man-agers.	Per cent of total.
	Number.	Per cent dis-tribution.				Own-ers.	Ten-ants.	Man-agers.

Of all Missouri farmers, 93.5 per cent were native whites, 5.2 per cent foreign-born whites and 1.3 per cent negroes and other nonwhites. Of the 3,666 nonwhites, 3,656 were negroes, 9 Indians and 1 Chinese. Of the native whites, 30.7 per cent were tenants, as compared with 12.7 per cent among foreign-born whites and 41.4 per cent among the nonwhites.

Of the 14,467 foreign-born white farmers in Missouri in 1910, 8,453 were born in Germany, 1,048 in England, 883 in Ireland, 850 in Switzerland, 551 in Sweden, 546 in Canada, 504 in Austria, 291 in Scotland, 248 in France, 190 in Denmark, 167 in Italy, 163 in Wales, 109 in Hungary and 103 in Holland. Other European countries were represented by 305 farmers, and non-European countries, other than Canada, by 56.

DOMESTIC ANIMALS, POULTRY AND BEES.

Domestic Animals on Farms, 1910.—The census of 1910 was taken as of April 15 and that of 1900 as of June 1. Since a great many domestic animals are born during the six weeks between April 15 and June 1, and on the other hand a considerable number of older animals are slaughtered or die during the same period, the numbers of the different classes of animals for the two censuses are not closely comparable, and the same is true in somewhat less degree of the values. For this reason the figures for 1900 are not presented in this bulletin, but in the general reports of the census the figures for the several states will be presented and the extent to which their comparability is affected by the change in the date of enumeration will be discussed.

The total value of live stock on farms, including domestic animals, poultry and bees, in 1910 was $285,839,000, of which domestic animals contributed $273,367,000. The value of cattle represented 25.5 per cent of the total value of live stock; that of horses and mules, 55.1 per cent; that of asses and burros, 1.1 per cent; that of swine, 11.2 per cent; that of sheep, 2.8 per cent, and that of poultry, 4.2 per cent, the other classes being insignificant.

The next table summarizes the statistics of domestic animals on farms for the State, recorded as of April 15, 1910. Cattle and sheep are divided into age and sex groups, while horses, mules and swine are presented by age groups only.

Of the total number of farms enumerated, 270,637, or 97.6 per cent, report domestic animals of some kind, the number without any domestic animals being only 6,607.

Of all the farms in the State, 90.2 per cent report cattle, 88.5 per cent "dairy cows", and only 23.8 per cent "other cows." Only about 2 per cent of the farms reporting cattle have no "dairy cows." The total number of cows increased somewhat during the decade, while the average value of "dairy cows" increased from $30.72 to $35.75. The farms reporting "dairy cows" show an average of over three per farm.

The census of 1900 was taken as of June 1, after all the spring calves were born, while that of 1910 was taken as of April 15, before the close of the calving season and when the calves on hand were on the average younger than at the enumeration of 1900. As a result, the calves enumerated were fewer in number and of lower average value in 1910 than in 1900, the number decreasing from 633,000 to 296,000 and the average value decreasing from $10.96 to $8.46.

Horses are reported by 89 per cent of all the farms in the State, while 24.9 per cent report colts born in 1909 and 11.1 per cent report spring colts. The average value of spring colts is nearly two-thirds that of yearling colts and over a third as great as that of mature horses, the latter being reported at an average of $113.23.

More than two-fifths of the farms report mules and mule colts. The average values of mules of the different age groups are considerable higher than those of horses of the corresponding age groups.

Sheep and lambs are reported from 44,081 farms, or 15.9 per cent of all the farms in the State. Of these 44,081 farms, 87.3 per cent report spring lambs, the number of the latter being equal to 68.5 per cent of the number of ewes. This comparatively small proportion is doubtless due to the early date of enumeration. Ewes are reported from all but 1,442 of the farms reporting sheep, and for the farms reporting the average is nearly 24 ewes per farm. The farms reporting rams and wethers show an average of about 5 per farm.

Of all farms, 77.3 per cent report swine, the average number being nearly 21 per farm reporting. The average value of the swine reported as "hogs and pigs born before January 1, 1910," is $10.21, while that of spring pigs is almost exactly one-fifth as much.

Poultry on Farms, 1910 and 1900.—The following table gives the numbers of the various kinds of poultry reported in 1910 and 1900, together with their value and the number of farms reporting each kind in 1910.

The increase in the number of fowls on Missouri farms during the last decade amounts to 30 per cent, while the value shows an increase from $5,720,000 to $11,871,000, or 107.5 per cent. This represents a gain in the number of chickens more than sufficient to offset a decrease in the number of turkeys, ducks and geese. The number of farms reporting poultry decreased from 265,203 to 259,628, but the average number of fowls per farm reporting increased from 61 to 80. The value of poultry and the number of farms reporting were obtained in 1900 for the total of all fowls only, and not for each kind as in 1910.

Bees on Farms, 1910 and 1900.—The number of farms reporting bees has decreased from 41,145 in 1900 to 40,110 in 1910, or 2.5 per cent. The number of colonies of bees decreased from 205,110 to 203,569, or 0.8 per cent, and their value increased from $508,217 to $584,549, or 15 per cent. The average value of bees per farm reporting was $12.35 in 1900 and $14.57 in 1910. About three farms in every twenty report bees.

Domestic Animals Not on Farms, 1910.—Most of the domestic animals not on farms are found in cities, towns and villages. Statistics for such animals are shown in the next table. No provision was made by law to secure data pertaining to poultry and bees not on farms. In the next table age groups are omitted for the sake of brevity.

As would be expected, horses are by far the most important class of domestic animals not on farms, both in number and in value; cattle, over two-thirds of which are dairy cows, rank next in value.

Domestic Animals on Farms and Not on Farms, 1910.—The following table gives the total number and value of domestic animals, distinguishing those on farms from those not on farms.

The total value of all domestic animals in the State in 1910 was $294,181,000, of which the value of animals not on farms represented 7.1 per cent.

LIVE STOCK PRODUCTS.

The returns for live stock products obtained at the census of 1910, like those for crops, relate to the activities of the calendar year 1909. It is impossible to give a total representing the annual production of live stock products, for the reason that, as shown elsewhere, the total value of products from the business of raising domestic animals for use, sale or slaughter cannot be calculated from the census returns. Even if this value could be ascertained and were added to the value of the crops the sum would not correctly represent the total value of farm products, because, as already more fully explained, duplication would result from the fact that part of the crops are fed to the live stock.

Dairy Products, 1909 and 1899.—The following table shows the principal statistics relative to dairy products in 1909, with certain comparative statistics for 1899:

The number of farms reporting dairy cows on April 15, 1910, was 245,403, but only 213,741 reported dairy products in 1909. That there should be this difference is not surprising. Doubtless some farmers who had dairy cows in 1910 had none in 1909, while other farmers neglected to give information for the preceding year, or were unable to do so, perhaps because the farm was then in other hands. Dairy products in general are somewhat less accurately reported than the principal crops. This is particularly the case as regards the quantity of milk produced. The number of farms which made any report of milk produced during 1909 was 205,728 (somewhat less than the total number reporting dairy products), and the number of dairy cows on such farms on April 15, 1910, was 731,000. The amount of milk reported was 188,298,000 gallons; assuming that there were the same number of cows in 1909 as in 1910, this would represent an average of 258 gallons per cow. In considering this average, however, it should be borne in mind that the quantity of milk reported is probably deficient and that the distinction between dairy and other cows is not always strictly observed in the census returns.

By reason of the incompleteness of the returns for milk produced, the Census Bureau has made no attempt to determine the total value of dairy products for 1909. For convenience a partial total has been presented comprising the reported value of milk and cream sold as such and sold on the basis of butter fat, and the reported value of butter and cheese made, whether for home consumption or for sale. The total thus obtained for 1909 is $13,685,000, which may be defined as the total value of dairy products exclusive of milk and cream used on the farm producing.

Only about one-twelfth of the milk reported by Missouri farmers in 1909 was sold as such, a large quantity of butter being sold. The butter made on farms was valued at $8,744,000.

Comparisons are made between 1909 and 1899 for but few of the census items relating to dairy products, for the reason that in 1899 estimates were made for farms with incomplete reports, which was not done at the census of 1910. The figures for milk produced and milk sold are particularly affected, but those for butter and cheese are approximately comparable. The table shows a decrease between 1899 and 1909 in the amount of butter made, and a large relative decrease in the production of cheese.

The total number of fowls on Missouri farms on April 15, 1910, was 20,897,000. Of the 259,628 farms reporting fowls, 29,973 did not report any eggs produced in 1909, and 30,009 did not report any poultry raised in 1909. The production of eggs actually reported for the year 1909 was 104,185,000 dozens, valued at $18,025,000. According to the twelfth census reports, the production of eggs in 1899 was 85,203,000 dozens, the value being $8,315,000. The latter figures, however, are somewhat in excess of the actual returns at that census, because they include estimates made to cover those cases where the schedules reported fowls on hand without reporting the production of eggs. In order to make the returns for 1909 comparable with those published for 1899 similar estimates have been made, the method of estimate and the justification therefor being substantially the same as in the case of wool. The total production of eggs in 1909, including these estimates, was 111,817,000 dozens, valued at $19,346,000. The total production of poultry in 1909, including estimates made on the same basis as for eggs, was 31,913,000 fowls, valued at $14,573,000.

Honey and Wax, 1909.—Although, as noted elsewhere, 40,110 farms reported 203,569 colonies of bees on hand April 15, 1910, 19,668 of these farms, with 64,753 colonies on hand April 15, 1910, made no report of honey or wax produced in 1909. The actual returns show the production of 2,105,815 pounds of honey, valued at $267,998, and 23,784 pounds of wax, valued at $6,176; the true totals are doubtless somewhat above these figures.

*Schedules called for receipts from sales of animals raised on the farms reporting.

The total value of domestic animals sold during 1909 was $143,967,000, and that of animals slaughtered on farms $15,272,000, making an aggregate of $159,239,000. This total, however, involves considerable duplication, resulting from the resale or slaughter of animals which had been purchased by the farmers during the same year.

The value of the cattle (including calves) sold during 1909 represented somewhat less than two-fifths of the total value of animals sold, and the total value of swine sold was somewhat less than that of cattle sold.

The census of 1900 called for the receipts from the sale of all domestic animals raised on the farms reporting and the total value of those slaughtered during 1899, which amounted, respectively, to $54,019,000 and $9,766,000. The item of sales is not closely comparable with that for 1909, when the inquiry covered all sales whether of animals raised on the farms reporting or elsewhere. It is believed, however, that in many cases the returns for 1899 also included receipts from sales of animals not actually raised on the farms reporting.

CROPS.

Summary, 1909 and 1899.—The following table summarizes the census data relative to all of the farm crops of 1909 and 1899. It includes not only general farm crops, but also flowers and plants, nursery products and forest products of farms. In comparing one year with the other it should be borne in mind that acreage is on the whole a better index of the general changes or tendencies of agriculture than either the quantity or the value of the crops, since variations in quantity may be due largely to temporarily favorable or unfavorable climatic conditions, and variations in the value of the crops are largely affected by changes in prices. (See also discussion of "Total value of farm products.")

The total value of crops in 1909 was $220,664,000. Of this amount, 92.6 per cent was contributed by crops for which the acreage, as well as the value, was reported, the remainder consisting of the value of by-products (straw, garden and grass seeds, etc.) derived from the same land as other crops reported, or of orchard fruits, nuts, forest products and the like. The combined acreage of crops for which acreage was reported was 14,335,588, representing 58.3 per cent of the total improved land in farms (24,581,186 acres). Most of the remaining improved land doubtless consisted of improved pasture, land lying fallow, house and farmyards and land occupied by orchards and vineyards, the acreage for which was not reported.

The general character of Missouri agriculture is indicated by the fact that about two-thirds (67.1 per cent) of the total value of crops in 1909 was contributed by the cereals and 15.3 per cent by hay and forage. The remainder, representing 17.6 per cent of the total, consisted mostly of potatoes and other vegetables, forest products and fruits and nuts.

The total value of crops in 1909 was 81.7 per cent greater than that in 1899. This increase was clearly due to higher prices. There was practically no change between 1899 and 1909 in total acreage of crops for which acreage was reported, the acreage of cereals showing the greatest decrease and that of hay and forage the greatest increase.

Vegetables, Flowers and Plants and Nursery Products, 1909 and 1899.—The table which follows shows details with regard to vegetables (not including potatoes and sweet potatoes and yams, which appear elsewhere), and also with regard to flowers and plants and nursery products.

In 1909 the total acreage of potatoes and other vegetables was 233,767 and their value $13,305,829. Excluding (so far as reported separately*) potatoes and sweet potatoes and yams, the acreage of vegetables was 129,570 and their value $8,268,000, both acreage and value being materially greater than in 1899. The table distinguishes between farms which make the raising of vegetables a business of some importance (having produced vegetables valued at $500 or more in 1909) and other farms, on most of which vegetables are raised mainly for home consumption. There were in 1909 only 839 farms in the first class, representing a very small proportion of the total number of farms that reported vegetables, but comprising about one-fifteenth of the acreage of vegetables, and producing more than one-tenth of the total value, the average acreage of vegetables per farm for these farms being 10.3 and the average value of product per acre $99.50.

The raising of flowers and plants and of nursery products is also of importance in Missouri, 2,842 acres being devoted to them in 1909, and the output being valued at $1,183,297. Most of the product was raised on farms where these branches of agriculture were carried on as an important business.

Small Fruits, 1909 and 1899.—The next table shows data with regard to small fruits on farms.

Strawberries were by far the most important of the small fruits raised in Missouri, with blackberries and dewberries ranking next. The total acreage of small fruits in 1909 was 17,009 and in 1899, 14,860, an increase of 14.5 per cent. The production in 1909 was 23,696,000 quarts, as compared with 21,485,000 quarts in 1899, and the value $1,761,000, as compared with $1,051,000.

Orchard Fruits, Grapes, Nuts and Tropical Fruits, 1909 and 1899.—The following table presents data with regard to orchard fruits, grapes, nuts and tropical fruits. The acreage devoted to these products was not ascertained. In comparing one year with the other, the number of trees or vines of bearing age is on the whole a better index of the general changes or tendencies than the quantity of product, but the data for the censuses of 1910 and 1900 are not closely comparable, and the product is therefore compared, although variations may be due largely to temporarily favorable or unfavorable climatic conditions.

§Includes almonds, Japanese walnuts, butternuts, filberts, chestnuts, chinquapins, hazelnuts, beechnuts and other nuts.

The total quantity of orchard fruits produced in 1909 was 11,957,000 bushels, valued at $6,583,000. Apples contributed about five-sixths of this quantity, peaches and nectarines most of the remainder. The production of grapes in 1909 amounted to 17,872,000 pounds, valued at $489,000, and that of nuts to 2,823,000 pounds, valued at $40,000. Most of the nuts were black walnuts.

The production of all orchard fruits together in 1909 was 75.7 per cent greater than in 1899, and the production of grapes also increased. The total value of orchard fruits increased from $2,944,000 in 1899 to $6,583,000 in 1909, and that of grapes from $315,000 in 1899 to $489,000 in 1909. It should be noted in this connection that the values for 1899 included the value of more advanced products derived from orchard fruits or grapes, such as cider, vinegar, dried fruits and the like, and may therefore involve some duplication, while the values shown for 1909 relate only to the products in their original condition.

The following table shows the quantities of the more advanced products manufactured by farmers from orchard fruits and grapes. Values were not called for on the schedule.

Forest Products, 1909 and 1899.—The census schedules for 1910 called for the "value of all firewood, fencing material, logs, railroad ties, telegraph and telephone poles, materials for barrels, bark, naval stores or other forest products cut or produced in 1909, whether used on the farm, sold or on hand April 15, 1910;" and also, in a separate item, for the "amount received from sale of standing timber in 1909." There were 136,472 farms in Missouri (49.2 per cent of all farms in the State) which reported forest products in 1909, the total value of such products being $8,406,823, as compared with $4,442,131 in 1899, an increase of 89.3 per cent. Of the value in 1909, $5,608,502 was reported as that of products used or to be used on the farms themselves, $2,547,986 as that of products sold or for sale, and $250,335 as the amount received for standing timber. It should be noted that forest products not produced on farms are not included in this report.

WHAT SHOULD BE DONE TO STOP HOG CHOLERA IN MISSOURI.

The first essential is one good State department vested with quarantine authority and provided with an ample quantity of hog cholera serum of prime quality. Thus equipped, the department could announce definite plans and secure the intelligent co-operation of the public. In the control of hog cholera everything depends upon promptness, promptness on the part of citizens in reporting outbreaks and promptness on the part of officials in controlling them. I have seen instances in this State where the use of 500 doses of serum and two or three quarantine notices, used quickly on the spot, would have prevented losses running over $100,000.

The second essential is the education of hog raisers on certain points. Every hog raiser ought to understand that hogs contract cholera by eating, drinking or breathing the germs. Around this proposition hinges the whole subject of disinfection, self-imposed quarantines and the necessary prompt burning of hogs that die. This is an immense field for education. Through proper education, public sentiment in Canada, with one well-sustained official organization, has resulted in virtually perfect control of hog cholera. All the losses in Canada and all the expense of controlling the disease, in all the history of that country, have amounted to less than the losses in one Central Missouri county for the year 1912.

To sum up the situation in the fewest possible words, Missouri needs one good organization vested with complete authority for the control of hog cholera and all other contagious diseases of live stock. Such a department ought to be well supplied with funds and should merit and have the support and co-operation of the general public. Its authority should be so enduring that definite and permanent plans could be formulated and given to the public in order that people might give intelligent co-operation. Until such an effective organization is established in this State, every hog raiser is compelled to look out for himself. If hog cholera exists in the neighborhood the hog raiser should resort to a regular system of artificial immunization. Only by so doing can any man engage in hog raising in this State with confidence. Here is an outline to follow:

For a hundred-pound shoat inject, preferably in the armpit, 30 to 40 cubic centimeters of a good anti-hog-cholera serum. With another syringe and in another part of the body, inject 15 or 20 drops of virulent hog cholera blood. If the hog be smaller or larger, modify the dose accordingly. This treatment should be postponed until sows have farrowed, as pregnant sows are unfavorably affected by such vaccination. If pigs are under six weeks old when this system is commenced, give them the serum only, and four or five weeks later give them the supplementary injection as above. Thereafter vaccinate all pigs at weaning time with the simultaneous method. When these directions are strictly followed and only good serum and virulent blood are employed, hog cholera losses will be entirely avoided. When in doubt what to do, or when in need of information, write to State Veterinarian, Columbia, Mo.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC DEVELOPMENT IN MISSOURI.

The plant of the Ozark Power and Water Company is located on White river, seventeen miles below Branson in Taney county, and is the largest hydro-electric development in the State of Missouri. It was commenced January 1, 1912, and finished September 1, 1913. The plant has an ultimate capacity of 28,000 horse power, 17,000 of which is installed at the present time. It has a concrete spillway, and is 1,300 feet long from bank to bank. It has a height of fifty feet, with a spillway six hundred feet long. The dam is built on a good site, and is of twenty feet height. The power house is located on the east end of the dam. It is two hundred feet long, and is arranged to discharge water to a big turbine, which is connected to a generator. The water wheels, generators, switchboard and transformer equipment. The approximate cost of the dam and plant complete with transmission lines to Carthage, Webb City, Joplin and Springfield is $2,000,000.

Current is generated at 2,300 volts, 3 phase, 25 cycle, and is stepped up to 66,000 volts for transmission to Springfield, Joplin and other towns along the line. The transmission line has a total length of one hundred and forty-three miles. The portion passing through the Ozark hills is of steel tower construction; the balance is built with wood poles. Large substations are located in Springfield and Joplin, where the 66,000 volt current is stepped down to 2,300 volts and is distributed for power purposes. The plant was placed in operation September 1, 1913, and is now supplying a large share of the light and power for Springfield and the Joplin mining district. Missouri offers almost unlimited opportunities for water power development. The foregoing is given as an illustration of the possibilities that may be found in every section of the State.

WOMEN FARMERS SUCCESSFUL IN MISSOURI.

MISS MAUDE M. GRIFFITH, HER FARM HOME AND PET HORSE.

Farming in Missouri is an inviting field for profit. The larger the measure of intelligence and industry applied, the greater the profits. While brawn is an asset in farming, soil, climate and brains are of greater consideration. The State affords many examples of successful women farmers. Miss Maude M. Griffith, living in St. Clair county, six miles south of Deepwater, Henry county, is a notable instance. Her father died leaving a widow and eight daughters. On Miss Maude, the eldest daughter, fell the management of the sixteen hundred acre farm. She did not shirk her new responsibilities. On the farm she had been reared and had acquired a good education. She knew the value of crop rotation, the methods of soil fertilization, of pure-bred stock; she knew how to farm intelligently. Not only did she maintain the widow and fatherless family in affluence, but the sisters were given the best school advantages, the bank account steadily increased and the farm improved. Though fond of good horses, she finds the automobile a convenience and timesaver. Her farm, worth approximately $60,000.00 when she became its manager five years ago, is now, with its improvements, worth fully $75,000.00.

Miss Griffith says: "Farming is not for man alone but is often thrust upon woman. There are many women in the State of Missouri who, like myself, are farming to overcome circumstances which have forced them to become 'breadwinners.' I look upon farming as a business, if not a profession. I try to conduct my business just as systematically and according to as strict business principles as does the best banker or merchant; and I think this the strongest factor in my experience as a farmer. A thorough acquaintance with my father's ideas gave me a foundation upon which to formulate my agricultural plans. The more I study the work the more interesting it becomes. The life of the farmer need not be the narrow, one-sided life so often referred to. To be a wide-awake, up-to-date farmer requires that one be versed in legal matters, have a definite idea of finances and be a good buyer as well as a salesman. I keep posted upon current and scientific ideas. Each year I attend such lectures at the agricultural college as touch upon the subjects that interest me. I think the work of the State University and Agricultural College cannot be commended too highly.

"The next strong factor in my success as a woman farmer is the forming of some definite plan of what I wish to accomplish the ensuing year.

"The combination of stock raising and grain farming materially increases profits. My greatest profits have been from the sale of hogs. Conservation of soil fertility is a subject to which I attach great importance. No implement on my farm is so much used as the manure spreader.

"Farming aimlessly is drudgery. This explains so much discontent among a certain class of farmers. At the close of each year I know what I have expended and for what, while on the other hand I know what the returns have been. My ideas for farm management may be summed up in a few words: Farm on business principles; use brains as well as brawn; do things in a way to stimulate interest, and make it worth while to do the things we find to do, even on the farm."

Miss Griffith has possibly become best known throughout the State in connection with the culture of English blue grass. Aside from the work of the farm she is prominent in many affairs of public life. She is secretary of the Missouri Women Farmers' Club, is a member of the executive board for the International Congress of Farm Women, is chairman of the Woman's Section of the National Drainage Congress, and was delegate in 1913 from Missouri to the International Congress of Farm Women. She takes an active interest in progressive educational movements of every kind, especially in agriculture, a subject in which she has theoretically and practically qualified as an expert and a success.

THE SILO FOR MISSOURI FARMERS.

(C. H. Eckles.)

Advantages of the Silo.—There are a number of advantages that go with the use of the silo, but the greatest of all is the possibility it affords of utilizing all the corn crop. There was a time when the land was cheap and an abundance of coarse feed at hand that had little market value. Under these conditions it was not a serious loss if a portion of the corn crop was wasted. At the present time, with both farm lands and feeds high in price, conditions are quite different. When the ears of corn are husked in the ordinary way and the fodder left in the field from 60 to 70 per cent of the food value of the corn crop is taken with the ears, while 30 to 40 per cent remains with the fodder. It is possible to utilize a small portion of this fodder by turning cattle into the stalk fields in the ordinary manner. But every farmer knows that the benefits derived in this way are comparatively small.

Prof. M. F. Miller of the agronomy department of the State University gives the figures below as the average yield of silage per acre for corn varying in yield from 30 to 100 bushels. These figures are the average of results of experiments at Columbia and at several other places in the State.

Average Yield of Silage per Acre.

Yield of corn, bushels.	Yield of silage, tons.

According to these figures a crop of corn that will yield 50 bushels to the acre will furnish at least 10 tons of silage. Upon the basis of total food value $2\frac{1}{2}$ tons of silage are equal to 1 ton of timothy hay. This means that a yield of 10 tons of silage per acre is equivalent in feeding value to 4 tons of timothy hay per acre. On the same basis, when corn is worth 50 cents per bushel a ton of silage is worth \$3.35. Calculated in this way, an acre of corn yielding 50 bushels per acre when put into the silo is worth \$33.50, while at 50 cents per bushel the grain is worth \$25.00.

As compared with the cutting of the corn and shocking in the field, the use of the silo is a distinct saving of labor. When putting corn in the silo it is handled but once and then under the most favorable conditions. That is to say, it is handled in large quantities and with an organized force and under favorable weather conditions.

The Summer Silo.—It is a safe prediction that in the course of time the majority of stock farmers in the State will not only have a silo to preserve feed for use in the winter, but will also have sufficient capacity to keep a reserve supply for use in the summer. Silage may be kept without loss from one year to another, and if it is not needed during the summer months the silo may be refilled in the fall after taking out a layer of rotten material which will be found on top. If the pastures are short on account of temporary lack of rainfall the silo may be opened and the stock kept in good condition. On farms where a considerable amount of stock is kept the best solution of the problem of supplying summer feed will be to have a larger silo for winter feeding and a smaller one for summer use. A number of dairymen in the State were fortunate enough to have silage on hand during the summer of 1911 and report that they were able to maintain the flow of milk from their herds practically as well as though the cows had been on good pasture.

Size of Silo to Build.—The size of the silo that should be built will depend upon the number of animals to be fed. As a rule, the mistake is made of building the silo too large in diameter rather than too small. The silo should be small enough so that the animals will consume a quantity each day equal to a layer of at least two inches over the entire surface. Silage keeps better in a deep silo than in a shallow one because it is more firmly packed and at the same time more feed can be stored in the same space. Except with a very large herd it is not advisable to build a silo more than sixteen feet in diameter. If more capacity is needed a second silo should be constructed. As a rule the height of the silo should be at least twice the diameter. After the silo is opened silage should be taken out regularly, otherwise that which is exposed to the air at the surface will spoil within two or three days. The amount of silage ordinarily fed to a dairy cow, or to a mature beef animal of the same size, is from 30 to 40 pounds per day. Feeding 30 pounds per day will require 900 pounds per month per animal, or about $5\frac{1}{4}$ tons to feed each animal six months.

Material Used for Building Silos.—For the past fifteen years practically all silos built have been round in shape and this is the only style to be recommended at present. The essential things in silo construction are to have an air-tight wall, smooth on the inside so the silage can settle properly, and a structure sufficiently strong to hold the enormous pressure of the silage and durable enough so that it will not be necessary to replace it for some time. Successful silos have been built in a variety of ways and of a variety of materials, including wooden staves, concrete, wood plastered with cement, stone, wood, brick, iron and tile. It is not the purpose in this circular to give details for construction of silos, but rather to give information regarding the subject in general and the advantages of the first three types mentioned.

The Stave Silo.—The most common silo found in this State is that known as the stave silo. This is built on the plan of a stave water tank. It is purchased ready to put together, requiring only that the foundation be made. A foundation is built of concrete. The walls should be about eight inches thick and should extend two or three feet into the ground. On this the silo is erected. There are many types and forms of stave silos and it is impossible to say which is the best. It is preferable to use those having one-piece staves. The continuous door is more convenient. Little positive evidence is at hand as to which wood is the most suitable and durable for silo building.

The stave silo preserves the silage as well as any type in use. It is easily erected and can also be taken down if it is desired to move it. The disadvantage of this type of silo is that it gives some trouble on account of drying out and attention must be given to keeping the hoops at the right tension. It should be fastened securely with wire cables attached to sleepers placed in the ground a short distance from the structure, otherwise it may blow over or collapse when empty. The stave silo should be expected to last from ten to fifteen years, depending upon the wood from which it is made and other conditions. Those that are made of wood treated with creosote or other suitable wood preservatives are more durable than the untreated. The cost will vary and can easily be obtained from agents. In the central part of Missouri a stave silo 16x32 feet will cost about $350 at the present time. The foundation is not included in this estimate.

Crops for the Silos.—The silo has been tried as a means of preserving nearly all the common crops grown on the farm. However, it cannot be said to be an unqualified success except with a limited number. Corn is pre-eminently the crop for the silo. The yield of total nutrients per acre with this crop is greater than ordinarily secured from any other. It has the further advantage of packing well to exclude the air and contains the proper amount of sugar to form the acid needed to preserve it without becoming too sour. The best results are obtained, as a rule, by using the variety of corn best adapted to the locality and grown in the same manner as is done when grown for the grain. Larger yields of silage per acre may be secured from some of the special varieties known as silage corn, but these produce a less amount of grain and the total feed value secured is no more than from other varieties grown for grain.

Stage of Cutting Crops for the Silo.—It is a well demonstrated fact that plants such as corn gather the greater part of their feeding value after the plant is full grown. A corn plant at the time the ear commences to form contains a comparatively small amount of food and is mostly water. The greater part of the food value of the plant is formed from this time until the ear ripens. If corn is cut to be put into the silo at too early a date some of the feeding value is lost since the plant has not had time to mature sufficiently. Furthermore, it is found that when immature corn is used the silage is too sour. The proper stage to cut corn is when it shows the first sign of ripening. In a year of normal rainfall this is when the husks first begin to turn yellow at the end of the ear, while the leaves of the plant are still green. At this time the kernels are entirely past the milk stage and are glazed and dented. Silage made from such corn does not develop so much acid as when cut in a less mature stage, although it still develops a sufficient amount to preserve it. If the corn crop gets past this point before it is possible to put it into the silo and the leaves or husks are dried, it is always advisable to add some water. The cut corn as found in the silo at filling time should feel moist to the touch. Corn can be put into the silo with reasonable success even up to the time when the leaves are nearly all dry, provided a sufficient amount of water is used to properly wet it up. No bad results follow the use of too much water. It means that there will be more water to carry out with the silage when fed. On the other hand, if too little water is used the silage may spoil by the formation of mould. For this reason it is advisable to be on the safe side and use too much rather than too little water. The water may be added to the silage at the time of filling by running it into the blower with a hose from a barrel, or, if convenient, it may be added to the silage in the silo as the filling progresses. In putting kafir corn or sorghum into the silo the seed should be past the milk stage and the stalks beginning to show the first sign of ripening. If a crop of corn, sorghum or kafir corn becomes frosted, it is well to go ahead with the work, using an abundance of water so as to moisten the entire mass properly.

The Filling of the Silo.—When corn is used for silage the entire plant, including the ear, is cut into about one-half inch lengths, using a large power cutter for the purpose. A large cutter which permits of filling the silo rapidly is the most economical of labor. It is advisable for three or four farmers located close together to buy a silage cutter together. Then, by helping each other, they are able to fill the silos for the group with the minimum expense. The cutters used to fill medium to large size silos have a capacity of from ten to fifteen tons per hour. From four to six teams are required to haul the corn from the field, depending upon the distance and other conditions. The corn may be cut in the field with a corn binder if one is at hand, or may be cut by hand and thrown in piles. The cost of filling a silo has been found to vary from 50 cents to $1.00 per ton, depending upon the machinery used, the yield of corn per acre, the distance hauled and how the work is organized and handled. With good organization and machinery the cost should not be more than 75 cents per ton.

The silage settles about eight feet in a silo thirty feet high, and for this reason where rapid filling is practiced the silo will not be full after it has settled unless filled a second time. If it is convenient to allow the machine to stand two or three days for the silage to settle, it may be filled and most of the capacity made use of. Where no special form of distributor is used in the silo, there is a tendency for the heavier pieces of ears to drop in one place, while the leaves and stalks are thrown a greater distance. In order to keep the silage of a uniform composition the portion richer in grain should be distributed over the surface of the silo as the filling progresses. It is especially important to make certain that the silage is packed closely around the walls, since this is where the air gets in and where the spoiling takes place. The wall must be smooth to make as little friction as possible in settling. While the silo is being filled, one man, at least, and preferably two, should work in the silo constantly distributing the silage and packing it. The outside next to the wall should be kept higher than the center and should be constantly tramped. There is no necessity for tramping the middle, as it will take care of itself. When the filling is completed the top should be leveled off and tramped down as thoroughly as possible over the entire surface. The upper layer should be thoroughly wet with water in some way. This can be done by running the water into the blower as the last few tons are run in, or by putting it into the silo after the filling is completed. The idea is to form an air-tight layer over the top to prevent the silage from spoiling. Some advocate the use of cut straw thoroughly wet on the top of the silage. It has also been suggested that after the silage is thoroughly wet down oats be sown on top. These will soon sprout and assist in sealing up the silo more quickly.

Feeding Silage.—The feeding of silage may be begun if desired as soon as the filling is completed, and under these conditions there need be no loss. However, the fermentation is not completed at that time and the corn first fed does not have all the characteristics of silage, but is perfectly safe to feed. When the owner wishes to begin feeding, the rotten layer at the top is first removed until a good quality of silage is found. The silage is always taken from the top and the surface should be kept level. At least two inches per day should be taken off to make certain that spoiling will not take place. Spoiled silage should be rejected. If the silo is properly constructed and if the filling has been properly done, however, there should be little loss from spoiling.

Silage Spoils in Two Ways.—One is in the nature of rotting, and silage that shows this type of spoiling has the appearance of rotted manure. This kind of spoiling indicates that air has gained access to the silage. The other kind of spoiling often found is the formation of a white mould. This generally indicates that the silage was too dry, and this loss could have been prevented by the addition of more water at the time of filling. If there is a layer of spoiled silage around the outer edge it indicates that the walls of the silo are not air tight or that sufficient tramping was not done in filling.

INSULAR POSSESSIONS OF THE UNITED STATES.

THE PHILIPPINES.

The Philippine group, lying off the southern coast of Asia, extending almost due north and south from Formosa to Borneo and the Moluccas, between longitude $116^{\circ} 40'$ and $126^{\circ} 34'$, and latitude $4^{\circ} 40'$ and $21^{\circ} 10'$, approximately number about 3,141 islands and islets, of which 1,668 are listed by name, while 1,473 are, so far as known, without names. The actual land area is about 115,026 square miles. The six New England states, New York and New Jersey have about an equal area. The island of Luzon, on which the capital city (Manila) is situated, is the largest, most populous and wealthiest member of the group, being about the size of the state of New York. Mindanao is nearly as large, but its population is very much smaller. There are two islands with areas exceeding 10,000 square miles each, namely, Luzon with 40,969 and Mindanao with 36,292. There are nine islands each of which has an area of more than 1,000 square miles and less than 10,000. There are twenty between 100 and 1,000 square miles, seventy-three between 10 and 100 square miles and two hundred and sixty-two between 1 and 10 square miles. The remaining number, 2,775, or seven-eighths of all, have areas less than a square mile each. The areas of the largest islands are: Luzon, 40,969; Mindanao, 36,292; Samar, 5,031; Panay, 4,611; Mindoro, 3,851; Leyte, 2,722; Negros, 4,881; Cebu, 1,762.

The islands with large populations are: Luzon, with 3,798,507 inhabitants, of whom 223,506 are uncivilized; Panay, 743,646 (14,933 uncivilized); Cebu, 592,247 (all civilized); Mindanao, 499,634 (252,940 uncivilized); Negros, 460,776 (21,217 uncivilized); Leyte, 357,641 (all civilized); Bohol, 243,148 (all civilized); Samar, 222,690 (688 uncivilized). The capital of the Archipelago is Manila, with 234,409 inhabitants. Other towns are: In Luzon, Bauan (39,094), Lipa (37,934), Laoag (34,454), Batangas (33,131), San Carlos (27,166), Tabaco (21,946); in Samar, Calbayog (15,895); in Panay, Janiway (20,738), Mlagao (20,656), Iloilo (19,054); in Cebu, Argao (35,448), Cebu (31,079), Barili (31,617), Carcar (31,895), Sibonga (25,848); in Leyte, Baybay (22,990), Ormoc (16,128).

A census of the Philippines was taken by the United States Government in 1903 under the auspices of the census office. The population returned was 7,635,426. Of this number almost seven millions are more or less civilized. The wild tribes form about 9 per cent of the entire population. Racially the inhabitants are principally Malays. The civilized tribes are practically all adherents of the Catholic Church, the religion being that introduced into the country by the Spaniards when they took possession of the islands in 1565. The church has since then been a strong ruling power and the priesthood is numerous. The Moros are Mohammedans and the other wild peoples have no recognized religious beliefs. The total number of non-Christian peoples is 647,740.

The density of population in the Philippines is 67 per square mile. In continental United States it is 26 per square mile. Foreigners number about 50,000, of whom nearly three-fourths are Chinese. Exclusive of the army there are 8,135 Americans in the islands, nearly one-half being located in the city of Manila. There are about twenty-five different tribes in the islands, speaking fifteen or sixteen distinct dialects, the largest tribe being the Visayans, who form nearly one-fourth of the entire civilized population (3,219,030). The Tagalogs, occupying the provinces in the vicinity of Manila (1,460,695), rank second in numbers, and the Ilocanos (803,942) the third. Education has been practically reorganized by the Americans. The total annual enrollment is 615,795. Nine thousand and eighty-six teachers are employed, of whom 683 are Americans and 8,403 Filipinos. English is very generally taught, and the next generation of Filipinos will probably speak that tongue. Pauperism is almost unknown in the islands. In 1902 there were only 1,668 paupers maintained at public charge. Vital statistics are as yet restricted to Manila. The death rate in the city of Manila is 33.22 per thousand. The birth rate is 39.16 per thousand. In 1908 there were 61 newspapers published in the islands, 18 being in English, 17 in Spanish, 16 in native dialects, 2 in Chinese, 4 in Spanish and native languages, and 4 in Spanish and English. The estimated real estate property value in 1903 was 469,527,058 pesos and the personal property 152,718,661 pesos. The reported value of church buildings, mostly Catholic, is 41,698,710 pesos.

The climate is one of the best in the tropics. The islands extend from 5° to 21° north latitude, and Manila is in $14^{\circ} 35'$. The thermometer during July and August rarely goes below 79° or above 85° . The extreme ranges in a year are said to be 61° and 97° , and the annual mean 81° .

Agriculture.

Although agriculture is the chief occupation of the Filipinos, yet only one-ninth of the surface is under cultivation. The soil is very fertile, and even after deducting the mountainous areas it is probable that the area of cultivation can be very largely extended and that the islands can support population equal to that of Japan (42,000,000).

The chief products are hemp, rice, corn, sugar, tobacco, cocoanuts and cacao, hemp being the most important commercial product and constituting two-thirds of the value of all exports. Coffee and cotton were formerly produced in large quantities—the former for export and the latter for home consumption; but the coffee plant has been almost exterminated by insects and the home-made cotton cloths have been driven out by the competition of those imported from England. The rice and corn are principally produced in Luzon and Mindoro and are consumed in the islands. The cacao is raised in the southern islands, the best quality of it at Mindanao. The sugar cane is raised in the Visayas. The hemp is produced in Southern Luzon, Mindoro, the Visayas and Mindanao. It is nearly all exported in bales. Tobacco is raised in many of the islands, especially Luzon and Negros.

Imports and Exports.

In the year ending June 30, 1912, the exports of merchandise from the United States to the Philippines were $23,703,935, and the total imports from the Philippines for the same period were $23,257,199.

The imports of merchandise from foreign countries, year ending June 30, 1912, were $33,945,825 and the exports were $28,802,059. The principal foreign countries trading with the Philippines are Great Britain, French East Indies, China and Spain.

Civil Government of the Philippines.

On July 1, 1902, Congress passed (chapter 1369) "An act temporarily to provide for the administration of the affairs of civil government in the Philippine Islands and for other purposes." Under this act complete civil government was established in the Archipelago, except that portion inhabited by Moros, comprising part of Mindanao and the Sulu Islands, and the office of Military Governor was terminated. Wm. H. Taft was appointed Governor by the President. Governor Taft was succeeded by Luke E. Wright in December, 1903, by Henry Clay Ide in 1905, James F. Smith in 1906, W. Cameron Forbes in 1909, and Francis B. Harrison, the present Governor, in 1913. The government was composed of a civil Governor and seven commissioners, of whom four were Americans and three Filipinos. By act of Congress approved May 11, 1908, the commission was increased by one member, to be appointed by the President, making the commission nine members in all, including the Governor-General, who is president of the Philippine Commission. There are four executive departments—Interior, Finance, and Justice, Commerce and Police, and Public Instruction. There are thirty-eight provinces, each with a governor, a treasurer and prosecuting attorney (provincial fiscal). Local governments have been established in about 650 towns. The officials consist of a president, vice-president and councilmen (the latter varying in number according to the population) and are elected by the qualified voters of the municipality and serve for four years. The judiciary consists of a supreme court, with seven judges; courts of first instance, justice of the peace courts, and a court of land registration. There are seventeen judicial districts. In each province there is a court of first instance and a court of the justice of the peace in each organized municipality in every province where there is a court of first instance. In March, 1907, the President, in accordance with the act of Congress, directed the commission to call a general election of delegates to a Philippine Assembly. The new Assembly was chosen July 30, and was opened October 16 by Secretary of War Taft. It was politically divided as follows: Nacionalists, 31; Progresistas, 16; Independents, 20; Inmediatistas, 7; Independistas, 4; Nacional Independiente, 1; Catolico, 1. The total vote recorded at the election for delegates was 104,000, which is only 1.4 per cent of the population. The second election was held on November 2, 1909. The number of persons registered was 208,845 and the number of votes cast 192,975, which is 2.81 per cent of the population. By act of February 15, 1911, the present membership of the Philippine Assembly and resident commissioners to the United States will hold office until October 16, 1916, their successors to be chosen in 1916 and quadrennially thereafter, to hold office from October 16th next following their election. The next election will take place about June 1, 1916. At the first session of the Sixty-first Congress an act was passed and approved August 5, 1909, readjusting the customs duties on imports from all countries, including the United States, on the basis generally of reductions.

The Philippine constabulary, which is distributed throughout the Archipelago in 119 stations, consists of 303 officers and 4,167 enlisted men.

There are in operation 572 postoffices, free delivery municipal letter-carrier service in 115 municipalities, 209 money order offices and 414 postal savings banks, with 28,804 accounts. Of the 28,745 depositors, 23,174 are Filipinos.

There are 6,691.5 kilometers of insular telegraph lines, 3,008.78 kilometers of telephone lines, 1,853.9 kilometers of cables and 923.5 kilometers of railroads in operation.

PORTO RICO.

The island of Porto Rico, over which the flag of the United States was raised in token of formal possession on October 18, 1898, is the most eastern of the Greater Antilles in the West Indies and is separated on the east from the Danish island of St. Thomas by a distance of about fifty miles, and from Hayti on the west by the Mona passage, seventy miles wide. Distances from San Juan, the capital, to important points are as follows: New York, 1,411 miles; Charleston, S. C., 1,200 miles; Key West, Fla., 950 miles; Havana, 1,000 miles.

The island is a parallelogram in general outline, 108 miles from the east to the west, and from 37 to 43 miles across, the area being about 3,600 square miles, or somewhat less than half that of the state of New Jersey (Delaware has 2,050 square miles and Connecticut 4,990 square miles). The population according to an enumeration made by the United States Government in 1900 showed a population of 953,243, of whom 589,426 are white and 363,817 are colored. The density was 260 to the square mile in 1900; 83.2 per cent of the population could not read. The population in 1910 is reported as 1,118,012.

Porto Rico is unusually fertile, and its dominant industries are agriculture and lumbering. In elevated regions the vegetation of the temperate zone is not unknown. There are more than 500 varieties of trees found in the forests, and the plains are full of palm, orange and other trees. The principal crops are sugar, coffee, tobacco and maize, but oranges, bananas, rice, pineapples and many other fruits are important products. The largest article of export from Porto Rico is sugar. The next is tobacco. Other exports in order of amount are coffee, fruits, molasses, cattle, timber and hides.

The principal minerals found in Porto Rico are gold, carbonates and sulphates of copper and magnetic oxide of iron in large quantities. Lignite is found at Utuado and Moca, and also yellow amber. A large variety of marbles, limestones and other building stones are deposited on the island, but these resources are very undeveloped. There are salt works at Guanica and Salina on the south coast, and at Cape Rojo on the west, and these constitute the principal mineral industry in Porto Rico.

The principal cities are Mayaguez, with 16,939; Ponce, 35,027 inhabitants, and San Juan, the capital, with 48,716. The shipments of domestic merchandise from the United States to Porto Rico, year ending June 30, 1912, were $37,424,545. The exports of domestic merchandise to the United States were $42,873,401. The foreign trade, year ending June 30, 1912, was: Imports, $4,501,923; exports, $6,832,012.

An act providing for a civil government for Porto Rico was passed by the Fifty-sixth Congress and received the assent of the President April 12, 1900. A statement of its provisions was printed in the World Almanac for 1901, pages 92 and 93. President Roosevelt in his message to Congress in December, 1906, recommended the granting of United States citizenship to the Porto Ricans, and a bill was introduced in the Sixty-second Congress providing for the same, but failed to reach a final vote.

Under this act a civil government was established which went into effect May 1, 1900. There are two legislative chambers, the Executive Council, or "Upper House," composed of the Government Secretary, Attorney-General, Treasurer, Auditor, Commissioner of the Interior and Commissioner of Education, and five citizens appointed by the President, and the House of Delegates, or "Lower House," consisting of 35 members, elected by the people. The island is represented in the Congress of the United States by a Resident Commissioner.

GUAM.

The island of Guam, the largest of the Mariana Archipelago, was ceded by Spain to the United States by article 2 of the Treaty of Peace, concluded at Paris December 10, 1898. It lies in a direct line from San Francisco to the southern part of the Philippines, and is 5,000 miles from San Francisco and 1,500 miles from Manila. It is about 32 miles long and 100 miles in circumference, and has a population of 12,517. The inhabitants are mostly immigrants or descendants of immigrants from the Philippines, the original race of the Mariana Islands being nearly extinct. The prevailing language is English. Spanish and Chamorro are also spoken. Nine-tenths of the islanders can read and write. The island is thickly wooded, well watered and fertile, and possesses an excellent harbor. The productions are tropical fruits, cacao, rice, corn, tobacco and sugar cane.

The island was captured by the U. S. S. Charleston, Captain Henry Glass commanding, June 21, 1898, the American flag raised over Fort Santa Cruz and a salute fired. Later the island was made a naval station, and Commander E. D. Taussig, of the U. S. S. Bennington, took possession February 1, 1899. The Governor is a naval officer, and the island has a marine garrison as well as a station ship.

TUTUILA (AMERICAN SAMOA).

Tutuila, the Samoan island which, with its attendant islets of Manu'a, Olosega, Ofu, Aunu'u and Rose, became a possession of the United States by virtue of the tri-partite treaty with Great Britain and Germany in 1899, covers, according to the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor, fifty-five square miles, and has (by census of February 1, 1912) 7,251 inhabitants. It possesses the most valuable island harbor, Pago-Pago, in the South Pacific, and perhaps in the entire Pacific Ocean. Commercially the island is unimportant at present, but is extremely valuable in its relations to the commerce of any nation desiring to cultivate trans-Pacific commerce.

Ex-Chief Justice Chambers of Samoa says of Pago-Pago that "The harbor could hold the entire naval force of the United States, and is so perfectly arranged that only two vessels can enter at the same time. The coaling station, being surrounded by high bluffs, cannot be reached by shells from outside." Capacity of coaling station, 4,200 tons.

The Samoan Islands, in the South Pacific, are fourteen in number, and lie in a direct line drawn from San Francisco to Auckland, New Zealand. Tutuila is 4,160 miles from San Francisco, 2,263 miles from Hawaii, 1,580 miles from Auckland, 2,354 miles from Sydney and 4,200 miles from Manila. Germany governs all the group except the part owned by the United States. The inhabitants are native Polynesians and Christians of different denominations.

The civil government is administered by a Governor, a naval officer nominated by the Navy Department and appointed by the President. All civil affairs are under the jurisdiction of the Navy Department.

WAKE AND OTHER ISLANDS.

The United States flag was hoisted over Wake Island in January, 1899, by Commander Taussig of the Bennington while proceeding to Guam. It is a small island in the direct route from Hawaii to Hongkong, about 2,000 miles from the first and 3,000 miles from the second.

The United States possesses a number of scattered small islands in the Pacific Ocean, some hardly more than rocks or coral reefs, over which the flag has been hoisted from time to time. They are of little present value and mostly uninhabited. The largest are Christmas, Gallego, Starbuck, Penrhyn, Phoenix, Palmyra, Howland, Baker, Johnston, Gardner, Midway, Morell and Marcus islands. The Midway Islands are occupied by a colony of telegraphers in charge of the relay in the cable line connecting the Philippines with the United States, in all about forty persons.

The Santa Barbara group is a part of California and the Aleutian chain, extending from the peninsula of Kamchatka in Asiatic Russia to the promontory in North America which separates Behring Sea from the North Pacific, a part of Alaska.

HAWAII.

Hawaii was annexed to the United States by joint resolution of Congress July 7, 1898. A bill to create Hawaii a territory of the United States was passed by Congress and approved April 30, 1900.

The area of the several islands of the Hawaiian group is as follows: Hawaii, 4,210 square miles; Maui, 760; Oahu, 600; Kauai, 590; Molokai, 270; Lanai, 150; Niihau, 97; Kahoolawe, 63. Total, 6,740 square miles.

At the time of the discovery of the islands by Captain Cook in 1778 the native population was about 200,000. This has steadily decreased, so that at the census of 1910 the native born numbered but 98,157. Total foreign born (1910), 93,752.

The first United States census of the islands was taken in 1900 with the following result: Hawaii Island, 46,843; Kauai Island, 20,562; Niihau Island, 172; Maui Island, 25,416; Molokai Island and Lanai Island, 2,504; Oahu Island, 58,504. Total of the territory, 154,001. The population of the city of Honolulu was 39,306. The population of Hawaii according to the 1910 census, made by the United States Census Bureau, was 191,909, Honolulu City having a population of 52,183.

The exports from Hawaii to the United States in the twelve months ending June 30, 1911, were valued at $41,207,941. The imports into Hawaii from the United States for the same period were valued at $22,322,121. The imports from foreign countries for the same period were $5,190,449, exports $730,642.

The new Territorial Government was inaugurated at Honolulu June 14, 1900, and the first Territorial Legislature began its sessions at Honolulu February 20, 1901. The Legislature is composed of two houses—the Senate of fifteen members, holding office four years, and the House of Representatives of thirty members, holding office two years. The Legislature meets biennially, and sessions are limited to sixty days.

The executive power is lodged in a Governor, a Secretary, both appointed by the President, and hold office four years, and the following officials appointed by the Governor, by and with the consent of the Senate of Hawaii: An Attorney-General, Treasurer, Commissioner of Public Lands, Commissioner of Agriculture and Forestry, Superintendent of Public Works, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Auditor and Deputy, Surveyor, High Sheriff, and members of the boards of health, public instruction, prison inspectors, etc. They hold office for four years, and must be citizens of Hawaii.

The judiciary of the territory is composed of the Supreme Court, with three judges, the circuit court and such inferior courts as the Legislature may establish. The judges are appointed by the President. The territory is a Federal Judicial District, with a district judge, district attorney and marshal, all appointed by the President. The district judge has all the powers of a circuit judge.

The territory is represented in Congress by a delegate, who is elected biennially by the people.

Provision is made in the act creating the territory for the residence of Chinese in the territory, and prohibition as laborers to enter the United States.

THE TERRITORY OF ALASKA.

The Sixty-second Congress, second session, enacted a law which was approved August 24, 1912, "to create a Legislative Assembly in the Territory of Alaska, to confer legislative power thereon and for other purposes."

The first section provides that "the territory ceded to the United States by Russia by the treaty of March 30, 1867, and known as Alaska, shall be and constitute the Territory of Alaska under the laws of the United States, the government of which shall be organized and administered as provided by said laws."

The second section constitutes the city of Juneau as the capital of the Territory.

By other sections of the act the legislative power and authority of the Territory is vested in a Legislature, to consist of a Senate of eight members (two from each of the four judicial districts into which Alaska is now divided) and a House of Representatives of sixteen members (four from each judicial district). It is provided that the election for members of the first Legislature shall take place the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1912, and subsequent Legislatures shall be elected biennially. The Legislature shall be convened biennially on the first Monday of March and continue in session not longer than sixty days. The veto power is invested in the Governor, but laws vetoed by him may be passed over his veto by a two-thirds vote of all the members of each House. All laws passed by the Territorial Legislature shall be transmitted by the Governor to the President of the United States and by him submitted to Congress, and if disapproved by Congress, shall be null and void.

The following section of the act creates a Railroad Commission for the Territory:

"Section 18. That an officer of the Engineer Corps of the United States Army, a geologist in charge of Alaska surveys, an officer in the Engineer Corps of the United States Navy and a civil engineer who has had practical experience in railroad construction and has not been connected with any railroad enterprise in said Territory, be appointed by the President as a commission hereby authorized and instructed to conduct an examination into the transportation question in the Territory of Alaska; to examine railroad routes from the seaboard to the coal fields and to the interior and navigable waterways; to secure surveys and other information with respect to railroads, including cost of construction and operation; to obtain information in respect to the coal fields and their proximity to railroad routes; and to make report of the facts to Congress on or before December 1, 1912, or as soon thereafter as may be practicable, together with their conclusions and recommendations in respect to the best and most available routes for railroads in Alaska which will develop the country and the resources thereof for the use of the people of the United States: Provided further, that the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated to defray the expenses of said commission."

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS UPON POSTAL SUBJECTS.

(Compiled from U. S. Postal Regulations.)

Direct your mail matter to a postoffice, and if to a city, add the street and number or postoffice box of the person addressed. If you are not certain that the place to which you wish to send is a postoffice, inquire of the postmaster. Matter not addressed to a postoffice cannot be forwarded. To insure certainty in dispatch of mail, give the county in which the postoffice is situated and spell the name of the state in full. Write or print your name and address, and the contents, if a package, upon the upper left-hand corner of all mail matter. This will insure its immediate return to you for correction, if improperly addressed or insufficiently paid; and if it is not called for at its destination it will be returned to you without going to the dead letter office. If a letter, it will be returned free. Register all valuable letters and packages. Registry fee, ten cents, which, with the postage, must be fully prepaid, and name and address of sender must be given on the outside of envelope or wrapper.

RATES OF POSTAGE.

All mailable matter for transmission by the United States mails within the United States is divided into four classes under the following regulations. (Domestic rates apply to mail for Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Tutuila, Porto Rico, Guam, Hawaii, the Philippines, the "Canal Zone," the Republic of Panama and Shanghai, China), also to officers or members of the crew of vessels of war of the United States and officers and men of the United States Navy in the United States Naval Hospital, Yokohama, Japan.

First-class Matter.—This class includes letters, postal cards, "post cards," and anything sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, except sealed packages of proprietary articles described under "Fourth-class Matter," or anything containing writing not authorized on second, third or fourth-class matter.

First-class or letter rate of postage to any part of the United States, its possessions, or the above-named countries, two cents per ounce or fraction thereof.

Rates on local or drop letters at free delivery offices, two cents per ounce or fraction thereof. At offices where there is no free delivery by carriers and the addressee cannot be served by rural free delivery carriers, one cent per ounce or fraction thereof.

Rates on postal cards, one cent (double or "reply" cards, two cents). Postal cards issued by the Postoffice Department may bear written, printed or other additions as follows:

(a) The face of the card may be divided by a vertical line placed approximately one-third of the distance from the left end of the card; the space to the left of the line to be used for a message, etc., but the space to the right for the address only.

(b) Addresses upon postal cards may be either written, printed or affixed thereto, at the option of the sender.

(c) Very thin sheets of paper may be attached to the card on condition that they completely adhere thereto. Such sheets may bear both writing and printing.

(d) Advertisements, illustrations or writing may appear on the back of the card and on the left third of the face.

2. The addition to a postal card of matter other than as above authorized will subject the card when sent in the mails to postage according to the character of the message—at the letter rate if wholly or partly in writing or the third-class rate if entirely in print. In either case the postage value of the stamp impressed upon the card will not be impaired.

3. Postal cards must be treated in all respects as sealed letters, except that when undeliverable to the addressee they may not be returned to the sender. Undeliverable "double" postal cards will be returned to the sender if known.

4. Postal cards bearing particles of glass, metal, mica, sand, tinsel or other similar substances are unmailable except when inclosed in tightly sealed envelopes with proper postage attached, or when treated in such manner as will prevent the objectionable substances from being rubbed off or injuring persons handling the mails.

Cards that have been spoiled in printing or otherwise will be redeemed from the original purchasers at 75 per cent of their face value if unutilized.

Post cards—(private mailing cards)—bearing written or printed messages are transmissible in the mails:

Private mailing cards ("post cards") in the domestic mails must conform to the following conditions:

(a) A "post card" must be an unfolded piece of cardboard not exceeding approximately 3 9-16 by 5 9-16 inches, nor less than approximately 2 3/4 by 4 inches.

(b) It must in form and in the quality and weight of paper be substantially like the government postal card.

(c) It may be of any color not interfering with a legible address and postmark.

(d) It may or may not, at the option of the sender, bear near the top of the face the words "post card."

(e) The face of the card may be divided by a vertical line; the left half to be used for a message, etc., but that to the right for the address only.

(f) Very thin sheets of paper may be attached to the card, and then only on condition that they completely adhere thereto. Such sheets may bear both writing and printing.

(g) Advertisements and illustrations may appear on the back of the card and on the left half of the face.

2. Cards without cover, conforming to the foregoing conditions, are transmissible in the domestic mails (including the possessions of the United States) and to Cuba, Canada, Mexico, the Republic of Panama and Shanghai, China, at the postage rate of 1 cent each.

3. When post cards are prepared by printers and stationers for sale, it is desirable that they bear in the upper right-hand corner of the face an oblong diagram containing the words "Place postage stamp here," and at the bottom of the space to the right of the vertical dividing line the words "This space for the address."

4. Cards which do not conform to the conditions prescribed by these regulations are, when sent in the mails, chargeable with postage according to the character of the message—at the letter rate if wholly or partly in writing, or at the third-class rate if entirely in print.

5. Cards bearing particles of glass, metal, mica, sand, tinsel or other similar substances are unmailable except when inclosed in tightly sealed envelopes or when treated in such manner as will prevent the objectionable substances from being rubbed off or injuring persons handling the mails.

Rate on special delivery letters, ten cents on each letter in addition to the regular postage. This entitles the letter to immediate delivery by special messenger. Special delivery stamps are sold at postoffices and must be affixed to such letters. Ordinary stamps to the value of ten cents affixed to a letter or other piece of mail will entitle it to special delivery if it is marked "Special delivery."

The delivery at carrier offices extends to the limits of the carrier routes. At noncarrier offices it extends to one mile from the postoffice. Postmasters are not obliged to deliver beyond these limits, and letters addressed to places beyond must await delivery in the usual way, notwithstanding the special delivery stamp. Prepayment by stamps invariably required. Postage on all letters should be fully prepaid, but if prepaid one full rate and no more, they will be forwarded and the amount of deficient postage collected on delivery; if wholly unpaid, or prepaid with less than one full rate and deposited at a postoffice, the addressee will be notified to remit postage; and if he fails to do so they will be sent to the dead letter office; but they will be returned to the sender if he is located at the place of mailing and if his address be printed or written upon them.

Letter rate is charged on typewriting and carbon or letter-press copies thereof, and on all printed imitations or reproductions of typewriting or manuscript obtained by mechanical process unless such reproductions are presented at postoffice windows in the minimum number of twenty identical unsealed copies.

Letters and other matter prepaid at the letter rate—two cents an ounce or fraction thereof—(but no other class of mail matter) will be returned to the sender free if a request to that effect is printed or written on the envelope or wrapper. The limit of weight is four pounds except for a single book.

Prepaid letters will be forwarded from one postoffice to another upon the written request of the person addressed without additional charge for postage. The direction on forwarded letters may be changed as many times as may be necessary to reach the person addressed. Nothing may be added to such letters except the forwarding address without subjecting them to new postage.

Second-class Matter.—This class includes all printed newspapers and periodicals that have been "Entered as second-class matter," and are regularly issued at stated intervals as frequently as four times a year from a known office of publication and mailed by the publishers or news agents to actual subscribers or as sample copies or to news agents for sale, and newspapers and publications of this class mailed by persons other than publishers. Also periodical publications of benevolent and fraternal societies organized under the lodge system and having a membership of a thousand persons, and the publications of strictly professional, literary, historical and scientific societies and incorporated institutions of learning, trade-unions, etc., provided that these be published at stated intervals not less than four times a year, and that they be formed of printed paper sheets without board, cloth, leather or other substantial binding. Publishers who wish to avail themselves of the privileges of the act are required to make formal application to the department through the postmaster at the place of publication, producing satisfactory evidence that the organizations, societies and institutions represented come within the purview of the law, and that the object of the publications is to further the objects and purposes of the organizations.

Rates of postage to publishers and news agents, one cent a pound or fractional part thereof, prepaid in currency. Publications designed primarily for advertising or free circulation, or circulation at a nominal rate, or not having a legitimate list of subscribers, are excluded from the pound rate and pay the third-class rate.

Publications sent to actual subscribers in the county where printed and published are free unless mailed for delivery at a letter-carrier office.

Rates of postage on second-class newspapers, magazines or periodicals mailed by others than the publishers or news agents, one cent for each four ounces or fraction thereof. It should be observed that the rate is one cent for each four ounces, not one cent for each paper contained in the same wrapper. This rate applies only when a complete copy is mailed. Parts of second-class publications or partial or incomplete copies are third-class matter. Second-class matter will be entitled to special delivery when special delivery stamps (or ten cents in ordinary stamps and the words "Special delivery" placed on the wrapper) are affixed in addition to the regular postage.

Second-class matter must be so wrapped that it may be easily examined. The sender's name and address may be written in them or on the wrapper, also the words "sample copy" when sent as such, or "marked copy" when it contains a marked item or article. Typographical errors in the text may be corrected, but any other writing subjects the matter to letter postage.

Third-class Matter.—Mail matter of the third class includes printed books, pamphlets, engravings, circulars in print (or by the hectograph, electric pen or similar process when at least twenty identical copies are mailed at postoffice windows at one time), and other matter wholly in print, proof sheets, corrected proof sheets and manuscript copy accompanying the same.

The rate on matter of this class is one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof. Postage must be paid by stamps affixed, unless 2,000 or more identical pieces are mailed under special permit, when the postage at that rate may be paid in money.

Manuscript unaccompanied by proof sheets must pay letter rate.

Third-class matter must admit of easy inspection, otherwise it will be charged letter rate on delivery. It must be fully prepaid or it will not be dispatched. New postage must be prepaid for forwarding to a new address or returning to senders.

The limit of weight is four pounds, except single books in separate packages, on which the weight is not limited. It is entitled, like matter of the other classes, to special delivery when special delivery stamps are affixed in addition to the regular postage, or when ten cents in ordinary stamps are affixed in addition to the regular postage and the words "Special delivery" are placed on the wrapper.

Upon matter of the third class, or upon the wrapper or envelope inclosing the same, or the tag or label attached thereto, the sender may write his own name, occupation and residence or business address, preceded by the word "from," and may make marks other than by written words to call attention to any word or passage in the text, and may correct any typographical errors. There may be placed upon the blank leaves or cover of any book or printed matter of the third class a simple manuscript dedication or inscription not of the nature of a personal correspondence. Upon the wrapper or envelope of third-class matter, or the tag or label attached thereto, may be placed in writing or otherwise the words "Please do not open until Christmas" or words to that effect, and there may be printed any matter mailable as third class. Written designation of the contents such as "book," "photo," "printed matter" is also permissible, but there must be left on the address side a space sufficient for a legible address, postmark and the necessary stamps.

Fourth-class Matter.—Fourth-class matter is all mailable matter not included in the three preceding classes which is so prepared for mailing as to be easily withdrawn from the wrapper and examined, except that sealed packages of proprietary articles of merchandise (not in themselves unmailable), such as pills, fancy soaps, tobacco, etc., put up in fixed quantities by the manufacturer for sale by himself or others, or for samples, in such manner as to properly protect the articles, so that each package in its simplest mercantile or sample form may be examined, are mailable as fourth-class matter. It embraces merchandise and samples of every description and coin or specie.

Rates of postage, one cent for each ounce or fraction thereof (except seeds, roots, bulbs, cuttings, scions and plants, the rate on which is one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof). This matter must be fully prepaid or it will not be dispatched. Postage must be paid by stamps affixed, unless 2,000 or more identical pieces are mailed at one time, when the postage at that rate may be paid in money. New postage must be prepaid for forwarding or returning. The affixing of special delivery ten-cent stamps in addition to the regular postage entitles fourth-class matter to special delivery. (See remarks under "first-class matter.")

On the wrapper, envelope, tag or label, in addition to the name and address of the addressee, there may be written or printed the name, occupation and residence or business address of the sender preceded by the word "from," as well as any marks, numbers, names or letters for the purpose of description, also the words "Please do not open until Christmas" or words to that effect, and any printed matter which is not in the nature of personal correspondence. On the address side or face of the package there must be left a space sufficient for a legible address, postmark and the necessary postage stamps. A request to the delivering postmaster may also be written asking him to notify the sender in case the package is not delivered.

On the matter itself, or upon the tag or label attached thereto, may be written or printed any matter authorized to be placed on the wrapper.

Written designation of contents such as "samples," "candy," "cigars" are permissible upon the wrapper of mail matter of the fourth class.

Inclosures.—With a package of fourth-class matter, prepaid at proper rate for that class, the sender may inclose any mailable matter of the third class. A single card bearing the written name of the sender and such inscription as "Merry Christmas," "Happy New Year," "With best wishes," etc., may also be inclosed with fourth-class matter without affecting its classification.

Articles of this class that are liable to injure or deface the mails, such as glass, sugar, needles, nails, pens, etc., must be first wrapped in a bag, box or open envelope and then secured in another outside tube or box made of metal or hard wood, without sharp corners or edges, and having a sliding clasp or screw lid, thus securing the articles in a double package. The public should bear in mind that the first object of the department is to transport the mails safely, and every other interest is made subordinate.

Such articles as poisons, explosives or inflammable articles, live or dead animals, insects, fruits or vegetable matter liable to decomposition or substances exhaling a bad odor will not be forwarded in any case.

Firearms may only be sent when it is apparent that they are harmless.

Limit of weight of fourth-class matter (excepting liquids and single books), four pounds.

Fourth-class (Parcel Post) Matter.—The rate of postage on matter of the fourth class, comprising what is known as parcel post mail, is one cent for each ounce or fraction of an ounce on parcels weighing four ounces or less, regardless of distance, and on parcels weighing more than four ounces but not exceeding eleven pounds in weight, the rates are by the pound, varying from five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional pound to twelve cents for each pound, according to zones of fixed limits, fractional pounds being counted as full pounds. The postage on fourth-class mail may be prepaid by means of either ordinary postage stamps or parcel-post stamps affixed.

Third or Fourth-class Matter Mailable Without Stamps.—Under special permits postage may be paid in money for third or fourth-class matter mailed in quantities of 2,000 or more identical pieces. For information concerning the regulations governing such mailings inquiry should be made of the postmaster.

Registration.

All kinds of postal matter may be registered at the rate of ten cents for each package in addition to the regular rates of postage, to be fully prepaid by stamps. Each package must bear the name and address of the sender, and if requested, a receipt will be returned from the person to whom addressed. Mail matter can be registered at all postoffices in the United States. At free delivery postoffices letters or small parcels of first-class mail matter will be registered by letter carriers on their routes. An indemnity—not to exceed $50 in any one case—will be paid for the loss of first-class registered matter. An indemnity—not to exceed $25 for single piece of registered matter—will be paid for loss of third and fourth-class registered matter.

Special Delivery.

By the affixing of a special delivery stamp of ten cents or ten cents' worth of ordinary stamps of any denomination, in addition to the stamps required to transmit any letter or package with the words "Special delivery," any mail matter whatsoever will be delivered immediately after arrival to any point within the carrier limits of any free delivery office between the hours of 7 a. m. and 11 p. m., and within one mile of all other postoffices between the hours of 7 a. m. and 7 p. m., and until the arrival of the last mail, provided this is not later than 9 p. m. Special delivery mail addressed to bona fide patrons of rural routes will be delivered by rural carriers at patrons' dwellings, provided they do not reside to exceed one mile from the routes.

Mail to Island Possessions.

All mail sent from the United States to Guam, the Philippine Archipelago, Tutuila (including adjacent islands of the Samoan Group which are possessions of the United States) and the Canal Zone shall be subject to the United States domestic classification, conditions and rates of postage, and are included in the term "Possessions of the United States." The island of Porto Rico and territory of Hawaii are included in the term "United States." The term "Canal Zone" includes all the territory purchased of Panama, comprising the "Canal Zone" proper and the islands in the Bay of Panama named Perico, Naos, Culebra and Flamenco.

POSTAL-SAVINGS SYSTEM.

Object.—The postal-savings system is established for the purpose of providing facilities for depositing savings at interest with the security of the United States Government for repayment.

Safety.—The faith of the United States is solemnly pledged to the payment of deposits made in postal-savings depository offices with accrued interest as provided by the postal-savings act.

Who May Deposit.—Accounts may be opened and deposits made by any person of the age of ten years or over in his or her own name and by a married woman in her own name and free from any interference or control by her husband. No person can have more than one account at any one time.

No person may open a postal-savings account at any postoffice who is not a patron of that office.

All accounts must be opened in person by the depositor or his authorized representative. After opening an account a depositor may forward subsequent deposits to the postoffice by mail.

Deposits will be accepted only from individuals, and no account will be opened in the name of any corporation, association, society, firm or partnership, or in the names of two or more persons jointly.

No account will be opened in the name of one person in trust for or on behalf of another person or persons.

Service Free.—The service of the postal-savings system is free, and no charge or fee is collected or required in connection with the opening of an account or the withdrawal of money deposited.

Privacy of Accounts.—No person connected with the Postoffice Department or the postal service is permitted to disclose the name of any depositor or give any information concerning an account except to the depositor himself, unless directed to do so by the Postmaster-General.

How to Open an Account.—When a person applies to open an account he must furnish the necessary information for the postmaster or his representative to fill out an application, which he will then be required to sign. If the applicant signs by mark his signature must be witnessed by a disinterested person.

Deposits.—Deposits are evidenced by postal-savings certificates issued in fixed denominations of $1, $2, $5, $10, $20, $50 and $100, each bearing the name of the depositor, the number of his account, the date of issue, the name of the depository office and the date on which interest begins. The postmaster or his representative will make out a duplicate of each certificate issued, which the depositor will be required to sign and which the postmaster will retain in his records.

No account may be opened for less than $1, nor will fractions of a dollar be accepted for deposit.

No person is permitted to deposit more than $100 in any one calendar month nor to have a total balance to his credit at one time of more than $500, exclusive of accumulated interest.

Savings certificates can not be transferred or negotiated and will be payable only to the person to whom issued.

On opening an account a depositor is supplied with an envelope in which he may keep his savings certificates. On this envelope is printed information for his guidance, and also a blank ledger record on which to keep an account of his deposits and withdrawals.

In case a savings certificate is lost or destroyed, the depositor should notify the postmaster. If deemed proper, a new certificate will be issued upon compliance by the depositor with the necessary requirements.

Postmasters are not permitted to receive savings certificates for safe-keeping.
Savings Cards and Stamps.—Amounts less than $1 may be saved for deposit by the purchase of 10-cent postal-savings cards and adhesive 10-cent postal-savings stamps. Each postal-savings card contains blank spaces to which savings stamps may be affixed from time to time as purchased, and a postal-savings card with nine 10-cent savings stamps thus affixed will be accepted as a deposit of $1 either in opening an account or in adding to an existing account.

Savings cards and stamps will be redeemed only by the issue of savings certificates and are not valid for postage. They will not be received in exchange for postage stamps nor will postage stamps be accepted in exchange for postal-savings cards or stamps.

Interest.—Interest will be allowed on all deposits at the rate of 2 per cent per annum, computed on each savings certificate separately and payable annually. No interest will be paid on money which remains on deposit for a fraction of a year only.

Deposits will bear interest from the first day of the month next following that in which deposited.

Interest will continue to accrue on a savings certificate as long as it remains outstanding, certificates being valid until paid, without limitation as to time.

Compound interest is not allowed on an outstanding certificate, but a depositor may withdraw interest payable and include it in a new deposit, which will bear interest at the regular rate.

Withdrawals.—A depositor may at any time withdraw the whole or any part of his deposits to his credit with any interest payable by surrendering savings certificates, properly indorsed, for the amount desired.

A depositor presenting a certificate for payment in full with all interest payable must indorse it on the back in the presence of the postmaster or his representative and surrender it. The postmaster or his representative, if satisfied as to the depositor's identity, will then make payment.

When a depositor desires to withdraw only a part of the amount called for by any certificate the postmaster will cancel the certificate and issue a new certificate covering the amount to be left on deposit. The new certificate will be so dated that the depositor will not lose interest on the amount remaining continuously on deposit.

When a depositor desires to withdraw merely the interest payable on any certificate, instead of indorsing and surrendering the certificate as in case of full payment, he will be required to give his receipt in duplicate for the amount of the interest paid. The postmaster will enter the interest payment on the back of the certificate and return it to the depositor.

Deposits not Made in Person.—When a person who has opened an account cannot appear personally to make an additional deposit, because of infirmity or for other good and sufficient reason, the amount to be deposited may be sent by a representative or forwarded by mail. On receipt of the amount the postmaster will send to the depositor the duplicate of each savings certificate to be issued. When the duplicate or duplicates thus delivered have been signed by the depositor and returned to the depository office, the postmaster will send him the original certificates covering the amount of the deposit. New accounts can not be opened by mail. When an intending depositor desiring to open an account is unable to appear in person he may forward the money by representative, who will be provided with an application form, which must be properly filled out by the intending depositor and returned with the duplicate certificate or certificates.

Withdrawals not Made in Person.—When under similar circumstances a depositor cannot appear in person to make a withdrawal, a blank order will be furnished for his use upon request by his representative. When such order has been properly filled in and signed by the depositor, with his signature witnessed by a disinterested person, and has been returned to the postmaster, together with each certificate to be paid properly indorsed, payment will be made to the depositor's representative.

When a depositor who is unable to appear in person desires to withdraw merely the interest payable on any certificate, the blank order furnished will include receipts for the interest to be paid, upon return of which, properly signed by the depositor, the postmaster will make payment to his representative.

Death of Depositor.—In case of the death of a depositor, the amount standing to his credit will be paid to the executor or administrator of his estate upon compliance with the necessary requirements. In case no formal administration is desired by his relatives, the postmaster may, if it is deemed proper, be authorized to pay the amount of the deposit, on application in proper form, to the persons entitled to receive it, without the appointment of an administrator.

Account of Woman who Marries.—A woman who opens an account and afterwards marries must present her savings certificates at her office in order that the certificates may be indorsed as payable to her in her new name. The postmaster will receive no further deposits from a depositor failing to comply with this requirement, nor will he make any partial or interest payment to her.

Postal-savings Bonds.—A depositor will be permitted to exchange the whole or any part of his deposits in sums of $20, $40, $60, $80, $100, or multiples of $100 up to and including $500, into United States registered or coupon bonds, bearing interest at the rate of 2½ per cent per annum, payable semiannually, and redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after one year from date of issue, both principal and interest payable 20 years from such date in United States gold coin. Such exchange may be made under date of January 1st and July 1st of each year, provided such bonds are then available.

A depositor desiring to convert his savings deposits into bonds on January 1st and July 1st of any year must make application at least fifteen days before either of the dates named to the postmaster in triplicate on a form which will be supplied him for that purpose. At the time of making application he must indorse and surrender savings certificates covering the amount of the bonds desired, for which the postmaster will give him a receipt. Interest will continue to accrue on certificates surrendered until the date on which the bonds are issued. When the bonds applied for are received by the postmaster, the depositor will be notified and the bonds will be delivered by the postmaster on presentation of the receipt for the certificates surrendered. At the same time all interest due on the certificates surrendered will be paid.

Savings deposits converted into bonds are not counted as a part of the maximum of $500 allowed one depositor, and there is no limitation upon the amount of available postal-savings bonds which may finally be acquired by a depositor.

Postal-savings bonds are exempt from all taxes or duties of the United States, as well as from taxation in any form by or under state, municipal or local authority.

Postal-savings bonds can only be procured by the conversion of postal-savings deposits, and will not be issued to persons who are not depositors, but whether in registered or coupon form, they may, upon receipt by the depositor, be sold and assigned at any time to any person desired.

At what age does one become "old"? Five centuries ago a man was old at fifty. But the hale and hearty gentleman of a day who has just turned sixty would probably protest against being classed among old people, even if famous. That his susceptibilities may not be wounded, therefore, a separating dash has been discreetly introduced after age sixty-five.

 NOVEMBER 1. ALL SAINTS' DAY: In Louisiana.
 NOVEMBER (first Friday). PIONEER DAY: In Montana, observed in public schools.
 NOVEMBER — GENERAL ELECTION DAY: In Arizona, California, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Illinois (in Cairo, Chicago, Danville, East St. Louis, Galesburg, Rockford and Springfield), Indiana, Iowa, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio (from 5:30 a. m. to 9 a. m. only), Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming, in the years when elections are held therein. In 1913 in states holding such elections the date is November 4.
 NOVEMBER —, 1913. THANKSGIVING DAY (usually the last Thursday in November): Is observed in all the states and in the District of Columbia, Porto Rico and Alaska, though in some states it is not a statutory holiday.
 DECEMBER 25. CHRISTMAS DAY: In all the states (except Kansas), and District of Columbia, Porto Rico and Alaska.
 Sundays and Fast Days are legal holidays in all the states which designate them as such.

There are no statutory holidays in Mississippi, but by common consent the Fourth of July, Thanksgiving and Christmas are observed. In New Mexico, Washington's Birthday, Decoration Day, Labor Day, Flag Day (June 14) and Arbor Day are holidays when so designated by the Governor. In South Carolina, Thursday of Fair Week is a legal holiday.
 ARBOR DAY is a legal holiday in many states, although in some it is observed as designated by the Governor.

Every Saturday after 12 o'clock noon is a legal holiday in California in public offices, Illinois (in cities of 200,000 or more inhabitants), Maryland, Michigan, New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Virginia, the District of Columbia (for banking purposes), and in New Orleans, La., and Charleston, S. C.; in Louisiana in all cities exceeding 10,000 inhabitants; in Missouri in cities of 100,000 or more inhabitants; in Tennessee, for state and county officers, and in Colorado during June, July and August; in Indiana, first Saturday in June to last Saturday in October, inclusive, for all public offices in counties having a county seat of 100,000 population or more; in New Hampshire in state offices.

There is no national holiday, not even the Fourth of July. Congress has at various times appointed special holidays. In the second session of the Fifty-third Congress it passed an act making Labor Day a public holiday in the District of Columbia, and it has recognized the existence of certain days as holidays for commercial purposes, but, with the exception named, there is no general statute on the subject. The proclamation of the President designating a day of Thanksgiving only makes it a legal holiday in the District of Columbia and the territories.

NOTES ON THE LAW REGULATING THE PRACTICE OF ACCOUNTANCY IN MISSOURI.

Accountancy is a profession, the members of which, by virtue of their general education and professional training, offer to the community their services in all matters having to do with the recording, verification and presentation of facts involving the acquisition, production, conservation and transfer of values.

The act regulating the practice of accountancy in the State of Missouri became a law August 15, 1909. This law created the State Board of Accountancy, with power to make such rules and regulations as they deemed proper. The following is a summary of the law and the regulations of the board:

Applicant in order to take the examination set by the board must be

(a) A citizen of the United States or have duly declared his intention of becoming such;

(b) Over 25 years of age;

(c) Of good moral character;

(d) A graduate of a high school with a four years course or have equivalent education, or pass the examination set by the board;

(e) Have at least three years practical accounting experience.

All applications must be filed with the board ten days prior to the date fixed for the examinations and be accompanied by a fee of $25.00. Applicants failing to pass are entitled to take a second examination within one year without being required to pay a second fee.

Certificate will not be issued until the applicant has had two years experience in the office of a certified public accountant or two years practice on his own account, even though the applicant has had the three years practical accounting experience required by law and has passed an examination set by the board. The applicant must complete or obtain his two years experience within three years of his passing the final examination or pass the examination the second time if he desires to obtain a certificate.

An additional fee of $10.00 is required for issuance of a certificate.

The law is very strict on the use of the title "Certified Public Accountant" or the initials "C. P. A.," and provides for a heavy penalty on conviction. The law also provides for the punishment of any accountant who falsifies a report.

In case an applicant is unable to produce the documentary evidence of qualification required by law, the board will arrange for him to take the final examination in some accredited high school or the entrance examinations to a university or college, or the board will set the examinations.

Applicants are presumed to have a general knowledge of the history of accountancy and of the subject of economics and its relation to accountancy. In case an applicant is in doubt as to his ability to pass the C. P. A. examinations and is desirous of making a test of his fitness, the board will arrange for a preliminary examination. In the event that the board recommends that the applicant prepare further before taking the final examination and the applicant does not take the next final examination the fee will be returned.

Two examinations are held annually. There are five sessions of three hours each:

(1) Theory of accounts, 3 hours. (2-3) Practical accounting, 6 hours. (4) Auditing, 3 hours. (5) Commercial law, 3 hours.

In order to take the examinations, applications must be filed with the secretary at least ten days prior to the date fixed for the examinations. The necessary forms and all information can be obtained free on application to the secretary of the State Board of Accountancy of Missouri, 1223 Central National Bank Building, St. Louis, Mo.

THE CAPITOL AT WASHINGTON.

The capitol is situated in latitude 38° 53' 20" .4 north and longitude 77° 00' 35" .7 west from Greenwich. It fronts east, and stands on a plateau eighty-eight feet above the level of the Potomac.

The entire length of the building from north to south is seven hundred and fifty-one feet four inches, and its greatest dimension from east to west three hundred and fifty feet. The area covered by the building is 153,112 square feet.

The dome of the original central building was constructed of wood, covered with copper. This was replaced in 1856 by the present structure of cast iron. It was completed in 1865. The entire weight of iron used is 8,909,200 pounds.

The dome is crowned by a bronze statue of Freedom, which is nineteen feet six inches high and weighs 14,985 pounds. It was modeled by Crawford. The height of the dome above the base line of the east front is two hundred and eighty-seven feet five inches. The height from the top of the balustrade of the building is two hundred and seventeen feet eleven inches. The greatest diameter at the base is one hundred and thirty-five feet five inches.

The rotunda is ninety-seven feet six inches in diameter, and its height from the floor to the top of the canopy is one hundred and eighty feet three inches.

The Senate chamber is one hundred and thirteen feet three inches in length, by eighty feet three inches in width and thirty-six feet in height. The galleries will accommodate one thousand persons.

The Representatives' hall is one hundred and thirty-nine feet in length, by ninety-three feet in width and thirty-six feet in height.

The southeast corner stone of the original building was laid September 18, 1793, by President Washington with Masonic ceremonies. The corner stone of the extensions was laid July 4, 1851, by President Fillmore.

The room now occupied by the Supreme Court was, until 1859, occupied as the Senate chamber. Previous to that time the court occupied the room immediately beneath, now used as a law library.

DENSITY OF POPULATION PER SQUARE MILE AT EACH CENSUS, 1790 TO 1910.

BY STATES.

(Source: Reports of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce and Labor.)

[NOTE.—In computing density of population for the United States, the areas and population of Alaska and Hawaii in 1900, of Alaska in 1890 and of Indian Territory in 1860, 1870 and 1880 are not considered. The area of Indian reservations, outside of Indian Territory, is included in the area of the states and territories in which they are severally situated, and in that of the United States prior to 1890, although the population of these Indian reservations was not ascertained, and for this reason cannot be considered in figuring density of population at the censuses prior to 1890.]

¹Gold coin became available for circulation January 1, 1879, as a result of the resumption act of January 14, 1875.

⁴As the result of special investigation by the Director of the Mint, a reduction of $135,000,000 was made in the estimate of gold coin in circulation on July 1, 1907, as compared with the basis of previous years.

⁵The Director of the Mint made a revised estimate of the stock of subsidiary silver coin September 1, 1910; as a consequence of such revision there was a reduction of $9,700,000.

NOTE 1.—For redemption of outstanding certificates an exact equivalent in amount of the appropriate kinds of money is held in the treasury, and is not included in the account of money held as sets of the government.

*The civil service rules prior to April, 1903, defined the departmental service as including all classified positions except those in the postoffice, customhouse, internal revenue and government printing services. The majority of such positions is found in the field, not in the departments at Washington, but all former reports have shown them as "departmental," following the civil service rule referred to. In this report for the first time an effort has been made to limit "departmental" to its original meaning, showing field service examinations under a separate heading; hence the apparent great discrepancy in the "departmental" figures as compared with those in previous reports.

Branch of service and period covered.	Approximate number of classified competitive positions.	Examined.	Passed.	Per cent that passed.	Appointed.	Per cent appointed of those that passed.

NOTE—Prior to 1804 each elector voted for two candidates for President—the one receiving the highest number of votes being declared President and the one receiving the next highest being declared Vice-President.

*A compilation of the popular vote prior to 1824 is impossible, as the records are meager and incomplete. For a quarter of a century after the government was established the electors in most of the states were appointed by the state legislatures, and the popular choice was expressed but indirectly in the election of the members of the legislatures.

†Three states cast no vote, viz.: New York, which had not yet enacted an electoral law, and North Carolina and Rhode Island, neither of which had adopted the Constitution.

‡There being a tie, the choice devolved upon the House of Representatives, and on the 36th ballot Jefferson was elected.

(a) The Democratic party of today was originally the "Republican" party, afterward known by both names; but since 1832 the party has adhered to the name "Democratic."

(b) The Constitution of the United States having been amended, the electors at this election voted for a President and Vice-President, instead of for two candidates for President.

(c) The electoral college failing to elect, the choice devolved upon the House of Representatives, Adams being elected on the first ballot.

(d) The eleven states which had seceded did not vote, viz.: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

(e) Three states still disfranchised did not vote, viz.: Mississippi, Texas and Virginia.

(f) Three electoral votes of Georgia, cast for Greeley, and the six votes of Arkansas and the eight votes of Louisiana, cast for Grant, were rejected. Greeley having died, the Democratic electors scattered their vote.

(g) The electoral votes of Florida, Louisiana, Oregon and South Carolina being in dispute, were referred by Congress to an electoral commission composed of seven Democrats and eight Republicans, which, by a strict party vote, awarded 185 electoral votes to Hayes and 184 to Tilden.
